TELLS OF JAPAN'S GREAT COLONIZATION SCHEME

That not more than 70 Japanese a month are arriving in the United States and that between 200 and 300 are leaving for their native land each month, is the opinion of Yasutaes Numano, imperial Japanese consul in Portland, who recently arrived here from London.

Mr. Numano was vice-consul in London for three years. Previous to that he spent two years in Korea as assistant to D. W. Stevens, adviser to the Korean government who was assassinated in San Francisco upon his return to this country to pay a visit to his family in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Numano is highly educated and speaks four or five languages fluently. He is one of the best known members of the diplomatic corps of the Japanese government, and although a young man, has been rising rapidly ever since he entered the service some years ago.

"The American people really have no cause to worry over Japanese immigration to this country as the Japanese government itself has taken a hand in the matter and has organized a colonization company to send his majesty's subjects to the uninhabited districts of Korea and Manchuria," Mr. Numano said this morning.

"In September the Oriental Colonization company, capitalized at $5,000,000, was organized by the Japanese government for the purpose of opening up new territory and interesting and sending the Japanese to the agricultural districts of Korea and Manchuria. Much of the land which is to be colonized is not only exceedingly well adapted for agriculture, but is rich in minerals. The farming land will accommodate thousands of Japanese, and as the mines are opened up we hope to have a promised land which will attract the overflow from the principal cities of Japan for years and years to come.

"At the present time there are approximately only 200,000 Japanese in Korea and Manchuria. One fifth of these people are in Korea, Manchuria not being so thickly settled owing to the fact that the country was only recently opened to the world.

"For years the Japanese government has been opposed to its subjects emigrating to the United States. But now that the colonization company has been organized with plenty of land for all who wish to take advantage of the fact, it is estimated that immigration to this country will be reduced until in time there will practically be no new Japanese coming to the United States. At present we estimate that there are about 70 Japanese a month landing on these shores. And, to offset this, statistics show that more than 200 Japanese are leaving the United States for Japan each month."

Mr. Numano says the report that Japanese merchants have been given preference in the fixing of freight rates over the South Manchurian railway is absolutely without foundation. The regulation rebate system is open to all, Mr. Numano says, which is in keeping with the open door policy of the Japanese government in developing Manchuria. Merchants of the United States and all other countries are afforded the same privileges and may avail themselves of the rebate system now in effect. Schedules of freight rates have been compiled in English for the benefit of the European shippers.

A new agreement between Japan and China has recently been signed by representatives of the two governments relative to developing the timber lands in the northern part of Korea.

"Each of the governments has contributed $1,000,000 toward a fund for this purpose," Mr. Numano says, "which means that the misunderstanding between China and Japan which has been in effect several years has been superseded. This new agreement, which is practically a treaty between the two countries, means that work in the forests of Korea, which have been neglected for years, will in the near future, be taken up by the woodman, and the product put on the market to the advantage of all concerned."

Mr. Numano is enthusiastic over the reception given the American battleship fleet in Japanese waters, and says that if there ever has been any ill feeling between the "jingoes" of the two countries, it has been entirely overcome.

Mr. Numano is charmed with Portland and says that even before his appointment as consul here was received he had often hoped that he would some day be sent here as the representative of the mikado.

$100.00 REWARD

WORK TOGETHER TO ADVERTISE OREGON

Cases containing samples of publications issued by the Southern Pacific and by the various communities in the northwest which General Passenger Agent William McMurray of the Harriman lines has been preparing, were issued yesterday. In his letter explaining the use of the cases Mr. McMurray says:

"These publications are the product of a new plan for community effort. They represent vigorous cooperation between the people and the railroads. The various communities represented have joined forces with the railroads to accomplish what both most desire—the country's growth—and to give the widest and most effective publicity possible to opportunities for homebuilding and industrial pursuits. Each community is separately treated, and each publication carries a message of genuine interest to every person looking for a chance to improve his condition."

There are 50 booklets in the case, all arranged so that they can be secured readily for reference.

AT THE THEATRES

"Squaw Man" Seat Sale.

Tomorrow morning at the Heilig theatre, the advance seat sale will open for Dustin Farnum in the poetical western drama, "The Squaw Man," which he will present at that theatre for one week, beginning next Monday, November 2.

Seats for "A Poor Relation."

Seats are now selling at the Heilig theatre for Lee Willard and his capable company of players, who come next Saturday and Sunday nights in Sol Smith Russell's "A Poor Relation." This beautiful play was one of Mr. Russell's greatest hits.

"The Road to Yesterday."

If you want to know the life you led 300 or 400 years ago see the Baker stock company in the strange fantasy, "The Road to Yesterday," at the Bungalow this week. It is a strange fantastic tale of two centuries and most cleverly pictured.

Wilson Bros. at Orpheum.

Frank and Joe Wilson are two German comedians who are creating a riot at the Orpheum this week with their funny German coon songs and parodies. Frank Wilson was the feature of the original "Blue Jeans" company.

The Baker this week is the scene of hilarity, for those funny comedians, Dixon and Bernard, are playing to big audiences in their farce, "Hans and Nix." The piece is full of musical numbers and the chorus is of pretty girls.

Mrs. Fay a Wonder.

Another large audience greeted the Fays at Pantages theatre last night and again Mrs. Fay gave her wonderful exhibition. Some of the questions she answered on Tuesday night were investigated yesterday and they were found to be correct in every detail.

James J. Corbett, Who Is to Appear Next Week at the Baker in "Facing the Music."

"The Flaming Arrow" at Star.

It is a beautiful story, well told, replete with comedy and beautiful stage pictures, and every true American is interested in the romantic western melodrama, "The Flaming Arrow," at the Star.

Matinee for Women Only.

A special matinee in palmistry will be held at the Grand tomorrow from 1 to 2 o'clock by D'Amon, the mind reader. No men will be permitted in the theatre during this time, but the special matinee will not interfere with the regular afternoon performance. This will be a rare opportunity for the women to have their hands read.

Exposition Rink News.

There are only two more days before the great ye olde time Halloween masquerade will take place, and skaters are completing scores of odd costumes. The prizes on display at Woodard, Clarke & Co.'s are well worth competing for.

GUARDSMEN WILL BE PROSECUTED

Refusal to Obey Orders Gets Washington Men in Serious Trouble.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Aberdeen, Wash., Oct. 29.—A test case will be made as to the constitutionality of the delinquency law relative to the attendance at encampment of members of the National Guard. The case arises out of the failure of two of the members of company G, W. N. G., to be present at the encampment at American Lake this summer. E. Lovos, a barber, did not answer the call for the encampment, although given repeated notice. Not appearing on the morning that the company started away, a corporal's guard was sent to his home, but was refused admission. An oral notice was then given him, but he made no answer. Jack Saunders, a wagon driver, went with the company, but deserted and returned home after staying for six days. When company G returned home both men were cited to appear before the delinquency court officer, Lieutenant Austin. Lovos paid no attention to the citation and Saunders cannot be found. Upon the taking of testimony, both men were adjudged guilty and were fined. Neither of them paid his fine and yesterday Lovos was arrested and placed in jail.

METHODIST PASTORS MEET IN CONVENTION

The annual meeting of the Portland district Methodist preachers was continued yesterday at the Centenary Methodist church, and topics of interest to the ministers were discussed. Rev. W. B. Hollingshead was district superintendent, in the morning, and a paper on "Significance of Quarterly Conference Questions" was read by Rev. Asa Sleeth.

"Selection of Subjects and Themes for Sermons," was the topic of an address delivered by Rev. W. H. Heppe. Dr. D. L. Rader represented the Pacific Christian Advocate and President Fletcher Howan, representing Willamette university, delivered an interesting talk.

"Evangelism" was the topic of a platform meeting held in the evening. Short speeches were made by several different pastors.

HEAD OF NOTRE DAME UNIVERSITY IN CITY

Rev. John W. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame university, is a guest of the faculty of Columbia university, as is also Rev. Andrew Morrissey, C. S. C., provincial of the Holy Cross congregation. The two noted churchmen reached the city Tuesday from San Francisco. Yesterday a general reception was given to the visitors, who addressed the students in the chapel of the university.

Columbia university is under the direction of the Holy Cross Fathers and Father Morrissey will remain in the city for about two weeks. Father Cavanaugh will remain for several days. During their stay here the two prelates will be the guests of the Notre Dame club, an organization of former studepts of the university.

Sunday evening Father Cavanaugh will lecture at the cathedral, Fifteenth and Davis streets. The proceds will go toward defraying the expenses of the annual teachers' institute of the Catholic Educational Association of Oregon.
