

J. M. GEARIN AND O'DAY AT SALEM

Largest Audience of Campaign Applauds Democratic Speakers.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Oct. 30.—Much the largest audience that has listened to a political address in Salem during the present campaign heard Senator John M. Gearin and Judge Thomas O'Day last night. The opera house was crowded to the doors. Joseph Albert presided. Senator Gearin delivered a forcible arraignment of the platform of the Republican party and answered Governor Hughes of New York, who said in his recent campaign in the west that Bryan had elected the country would have gone to ruin. The senator took up each of Bryan's contentions during the past 12 years, including the Philippine question, the tariff, trusts, injunctions, railroads, government ownership and free silver and showed Hughes' assertion was without foundation. He took up the deposit guarantee plan and answered the principal objections offered by the Republicans and especially those offered by Congressman H. Humphreys of Washington in his address in Salem Tuesday evening. Senator Gearin showed by sound logic that such a plan as is advocated in the platform of the Democratic party was legal, practicable and would bring about the results claimed for it. Following Senator Gearin, Judge O'Day was introduced and held his audience another hour by a clever alternation of stories and argument. The audience was not only the largest of the present campaign in this city but was good natured and attentive. The meeting was the most successful from every point of view that has been held in Salem this fall.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEER TOUCHES LIVE WIRE

(Dated Press Lensed Wire.)
Bellingham, Wash., Oct. 30.—Charles McKelrick, chief engineer for the West Electric company at Lynden, was electrocuted last night at the plant and the body was only saved from being horribly mangled by the quick action of another workman who happened to be near. McKelrick had taken the place of the electrician for the time and was standing near the dynamo trying to fix a belt that had become twisted. He came in contact with the current and was thrown back upon the big drive belt. The body was saved from mutilation, but the shock had caused instant death.

COMES TO PORTLAND

American Misfit and Sample Clothing Parlors Open Here Tomorrow.

Locates at 133 Fourth Street, Next to Woodard-Clarke Drug Company Near Washington.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock the American Misfit and Sample Clothing parlors will throw their doors with a large stock of misfit and sample suits, overcoats and cravenettes, trousers and children's fancy top coats, purchased from some of the leading merchant tailors and clothing manufacturers. Suits, overcoats and cravenettes worth from $25 to $40 will be sold at prices ranging from $7.50 to $18; tailor made trousers will be sold at prices ranging from $2.50 to $3.25; and the children's fancy topcoats, value $11 to $18, will be sold at prices ranging from $2.50 to $4.25. A small lot of tailor made vests will be closed out at the specially low price of 65 cents each, the making of these vests cost only 40 cents. Owing to the condition of the money market in the east the American Misfit and Sample Clothing parlors by a liberal use of ready cash were able to make some exceptionally favorable purchases.

REAR ADMIRAL COUDEN RETIRED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—Rear Admiral Albert R. Couden, president of the naval examining and retiring boards, retired today from active service, having reached the age limit under the navy regulations. He was born in Indiana on October 20, 1848, but was appointed from Utah. He entered the naval academy on September 26, 1867, and graduated four years later. He served on the Franklin, the flagship of the European squadron, from 1887 to 1889. In 1888 he was made ensign, he became master in 1890, lieutenant in 1891, lieutenant-commander in March, 1894 and commander in March, 1897. On January 16, 1902, he was made captain and was commander of the Atlanta from 1900 to 1904.

He was still a captain when he was honored by being placed in command of the powerful fleet and the thousands of marines sent to Havana at the time of the Taft intervention. It was the most important naval command since the close of the Spanish-American war. President Roosevelt further honored Couden by placing him in command of the battleship Louisiana, in which President Roosevelt made his trip to Panama for the purpose of personally studying the Panamanian canal situation. On November 22, 1904, Rear Admiral Couden was made general inspector of ordnance of the United States navy and still later was appointed president of the naval examining and retiring boards which position he still holds.
