MARTIN MUST SERVE FIFTEEN YEARS

Fine of $1000 in Addition to Imprisonment Says Judge Cleland

"It is the sentence of this court that you serve a term of 15 years in the state penitentiary and pay a fine of $1,000."

In these words Judge Cleland this morning fixed the penalty of the law on Edward H. Martin for the killing of Nathan Wolf.

Not a quiver passed over the countenance of the prisoner as the words of the judge were pronounced. The same wonderful self-possession that he maintained during the trial did not desert him, and as he turned to accompany Deputy Sheriff Bulger back to his cell he smiled broadly.

Judge Cleland allowed 30 days for filing a motion for new trial. His attorneys announced that they will proceed at once to carry the case to the supreme court, provided their application for another trial is refused.

Even if the sentence had been only one month, he declared, "I would have gone ahead with the appeal. I am not guilty of the crime and I am not willing to have the stain on my name or to have even one month in the penitentiary."

around and get some money. Since my arrest I have never written to my father, but now I am going to write him. I thought perhaps it would all come around right, but it has not. I do not know where my parents are, but I will communicate with my father's agent in New York, and he will send the letter to him. Yes, I think he knows of my trouble, but I have never replied to him.

"I will stay right here in jail until my case is decided on appeal, and will not go to Salem to begin my sentence. I believe I will get a new trial, and that in the end it will all be right. The trial in the courtroom this morning consumed only a few minutes. The room was filled long before Judge Cleland took his seat on the bench. District Attorney Cameron represented the state and Seneca Fouts sat at Martin's side. When Judge Cleland asked if the defendant had anything to say as to why sentence should not be pronounced, Martin arose to his feet as a soldier would to greet a superior officer. But all he said was this:

Nothing to Say.

"I have nothing to say. My attorneys will speak for me." Judge Cleland paused for a moment while Attorney Fouts arose and repeated the formula, "I have nothing to say." Martin had resumed his seat, but was on his feet again in an instant without having to be reminded that he must stand up. Judge Cleland wasted no words in passing sentence, and then Fouts asked for 30 days' time in which to file a motion for new trial. The district attorney objected to a stay of execution, which allowed Martin to remain in the county jail, but the court said that it was usual to allow a stay in such cases. The case was then taken away and the crowd of the curious dispersed.

THAW CAN TELL TALE FROM CELL

Pittsburg, Oct. 20.—Another blow was dealt Harry K. Thaw in his fight for liberty today when Judge Young, in the United States circuit court quashed the writ of habeas corpus against Superintendent Robert E. Lamb of the asylum for the criminal insane at Mattawan, N. Y., and dismissed the petition to bring Thaw here to testify in his bankruptcy case.

Just what Thaw's counsel expected to gain by having him brought to Pittsburg in the bankruptcy case is problematical, but it is certain they were extremely anxious to get the order for his appearance.

The fact that Thaw's counsel and Roger O'Mara, the chief Thaw detective, made such strenuous efforts to have Thaw brought here, led to a belief that they planned some step in connection with his return to New York as soon as he was removed outside the jurisdiction of the state of New York.

DAYLIGHT FOOT JOB BY YEGGS

Herrin, Ill., Oct. 20.—After engaging the entire male population in an open street fight, a gang of desperate yeggmen today blew open and looted the safe in the bank at Hurst, a mining town near here, and escaped with $1,500. A posse is in pursuit. While there was much shooting, so far as is known no one was injured.

The robbers entered the bank boldly and took possession. Their presence soon became known throughout the town. A crowd gathered but one of the robbers fled to the doorway and held the townspeople at bay with revolvers while his companions within caused much excitement, but the thieves quickly gathered up the money and then boldly dashed for the country. The posse was in pursuit, but the robbers were far behind the men, who mounted horses which they had left tied near at hand.

EDWARD OBJECTS TO KATE

England's King Threatens to Call Off the Match of Princess Patricia and Count of Turin If the Abruzzi-Elkins Match Goes On.

Paris, Oct. 20.—New complications were added to the Abruzzi-Elkins match today when it became known that if the Italian duke married the American heiress the proposed match between the Count of Turin and Princess Patricia of Connaught would not be sanctioned by King Edward.

Following the announcement that King Emmanuel had sanctioned the Abruzzi-Elkins match and had agreed to receive the American girl at court as a royal princess, it was discovered that King Edward was trying to prevent the wedding.

of Abruzzi, and both are cousins of the king of Italy. The Princess Patricia is the daughter of the Duke of Connaught, and therefore niece of King Edward. The marriage of the Duke of Abruzzi to Miss Elkins, and that of the Count of Turin to the Princess Patricia, would therefore make Miss Elkins sister-in-law of King Edward's niece, a relationship which does not seem to appeal to the British monarch.

Rome, Oct. 20.—In accordance with the announcement made several weeks ago, the minister of marine today ordered the Italian cruisers Piemonte and Etruria to escort the Duke of Abruzzi on his return to Italy after the marriage with Katherine Elkins. The Piemonte is now at New York and the Etruria, which is in South African waters, will sail at once for America. The announcement is looked upon here as an official recognition of the engagement. It was also announced today that the bridal couple would sail for Italy aboard the cruiser Europe on their honeymoon.

Few Hours for Registration

Only a few hours are left in which to register for the presidential election next month. The office of the county clerk will close at 5 o'clock this afternoon. All who are in line at that hour will be allowed to register; but if you are not there by the time the clock marks 5 you will be too late.

The county clerk has no option in this matter, as the law fixes the hour when the books shall be closed. Therefore if you have not registered this year, or have moved since you registered, you have little time to lose. If you delay too long, you must lose your vote or take the trouble of getting six freeholders to swear in your vote on election day.

It is the duty of every qualified voter to cast a ballot for president. This is your chance to take an active part in government, and whether the result is close or not, all sides will be better satisfied if a full vote is cast. There will be a good force of clerks in waiting today, and it will take only a few minutes to put your name on the rolls.

ANTI-CATHOLIC LAWS ATTACKED

Agitation Carried to Parliament for Removal of Disabilities.

London, Oct. 20.—The repeal of the ancient laws of England now in force against the Catholics and the Catholic religion, is the object of a movement to force a discussion of the question at this sitting of parliament. The agitation comes as the result of the anti-Catholic riots that marred the great procession at the eucharistic congress and the anti-Catholic literature circulated by the Protestant Episcopal union of England.

If those behind the movement are successful in having the matter taken up in parliament, it will mean discussion of the oft-thought-of plan to remove all bans against Catholic freedom in England and to place all religions on a level with the exception of the established church, which is to be recognized as the church of state.

SAFE ROBBERS NOT IDENTIFIED

New Mexico Grand Jury Refuses to Indict for the French Job.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 20.—Suspects Parr and Stone were released from custody today when the grand jury at Raton failed to return indictments against them in connection with the holdup at French last May, when $25,000 was stolen from the Wells-Fargo Express company.

The robbery was one of the most daring and costly in the history of New Mexico and Colorado. The Wells-Fargo company was shipping $25,000 under heavy guard and presumably in secret. A change of trains and of road was necessary at French Junction and the iron safe containing the money was taken off there and placed just inside the station door awaiting the arrival of the other train.

CHICAGO UNIONS WELCOME BRYAN

Labor Day Visit Brings Tremendous Crowd of Enthusiastic Voters.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Press association dispatches convey absolutely no appreciation to the general public of the great crowds at the Bryan meeting last night. Writers hesitate to record facts in this remarkable affair because reaction might think their statements exaggerated.

For six miles a solid mass of humanity was jammed along the line which was held and guarded by the Chicago police. Bryan followed in an automobile parade from the union station to Pilsen Park. In places the struggling crowds almost made the progress of the motor impossible. At the park nearly 20,000 cheered wildly.

VALDEZ JUDGE ADVOCATES LID

Bids Grand Jury Go After Offenses Usually Ignored on Frontiers.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 20.—An official statement given out yesterday afternoon by the directors of the Colorado fuel & iron company, in which a policy of expansion for the company is announced, was followed by the statement today that the Gold interests have withdrawn from the company in order that any suspicion of favoritism to certain lines might be dissipated.

Little Damage From Quakes in Luzon.

Manila, Oct. 20.—Reports from all parts of the island of Luzon tonight state that no extensive damage was done from three earthquake shocks felt here today. The first shock was recorded at 10:50 this morning, the second at 1:40 this afternoon and the third at 4:15 this afternoon. All the shocks were slight.

PULP TARIFF MUST SHRINK

Congressional Committee in Report Will Tell Truth of Trust.

Duluth, Oct. 20.—After spending months investigating the wood pulp print paper industry in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the committee of six appointed by congress to study the conditions, it was learned today, will recommend that the duty on the product be revised. Congressman Mann, who has been most active in the investigation, today said:

"It is my belief that the committee will recommend a revision of the tariff on Canadian wood pulp and Canadian print paper. From our investigation it appears that the wood pulp supply in the northwest will not last many years. At the present rate of consumption the supply will be exhausted. In Wisconsin and Michigan now many paper mills have nearly all their spruce timber shipped from Minnesota, and it is easy to conceive the result with the plants of three states working on this limited supply."

REED WANTED MESSAGE OF TO BE THE BOSS GOOD WILL TO JAPAN

Seattle Exposition Directors Give Alleged Reasons for Resignation of Director of Exploitation — Merrick Expected to Leave Soon.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 20.—The reasons for the resignation of Henry E. Reed, director of exploitation of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, were made known this morning. Frank L. Merrick, director of publicity, will within a day or two tender his resignation.

The resignation of Mr. Reed was handed, in duplicate, to President J. E. Chilberg and to Director General I. A. Nadeau on Friday last with the request that it become immediately effective. Immediately after forwarding his resignation on Friday morning Mr. Reed discontinued his work for the exposition.

The resignation of Mr. Reed is the culmination of numerous minor misunderstandings between the director of exploitation and the officers of the exposition. When Mr. Reed came to Seattle it was after having practically been in sole charge of all of the affairs of the exposition at Portland. The executive committee of the undertaking took little interest in the work and all of it fell upon the shoulders of Mr. Reed, with the result that his word in all cases was law.

When he came to Seattle he was apparently of the belief that sooner or later the same conditions would prevail here. He brought with him Frank L. Merrick as director of publicity, and several other individuals who had been with him at Portland. At his request Merrick was paid a salary of $250 per month, which in the opinion of some of the officials of the exposition was altogether too high.

The evident intention of the officials of the exposition to be the masters of the situation at all times was perhaps a natural source of disappointment to Mr. Reed. The exposition officials were officials in fact as well as in name, and no employee of the exposition was permitted to incur indebtedness or to expend money until it had been properly passed upon by the proper committees.

Source of Worry.

This condition was a constant source of worry to Mr. Reed and during the past few months he seemed to have lost interest in his work. Under your respective present the very friendly message, I request you to assure the president that I most sincerely appreciate and most cordially reciprocate the sentiments of friendliness and good will.

It is a source of profound gratification to me that most cordial relations of regard and good correspondence exist between the two countries.

President's Wish Repeated to Mikado by Sperry—Emperor Responds in Terms of Utmost Amity—People and Press of Like Mind.

Tokio, Oct. 20.—Surpassing in importance the great events that marked the visit of the American fleet to Australian ports, the meeting of Admiral Sperry, bearer of a personal message from President Roosevelt and the emperor of Japan here today was perhaps the most important incident of the great world cruise of the Atlantic fleet. It was the crowning feature of the cordial welcome extended by the people of Japan to Uncle Sam's men.

All Tokio, and in fact the whole country, is alive with discussion of the "happy incident of tonight. The officers of the fleet, at least some of them, admit that this day has changed their opinion of Japan and the Japanese. Even though there was not the slightest display, it is a fact that many of the men of the fleet approached Yokohama without a feeling of great enthusiasm. "The enthusiasm of the hosts has carried the guests in its magnetic grasp and the cordiality of the occasion is being felt on both sides seems surprising when it is remembered that so short a time ago the Americans were frowned by the cry for a "White Pacific" from the millions of Australia.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The message sent by President Roosevelt to Admiral Sperry at Tokio was made public today, and is as follows: "I am glad to hear of the visit of the Japanese fleet to the United States and Japan and the honor paid the United States by the invitation of the emperor of Japan to visit the empire of Japan on the practice cruise around the world."

By His Excellency, the Emperor of Japan, to the United States and Japan and the honor paid the United States by the invitation of the emperor of Japan to visit the empire of Japan on the practice cruise around the world."

It affords me special pleasure to welcome you, as the representative of the American navy, and receive from your respective present the very friendly message. I request you to assure the president that I most sincerely appreciate and most cordially reciprocate the sentiments of friendliness and good will.

It is a source of profound gratification to me that most cordial relations of regard and good correspondence exist between the two countries.

GOULD IS IN BIG PUSH

Standard Oil Takes Over Colorado Fuel & Iron and John D. Names Gould as Director, With Harriman and Other Magnates.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 20.—An official statement given out yesterday afternoon by the directors of the Colorado fuel & iron company, in which a policy of expansion for the company is announced, was followed by the statement today that the Gold interests have withdrawn from the company in order that any suspicion of favoritism to certain lines might be dissipated.

There is a reason for the superior results that all Journal advertisers get, and the reason is simply because The Journal is the people's popular newspaper. The Journal's classified pages are read as carefully as the news, for they contain interesting news of thousands of people whose business interests are most important to you. If you want more business, there is no other place to put your advertisement. If results are all possible, The Journal can do it. Try an advertisement.

RESULTS

B. C. Selberg, Glenwood station, being desirous of securing a good tenant for a vacant house, inserted an ad in The Journal's "To Rent" column last Saturday, ordering it to appear three days. The one insertion was sufficient, as he secured a tenant Sunday morning who saw the ad.
