CAPTAIN BELL DIES SUDDENLY

Known in the South and on Coast as Able Secret Service Man.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Nov. 16.—Captain B. W. Bell, for 10 years a resident of this city and well known in his capacity as an officer of the federal secret service, died suddenly last night while chatting with his wife. Death was due to hemorrhage of the brain. He was 66 years of age.
Captain Bell, during the years that he was an officer of the secret service, gained the reputation among his associates of being a fearless man. For unusual bravery and success in bringing to justice a number of important federal criminals, two years ago he was promoted. It was only a few weeks after he received notice of his promotion that he determined to sever his connection with the service and engage in business.
Captain Bell was born at Talladega Springs, Ala., where his father at one time owned the entire townsite.
"Captain Bell as an operative in the secret service, had nerve such as was possessed by few men," said Thomas R. Foster, in charge of the Seattle district of the United States secret service. "He was a United States commissioner among the moonshiners of North Carolina years ago and served as a special agent for the department of justice later. It was about 1893 that he entered the secret service and he resigned in May, 1907."

Captain Bell participated in many famous cases. In the performance of his duty in the northwest he brought several gangs of counterfeiters to justice.
Captain Bushrod W. Bell was well known in Portland, which was in the jurisdiction of his district at the time he was connected with the United States secret service. His last appearance here was in the Coon counterfeiting case, on which Captain Bell and his men had worked. The men had been preparing to make money near Huntington.
Captain Bell was a plantation owner in the south, Alabama, at the outbreak of the civil war. He enlisted in the Confederacy, being promoted from time to time and at the close of the war was rewarded for his gallant service. The war ruined him financially, and some years afterward he entered the revenue service of the department of the government.
"Captain Bell was one of the finest men I have ever known," Stephen A. Connell, in charge of the secret service in the northwest, said this morning. "He was absolutely honest and honorable in every particular. He was fair in every way, even when working against the most desperate men plotting against the government, and would never tolerate the slightest variance from the truth under any circumstances."
"He was a man of his word, not only among his fellow workmen but even among the criminals with whom he often came in contact in the line of duty. He cannot speak too highly of Captain Bell. He was one of the most popular men who ever worked for the government. When he left the service his resignation was accepted with the sincere regret of the entire department."

Captain Bell entered business for himself more than a year ago. His adventure did not prove especially profitable and later he opened a private secret service agency of his own.

WIFE BELIEVES HUSBAND SUICIDE

Chief Gritzmacher Investigates Identity of Dead Mine Worker.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Centralia, Wash., Nov. 16.—City Marshal Clark has received a letter from the chief of police at Portland, inquiring for information regarding the man who went to work for the Mendota Coal & Coke company October 4, who afterward went insane and whose was found in Packwood creek a few days ago. When the man went to work he gave the name of A. B. Bell. Other than that nothing is known of him. The letter received by the marshal is as follows:
"Dear Sir—Some time last summer a man named J. N. Henshaw disappeared from Petaluma, Cal., and his wife, who lives here, thinks that the suicide mentioned in the within clipping might be him. She is afraid that her husband went insane and might have drifted up there. Henshaw is described as follows: About 45 years old, about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weight 130 pounds, dark brown hair and dark brown mustache, dark eyes; wore when last seen a dark coat and vest and striped pants. Kindly look into this case and file how the suicide corresponds with this description, and let me know at your earliest convenience."

"C. G. GRITZMACHER, "Chief of Police."
The clipping referred to in the letter that appeared in a recent issue of The Journal, Marshal Clark says the description is not definite enough to determine whether the body found was that of the man sought in the letter or not, but in general, the man answers the description. If the people at the mine could be shown a photograph, undoubtedly the question could be settled.
ITALY AND RUSSIA DISCUSS RELATIONS
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Rome, Nov. 16.—The ministers of foreign relations of Italy and Russia have held a conference of international importance, and afterwards visited together the municipality of Rome, where they were received with Russian-Italian honors. Tittoni presented Ivolosky to the members of the council, and the Russian minister made them a speech in Italian, in which he thanked them for the manifestation of which they had made him a subject; he said his visit to Italy cemented the good relations existing between the two countries.
After this ceremony the ministers breakfasted together and at midday went to the garden party, prepared in honor of Ivolosky, where the feast was most brilliant in the presence of ladies and gentlemen of the aristocracy and several members of parliament.
"Papers of the city declare that the visit of Ivolosky has had a most gratifying influence on the Russo-Italian relations, placing them in harmony and friendliness."
MAY DIE FROM KICK RECEIVED IN FIGHT
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Nov. 16.—L. Aronsen, a tailor, was taken to the hospital last night suffering from abdominal injuries that may result in his death. He was kicked during a fight Saturday night. His condition is serious.

NO SCRAMBLE; ONLY A FIGHT

Foraker Thus Outlines Toga Campaign—Lays Claim to Deepest Piety.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 16.—The final statement of Senator J. B. Foraker preliminary to his fight for the senatorial toga will be forwarded today to the members of the legislature. Foraker specifies that the statement is not intended to convey the impression that he will devote no more of his attention to the campaign, but that he does not intend to engage in an unseemly scramble.
The statement consists of a letter from Virgil P. Cline of Cleveland, purporting to show the exact nature of Foraker's employment by the Standard Oil company. Foraker declares that the statement should "satisfy any fair-minded man." In closing Foraker says: "Whatever may be the result, I shall always be profoundly grateful for the many distinguished honors I have enjoyed at the hands of the people of Ohio, and shall always have the satisfaction of knowing, whether anybody else does or not, that I have under all circumstances striven to serve my state and my country faithfully and efficiently, and, whether right or wrong, never more so than in regard to those questions in connection with which I have been criticised."

MISERY FROM AN UPSET STOMACH AND INDIGESTION WILL BE ENDED
Ask your pharmacist to show you the Formica plainly printed on these 50-cent cases. Then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve a sour stomach or indigestion in five minutes. Get a case now and eat one "Triangle" after your next meal. They are harmless and taste like candy, though each contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat. Besides, it makes you go to the table with a hearty, healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or live pills for stimulation or constipation.
This city will have many Dyspeptic cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be another of the splendid stomach prescribers that you ever have had indication or opportunity to give. The family may suffer from Stomach trouble or indigestion.
