

KEEPING PEACE OVER ROOSEVELT

Labor Leaders Promise Indignant Radicals to Cut White House Dinner.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Denver, Col., Nov. 11.—John Mitchell, Daniel J. Keefe and James Duncanson, three of the big labor leaders of the United States, it is said, have practically decided to break all precedent and decline to accept the invitation of President Roosevelt to dine with him at the executive mansion at Washington.

It is understood on the best authority that the labor leaders made this promise to the radical delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Labor in return for a promise that no anti-administration or anti-Roosevelt resolutions should be introduced in the convention in retaliation for President Roosevelt's snub to Samuel Gompers, by failing to include Gompers' name in the list of those invited to the labor dinner at the White House, November 17.

Although there was no session of the convention today, the delegates everywhere in the hotels were discussing the incident. It is known that Gompers has had great difficulty in restraining the delegates from taking more radical action. Several times during the session yesterday, the discussion verged perilously on the side of an anti-Roosevelt demonstration.

Gompers received telegrams from various parts of the country yesterday congratulating him for his refusal to be invited to the dinner at the White House. He was in session with the chiefs of the labor world until early this morning at his hotel and it is understood that it was not until early today that a compromise was arranged in the situation that threatened for a time to become an open breach between the American Federation of Labor and the president of the United States.

Anti-administration feeling ran high and many delegates to the convention saw it to be understood that they would be invited to the White House and Duncanson accepted Roosevelt's invitation.

Gompers has steadfastly refused to discuss the snub publicly. He said today:

"My position in the labor world does not depend on invitations to call at the White House."

Most of the delegates left on an early train today for Colorado Springs to visit the United Printers' home there, where a big barbecue was given.

GOVERNOR CAN'T MEET CONFERRERS

State Business Keeps Him Away From Washington Conference.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Salem, Or., Nov. 11.—Governor Chamberlain announced today that he will be unable to be present at the second conference of the governors to be held at Washington, D. C., December 8 to 13. Work that must be attended to prior to the opening of the legislature in January makes it impossible for the governor to go east at this time. He will appoint someone to represent him at the conference.

This Is St. Martin's Day.
 This is St. Martin's day, a day when, as on "Groundhog day," the official weather forecaster is obliged to take a back seat.
 "If November eleventh is cold and clear,
 Then the winter will be severe;
 But if that day be stormy, child,
 The next four months will all be mild."
 So runs the old saw in which is embodied the popular superstition of St. Martin's influence over the weather. Elected to the See of Tours in 374, St. Martin converted his whole diocese from paganism to Christianity. He died November 11, 397, and, in accordance with old church custom, his day is celebrated by ritualistic churches the world over on the anniversary of his death.

Weak Little Boys

may become fine strong men. Some of the strong men of to-day were sickly boys years ago. Many of them received at their mother's knee. This had a power in it that changed them from weak, delicate boys into strong, robust boys.

It has the same power to-day. Boys and girls who are pale and weak get food and energy out of Scott's Emulsion. It makes children grow.

Best Medicine GIVES LAUGHER UP FOR LOST

Even Edna Clark's Mother Yields to Despair—No Clue at Boston.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Alameda, Cal., Nov. 11.—The failure of every clue to lead to the whereabouts of Edna Clark, the missing art student, has caused her mother, Mrs. Anita Mack, almost to give up hope of ever seeing the girl alive. Fearing that her daughter has been the victim of accident or foul play, Mrs. Mack sorrowfully admits that her future holds little chance of her daughter's return.

This fear is shared by many of those who know the missing girl and who believe she would ever be identified, if the police inquiry had been extended to a search of the morgues. Descriptions of Edna Clark, her pictures, and the clothing she wore on the day of her disappearance are posted in the corner's office of every large city.

The official probing of the alleged scandal in the Church of St. Mary the Virgin in San Francisco will begin late today, when the bishop's court of inquiry will investigate the charges that Rev. Payson Young in the seclusion of his study kissed Edna Clark and that he similarly consorted other women of his congregation.

The accused rector will probably appear in his own behalf, and women who were members of his congregation will be called. Edna Reynolds, the chum of Edna Clark, is expected to repeat her assertions that Edna Clark told her that she was engaged to Father Young, and that he "wished a ring on her finger."

Boston, Nov. 11.—Rev. Elwood Worcester, rector of the fashionable Emanuel church of this city, refused to affirm or deny his reputed acquaintance with Rev. Payson Young of San Francisco, whose name has been linked with the disappearance of Edna Clark.

Dr. Worcester, whom Father Young claimed as an intimate friend, also refused to make any statement as to whether he has knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing Alameda art student.

Friends of the girl have learned that a young woman answering her description, left Oakland for Boston. They know that Edna Clark desired to study with the artist there, but that she has utterly failed to throw any light on her whereabouts.

Later the friendship of Rev. Payson Young for Dr. Worcester, who authorities in California to suspect that Father Young might have sent the girl to a man with Dr. Worcester.

Mr. Getchell, Like Thousands of Others Who Have Been Greatly Benefited by the Use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Cannot Say Too Much in Praise of This, the World's Greatest Medicine. On November 18, 1907, Mr. Getchell Wrote as Follows:

"After due deliberation, having used two bottles of Duffy's Malt Whiskey, I am convinced that it is the best medicine that I have ever taken. At first I was doubtful, but I doubt no more, for I can truly say to you and to the world that its use has improved my health so much I feel like a new man. For the past five years I have been able to work but little, with pains in my kidneys and bladder. I suffered continually, and until I began to take your Malt Whiskey I got no relief, but since then I have been growing better every day. You cannot imagine how happy I am to be able once more to walk three or four miles without any of the old trouble, and I sincerely thank you for calling my attention to your valuable medicine, and be assured I shall always keep it in the house. If any one wishes to write me concerning it I shall be glad to answer."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If weak and run down, take a teaspoonful four times a day in half a glass of milk or water.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold throughout the world by druggists, grocers and dealers, or shipped direct for $1.00 a large bottle.

If in need of advice, write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a handsome illustrated medical booklet containing some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of the world's greatest medicine.

CROWDS KEEP UP AT APPLE FAIR

Exhibits at Albany Call Forth Admiration of the Visitors.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Albany, Or., Nov. 11.—Apples, apples, apples—and then more apples. Linn's apple fair has opened and it is doubtful if there has ever before in the Willamette valley been seen such an extensive array of Oregon's premier product. Red, and yellow checked, without a blemish, they call forth the unbounded admiration of the crowds which have all day packed the armory.

Linn county is not allowed to compete for the grand prize. Of the other counties it is hard to pick the winner. Marion and Polk have excellent exhibits. Lane, Lincoln and Benton also have fine exhibits, but are not competing for the grand prize.

Outside of the county display probably the largest exhibit is the one of 20 boxes sent by the Thomas Creek Fruit association of Linn county. The association has sent fruit of a quality that demonstrates that apples can be grown second to none in this section.

The judges of the exhibits of apples are Professor E. R. Lake of the O. A. C., Charles Galloway of Salem, H. M. Williamson of Portland. This evening in the W. C. T. U. hall H. M. Williamson will deliver an address on "Apple Culture in the Willamette Valley." Professor Peck of the O. A. C. will also speak on "Floriculture."

GRECCO FAMILY WILL NOT GIVE TESTIMONY

That none of the Grecco family will testify against the brother who last week tried to take the lives of his sister, brother and mother, has become apparent and the case against Sebastiano Grecco will fall flat, it is feared. The effects of his attempt at suicide sufficiently to allow him to be brought from the hospital to the city jail, and the preliminary hearing today of his brother Salvatore, who apparently shot his brother in self defense or in defense of his aged mother and is charged with discharging firearms in the city, resulted in a postponement. Salvatore's bullet struck Sebastiano in the back of the neck, but the injury is not serious. The Greccos live at 191 Harrison street, and have a bootblack stand at 114 First street.

Bark Given Up as Lost.
 (United Press Leased Wire.)
 Liverpool, Nov. 11.—Hope for the coasting bark, Sals of Erin, and her crew of 19 men, was abandoned today. The bark was lost between the Irish and English coasts and it is believed the undoubtedly wrecked and went down on board in the storm which swept the sea Saturday.

GROCCERS PLAN BIG MEETING

Oregon Tradesmen to Hold Annual Convention Here January 6.

The Oregon State Grocers' association will hold its third annual convention in this city January 6 and 7. It promises to be one of the most largely attended conventions ever held in the state. C. B. Merrick, secretary of the Portland Retail Grocers association, has just returned from a trip through the Willamette valley and the eastern part of the state and found the merchants at La Grande, Pendleton and Baker City more generally interested in the convention than ever before. Hitherto the interest manifested has been largely confined to the grocers themselves but this year the general merchants throughout the state are showing appreciation of the work of the association.

One of the chief topics discussed will be credits, an important matter to all merchants. Secretary Gwinn of the Merchants' Protective association of Umatilla county, which is said to have the most complete credit system in the country, will deliver an address on credits.

The grocers' association is also much interested in the matter of securing certain legislation and is holding the county will investigate the legislature convenes in order to draft certain laws which concern the grocery business. One of those laws is to better garnishment laws. Another concerns the matter of peddling. The association hopes to secure a state law which will prohibit peddling which is injurious to the dealer.

Much interest is also manifested in the National Grocers' Association convention, which will be held in this city, June 2, 3, 4 and 5.

NAMES DELEGATES TO GREAT CONGRESS

Much delegates to represent the Chamber of Commerce in the National Rivers and Harbors congress have been appointed by the trustees. They are Dr. H. W. Coe and George M. Cornwall. One or two more delegates will be appointed this week. The congress will meet in Washington December 9-10-11, following the opening of the national congress.

It has been the policy of the Portland Chamber of Commerce to support actively the work of the rivers and harbors congress in every way possible and as a result of this support an unusually large appropriation for government stations, and also to secure better mail service between Portland and Eureka, Cal. The chamber also went on record as favoring larger salaries for federal judges.

LIQUOR BILL IS DEFEATED

Another attempt by the Retail Liquor Dealers' association to make the brewers assume responsibility for the conduct of saloons was defeated in the council this morning. The ordinance provided that persons who take out saloon licenses shall be deemed the owners of the licenses. On motion of Councilman Willis it was taken up for discussion.

Attorneys T. J. Cleaton and George Shepherd spoke on behalf of the measure. Mr. Cleaton said he did not represent the retail liquor dealers as an association, although he had been asked by several members of that organization to use his influence toward passing the ordinance. He said the object of the bill was to eliminate disreputable saloons. If brewers' officials were held responsible for many of the establishments over which they have a power of attorney, he thought the effect would be to improve the liquor selling traffic.

Councilman Driscoll listened impatiently for a minute or two, then moved for indefinite postponement of the ordinance. The motion was carried.

FINDS HER MISSING DAUGHTER IN COURT

Mrs. Dora E. Brown found her missing daughter Eva in the municipal court this morning. The mother was told that her daughter was in the courtroom and hurried to her. "Oh, my baby, my baby!" she cried hysterically. The girl did not move a muscle or try in any way to return her mother's embrace.

Mrs. Brown cried so loudly that she had to be led from the court.

Eva Brown had made her appearance because of the arrest of Carl Sites, who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor child. The girl declares she was 18 years old Sunday, while her mother, who lives at 17 1/2 North Sixth, says she is only 16. Sites has been rooming in the lodging-house. His case will be heard tomorrow.

TO GIVE NOTICE OF NEW CHANGES

There are railway tracks, the railway company he notified of such proposed improvement in order that preparations can be made by the company to make necessary changes.

If this suggestion is adopted, the city attorney believes it will obviate the necessity of contractors asking for extensions of time because the railway people do not do their share of the work within the time limit.

Councilman Kellisher moved that the report of the street committee on the petition of property-owners to improve East Ankeny street with bitulithic pavement be amended so as to read that it be not granted. The motion was lost and the report was adopted. The remonstrance against the improvement was then adopted by the council.
