LAFOLLETTE AND DAVIDSON CLASH

Open Breach Between Governor and Senator Possible Result.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 23.—What is looked forward to today as the most important political incident in the Wisconsin campaign will be the visit Monday of United States Senator LaFollette to Galesville in the interest of Herman L. Ekern's candidacy for membership in the state assembly. Ekern is running as an independent candidate in opposition to A. T. Twesne, the regular Republican nominee. Governor Davidson favors the election of Twesne and politicians consider it possible thta there will be an open breach between Governor Davidson and Senator LaFollette as a result of the fight for the assembly.

Ekern charges fraud in the primary election and Senator LaFollette is expected to make some startling disclosures intended to insure the election of Ekern.

Governor Davidson announced today that he would make five speeches for Twesne the following day.

WHEN HIS WIFE WENT ZIONING

Then Albert Sprague Went After Divorce—Edith Had Visions.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 23.—Sensational evidence was adduced today in Judge Snell's court during the hearing in the divorce proceedings of Albert W. Sprague against Edith Sprague, a deaconess of Dowie's church of Zion, who is alleged to have been lured away from her family of four children by religious fervor, dreams and visions.

The climax was reached when little Delbert Sprague, the 11-year-old son, tearfully testified that he had several times seen his father kissing the housekeeper, who was hired during Mrs. Sprague's absence.

Sprague is a railroad engineer. He stated on the stand that his wife has been a member of the Zion sect for about 10 years and that she has made several trips back to Zion City, in Illinois, for the purpose of worship.

He also testified that on November 20, 1906, returning from a 24-hour run on the line, he found his wife and departed suddenly, leaving a letter addressed to him which stated among other things that she had had a vision and that she was compelled to leave immediately for Zion City.

There are four children, ranging in ages from 2 to 14 years, and it was alleged that the mother left them without having made any arrangements for their care and comfort.

She returned to Tacoma August 1 and found that a housekeeper, Mrs. Grace Dansy, had been installed in the household in her stead.

The case has been taken under advisement.

The Independence of Young Men

An interesting thought in connection with the Stein-Bloch tailoring business is that its steady growth year after year is in no small measure due to the appreciation of young men.

Many of its young men friends of former years are now gray-haired business men—and they have the same respect for the fit and style of Stein-Bloch clothes today that they had at the end of the first season they wore a suit or an overcoat bearing the Stein-Bloch trade-mark.

Young men today, as well as their elders, appreciate correctness of fashion, as opposed to vulgar exaggeration; smoothness of fit as opposed to roughness of fit, and many who are not old friends are coming to realize that Stein-Bloch clothes are correct, in form as well as in substance.

Chickering and de Gogorza

Heilig Theatre
Thursday Evening
October 29, 1908
(Next Week)

Emilio de Gogorza is, according to the records, an American, born of Cuban parentage, and French education. De Gogorza's voice is one of the most all-round beautiful baritones ever heard in this city. His singing is sympathetic, artistic to the most insignificant note, and he is all temperament. Gogorza captured the audience at the outset with a wonderfully human interpretation of the "Prologue" from Pagliacci. The splendid artist received the biggest ovation that ever awakened echoes in the Alhambra.—San Francisco Chronicle.

As during his triumphal tour of several years ago, de Gogorza, the famed baritone, again requests and will be furnished the use of the Chickering.

The mere mention, "Chickering Piano Used Exclusively," in connection with de Gogorza recital, as with Conried's Metropolitan Quartet, whose gracious acknowledgment, signed by each one of the artists, is published herewith, is of more than passing interest.

Whenever the Chickering is used by an artist or musical organization it is solely for the reason that they believe it the finest piano made. Their choice is not influenced by a financial consideration.

Chickering & Sons will not stoop to commercialism in furthering the interests of the glorious Chickering piano. They will not pay even the greatest of artists to play their pianos or solicit their testimonials or influence. In this respect Chickering & Sons stand alone. The Chickering is the only house that does not engage salaried artists to play their instruments.

'Tis surely commendable that America's oldest and most illustrious piano concern should stand out boldly and fearlessly against this system of purchased influence—which does not enhance the musical value of the piano a particle—but necessarily adds a great deal to the selling price.

The exclusive use of the Chickering Piano by the above eminent baritone is another tribute to the glorious Chickering and the methods of this time-honored establishment. It also demonstrates that the choice of this great artist cannot be secured for a financial consideration.

No time is too long—no pains too great—no legitimate cost too large, and no effort too vast to expend in achieving for each individual Chickering the goal of artistic perfection.

The Chickering today is Supreme, Unapproachable, Unmatchable. Sold exclusively by
