

WINDING STATE INTO BRYAN COLUMN

Oregon Democrats Will Make Energetic Efforts This Week, Winding Up With Great Rally in Ar- mory Last Day of October.

At the Armory Saturday night, October 21 the Bryan campaign in Multnomah county will be brought to a close in a storm of enthusiasm. Ex-United States Senator John G. Gairlin will make the principal address of the evening and will be assisted by other speakers from Portland and other parts of the state.

From all sides encouraging reports are coming in to the Bryan headquarters and the managers of the campaign feel much encouraged. It is considered that Oregon is in the doubtful column and that there is a strong possibility that Bryan will carry the state. Energetic effort will be put forward during the coming week to bring the enthusiasm to a pitch for election day, and indications are that the Nebraska man will have the majority of the voters on his side when the votes are counted.

The Armory meeting is expected to be the closing meeting of the Multnomah county campaign and it is planned to make it the largest rally held with the exception of the Gore meeting held at the same place.

Reports are gratifying. Great things are being expected by the Bryan men from the reports that are coming in from different parts of the state and from the success which is being met with by the speakers now touring the state. The success of these meetings is in marked contrast with those which are being held under the arrangements of the Tarr managers.

United States Senator Fulton returned to Portland today from his trip through eastern Oregon. During his trip he was met with fair audiences which showed no great interest in his trip through the state. He made his addresses. Unbiased spectators consider that his trip was something of a flop.

Henry E. McGinn, well known as an eloquent and forceful speaker met with a like reception on his trip through the valley. At Albany, where a special effort was made to stir up enthusiasm and bring out a large audience to hear Judge McGinn, see the points, 200 men formed the audience. Other speakers are meeting with the same treatment throughout the state.

Audience Enthusiastic. Bryan speakers in Oregon have been shown a different spirit. Last night Congressman Hobson of the state, who addressed the largest audience ever gathered at a political meeting at Oregon City. He met with the same reception at Pendleton, and this afternoon will speak at Astoria, the home town of Senator Fulton. Tomorrow night he will speak at Eugene and will then go on to California.

Senator H. Richardson addressed a large meeting at Troutdale last night. It likewise being the largest political meeting of the campaign in Oregon. Reports received from Dallas where Colonel R. A. Miller held a meeting last night and from Harrisburg where National Commissioner J. W. McCallister spoke are to the effect that the meetings were large and enthusiastic.

Senator O. P. Coshov who is now in Multnomah county is also speaking to big crowds. Tonight a meeting will be held at Bicknell's hall in St. Johns which will be addressed by John A. Jeffrey. Tomorrow night Mr. Manning will address a meeting to be held in Firemen's hall, Milwaukie avenue and Midway.

ROBBED OF COIN AND BUDS TOO

(United Press Local Wire.)
Bellingham, Wash., Oct. 22.—William Patterson of Vancouver, B. C. was robbed of all his clothing and $14 in cash by a companion in a hotel here last night. Patterson woke up this morning to find that everything he had was missing. Not even a collar button was left. Last night Patterson became acquainted with a man who was in the hotel. The man, Crane, and the two took a room together in the hotel. Crane can not be found today.

SAYS PETITION DOES NOT REPRESENT ALL

Dr. William Deveny of the Montavilla board of trade is leading a vigorous movement on the part of representative Montavilla residents to have the new fire station built at the northeast corner of Mount Tabor. He says that the petition recently sent to the city council and signed by four representatives of improvement associations does not represent the majority of the people who will benefit by the acquisition of the fire station.

"The only real improvement association in the Montavilla board of trade," the statement made by the petitioners, who met with the fire headquarters located at Francis and Greenwood avenues, that they represent four fifths of the business men and property owners of Montavilla is absolutely without foundation.

If the fire fighting apparatus were housed at this point, in addition to there would be little protection, Montavilla now at all and Mount Tabor would be the only section to receive any benefit. The northeast corner of Mount Tabor is the logical place for the proposed station.

BAD FLUE BURNS EAST SIDE HOUSE

Fire, starting from a defective flue, completely destroyed the home of C. W. Gay at West Avenue and E. 22nd. The fire started at about 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. The Gay cottage was situated just across the street from the Mount Tabor grammar school and but for a favorable wind the school house might have been destroyed. The neighbors discovered the fire even before the occupants of the house and sent a still alarm to the fire department at Sunny side. Pupils from the school were marched out in perfect order.

HUMAN HEART MUST CHANGE

Socialistic Plan for Reform of Government Wrong, Says Preacher.

The annual conference of the Congregational churches of Oregon, which is being held at the Haasalo Congregational church, is drawing large audiences. The auditorium this morning was crowded with delegates and Congregationalists interested in the work undertaken at the conference.

The associational sermon was delivered last night by Rev. Evan P. Hughes, a minister who is greatly interested in political reform. In his address he declared that he was not in sympathy with the Socialistic idea of reform, which would change the surroundings in order to reform the individual, but that he believed the only way to better present conditions would be to reform the individual and the surroundings would take care of themselves.

Dr. Hughes based his sermon on the law of the "survival of the fittest." "All reform leaders," he said, "are contented with the present social, logical and that is the selfishness of the human heart. Change the individual and the surroundings will take care of themselves."

Several interesting addresses were delivered during the morning. Rev. Philip E. Bauer of Salem, who spoke of the great inconsistencies with which we live, and which so many have become discouraged. He dwelt forcibly on the people's minister comes in contact, and because he must "work with it." He did not believe in becoming discouraged, but urged his fellow preachers to have patience in spite of failures.

"The Place of Sacred Music in Divine Worship" was the theme assigned to Rev. V. Poling, a quartet singer for many years. He told his audience that music was one of the most essential factors in the church work. "As far back as our history goes," he said, "we read of sacred music in devotional exercises. The Bible rings from beginning to end with music. We read in the Old Testament of the virgin chorus of Israel, of the Levite chorists in the temple, of prophets who sang praises to the most high and played on their harps in devotional services. The tribes of Israel on their way to the feast at Jerusalem stopped many times along their journey to praise God with song. The Christian religion is preeminently musical. We know this because at the very beginning of Christianity the angel sang and the choir sang. Organs were used in England's churches in the fifth century."

"But with all this," concluded the speaker, "there are times when the greatest quartet and the finest choir do not do justice to their purpose. The melody to God must come from your hearts, my friends, it must be devotional and not merely professional."

Rev. James R. Knodell spoke on "A Transformation Scene in Oregon," dealing with prohibition and the liquor traffic. He exhibited maps showing portions of the state which had been voted "dry" during the past four years and prophesied that all of Oregon would be dry under the local option within two years.

"Three fifths of the state has already voted down the saloon," said Mr. Knodell, "and if I have my way, the fourth fifth will be in the movement. I have no doubt that Oregon will be white in two years, having been freed from the curse of the liquor saloon."

The morning exercises were closed with the reports of the superintendent of the Home Missionary and Sunday school societies.

JOHN HURLBURT, PIONEER IS DEAD

Of Overworked Business Men and Nervous Women Quick- ly Conquered.

The completed figures on registration for the coming election show an increase of 15,040 names over 1904. Taking the ratio of five to one in population to the registered vote, there has been an increase in population in Multnomah county in two years of 75,200. In 1904 the total registration was 32,354. When the books were closed for the June election this year the registration stood at 33,285, and 5,141 names were added during the last 30 days.

Of course, only a portion of the increase since June represents newcomers, but in scanning the cards which show the length of time the voter has resided in Oregon, the large number who have been here less than one year is surprising.

It is impossible to make comparisons of the new registration with that of two years ago as to the segregation of the east side, west side and country names, as the 6,000 odd names segregated here have not yet been segregated. Last June the west side had 12,481 as compared with 10,371 in 1904, and the east side rose from 1,559 to 1,624, and the country increased from 3,423 to 4,600. This indicates that the east side has grown about 75 per cent and has made much the largest proportionate gain. The city precincts east of the river now almost equal all the rest of the county.

There are now 115 precincts in the county, and a large majority of them are to comply with the law. This is because the county commissioners and the county clerk have had to consider their estimates of the growth of the voting population. When the next apportionment is made for the election, County Clerk Field thinks that it will be necessary to create not less than 200 new precincts in order to comply with the law.

"We have been too conservative," he says, "but did the best we knew how to do. The next time I will be in favor of going the other way, so that we may be prepared for whatever increase may come. As it is, our books are overflowing. The registration exceeded all estimates so far that we were not prepared for it."

CHARGE FALSE, SAYS STEVENS

County Judge Webster today announced that tomorrow morning he will decide the contest of the will of George T. Myers, the wealthy salmon packer and one time senator. The last testimony in the contest was taken about three months ago, and the case has since been under advisement. The hearing ran over several months and a mass of evidence was taken.

Georgia Frances Stevens, only daughter of George T. Myers, is the contestant. She alleges that her father became insanely suspicious of Dr. S. A. Robinson, who treated Mrs. Myers, and that she imagined the death of her mother had been caused by Dr. Robinson. She said her father accused her of standing in with Dr. Robinson and he for this reason cut her off with $20,000, bequeathing the remainder of a $300,000 to her brother, George T. Myers Jr. Whatever the decision of Judge Webster an appeal to the circuit court by the defeated party is expected.

HAUL AWAY TONS OF MUD

Autumn Rains Make Busy Days for Street Clean- ing Gang.

"In sunny autumn, when the leaves come falling down," is a line from a poem with which the prosaic street cleaning brigade is familiar. Only Superintendent Donelson would change the word "sunny," to "rainy" if he were asked to rewrite the line.

This is the busiest month of all the year for the men who clear the streets and help to make the city beautiful. The heavy rains bring down tons of mud from the surrounding hillsides. This mud was once finely pulverized dust which had gathered during the long summer on the billions of leaves washed into the streets by the October showers as an example of the extra work entailed by the accumulated mud. The street cleaning department yesterday had to haul away 25 wagon-loads from the corner of Twelfth and Hall streets.

Five days after the first heavy rainfall of autumn every catch basin and gutter in the city is filled with the leaf mud and if all this is not cleaned away before the next storm the floods prevented from flowing in their usual channels, cut new ones into the streets and were not for the efficiency of Superintendent Donelson's brigade the city would be obliged to make annual repairs costing thousands of dollars.

BOYS FINED $20 EACH FOR MOBBING OFFICER

George Thomas and William McNeil, two St. Johns boys who joined in the mobbing of Patrolman Small because he resented an insult offered his wife on a St. Johns car, were fined $20 each in the municipal court this morning.

Judge Van Zante expressed his regret that other members of the gang of 18 had not been seized as well. Small was accompanying his wife home from the theatre while off duty. The hoodlums, he stated, unwarranted that three other officers were on board when they began the mobbing tactics and a number of sore heads were caused by the officers' clubs.

HILLSBORO SCHEDULE READY NEXT WEEK

By next week the Hillsboro extension of the Oregon Electric will have regular trains operated between Portland and Hillsboro. Superintendent Coolidge of the line is at work preparing a schedule of train arrivals and departures to be made public next week.

Officials of the O. R. & N. are at work revising the train schedules between Portland and the eastern part of the state, for what is commonly called the "winter schedule." The changes will not take place before the first of November, however.
