GALLOW'S FATE FOR JANCJAG?

State Testimony Weakens Insanity Plea Put Up by Defense.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Oregon City, Nov. 17.—The fate of Matthias Jancjag, who murdered Mary Schmecker on the night of July 11, last, is expected to be in the hands of the jury by tomorrow. Temporary insanity is the plea upon which the defense has built its case. Evidence offered by the state, however, tends to greatly weaken the defense's case, and a first degree verdict would cause little surprise.

NEW RESIDENCE FUEL FOR FLAMES

Uncompleted $5,000 Structure Reduced to Ashes During Night.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Goldendale, Wash., Nov. 17.—The new residence of Dr. H. H. Hartley on Columbus avenue, was totally destroyed by fire at 11 o'clock last night. The origin of the fire is unknown but circumstances point strongly to incense-burning. The building was under construction and the plasterers had started to work yesterday. The residence was to have cost $10,000 and was completed at $9,000. It is believed that the fire had gained headway before the alarm was given that the fire department was unable to do anything but protect adjoining property.

SAYS JUST TOOK ALL HIS MONEY

That Joe St. Clair, a half-breed, invited a friend to his room for the sole purpose of robbing him is the charge that has been placed against him, and for which he will have to answer before the grand jury.

St. Clair was arrested this morning with a woman well known to the police, and charged with a statutory offense. An additional charge of robbery, being armed with a deadly weapon, was placed against St. Clair. He waived examination in the police court and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bonds this morning. It is alleged in the information sworn to by Asst. District Attorney St. Clair that he invited Hemmingson to his room late Saturday night, and after drinking whiskey with him left him with the woman. He waited a few minutes, but St. Clair failed to return, and the victim, thinking it late, started to leave the house, which was on a street between Third and Fourth streets. Just as he opened the door, he says, St. Clair struck him a terrific blow across the head, blinding both of his eyes, nearly breaking his nose and bruising his face so badly that he is hardly recognizable. Hemmingson does not know how many blows he was struck. He was knocked out by the first one. When arrested this morning St. Clair was partly under the influence of liquor and had nothing to say. In court he refused to enter a plea.

SIX MILES OF NEW RAILROAD COMPLETED

Elmer E. Lytle of the Pacific Railroad & Navigation company announced today that the six miles of the new railroad between Tillamook and Bay City will be opened by December 15 and that trains will be placed in operation there as soon as the road is opened. The line should be completed beyond Hobsonville, a distance of more than 10 miles from Tillamook by February 1, according to Mr. Lytle. As soon as the Hobsonville line is completed train service will be extended to that point. The big Tillamook bridge, just out of Tillamook, one and a half miles long, is practically completed. There are from 12 to 15 other bridges ranging from 200 to 400 feet in length besides many others of about 150 feet. The Hobsonville tunnel, 300 feet long, is nearly completed, while the 1,400-foot tunnel between mile posts 24 and 25 out of Portland has light through it.

Strange as Fiction—Newspaper for Kidneys and Rheumatic Sufferers.

In Germany there is a newspaper published in the interests of all rheumatic sufferers, and each week symptoms and treatments are discussed by both lay and medical men. One scientific contributor related that a formula originated especially to relieve kidney diseases had almost phenomenal virtue in the treatment of all forms of rheumatism. Its action is to favor the kidney secretions and stimulate their filtering capacity, so that the poisons and acids which cause rheumatism are eliminated. This is made of this formula, which is composed of one half ounce extract Buchu, one ounce compound tincture Belladonna, and two ounces compound syrup Sarsaparilla, mixed in a bottle, and to be taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and one at retiring. A local druggist declares that any honest pharmacist can fill the prescription, and expressed the opinion that every rheumatic sufferer should be grateful for this item.

SUIT TO RECOVER SMUGGLED GOODS

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Nov. 17.—United States District Attorney George F. Tilden filed suit in the federal court for the recovery of property smuggled across the Canadian border last summer by Mrs. Emily Chadbourne, a prominent society woman of this city. Mrs. Chadbourne is alleged to have smuggled the property, which consisted of a bracelet, for Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston, a wealthy society woman of that city. The property is valued at $12,000 and the charges here have already recovered $70,000 duties and penalties on it. If the government wins the suit the owner of the property will be required to pay $82,500 more to get the property back.

HUSBAND AND WIFE IN JAIL

Fred Boyer and his wife Sadie will spend the next five days in jail. The boys indulged in a family quarrel which soon resulted in blows being exchanged. This occurred in front of the New Grand Central hotel on North Third street this morning. Quickly arrested, they soon faced Judge Gaithe. "We haven't the money," said they when the judge fined them $10 each for fighting. The fines were suspended, however, so both husband and wife must work out their five-day terms in the city jail. The boys and their child, but the younger need not stay in jail with his parents. Bootblack Bound Over. Jacob Jacobson, a negro bootblack charged with selling liquor on Sunday, was bound over to the grand jury in the municipal court this morning by Police Judge Van Zante. FIRST NORTH BANK TRAIN LEAVES CITY

To the accompaniment of the cheers of several hundred people who had gathered on the bridges across the Peninsula of the North Bank, the first regular revenue-earning train of the new line pulled out of Portland this morning, bound for Vancouver and Pasco. Locomotive No. 455 had the honor of pulling the train, which included coaches 100, 200 and 201 and baggage and mail cars. It left the passenger depot at Eleventh and Hoyt streets at 8:05 and was comfortably filled with passengers. People were gathered all along the route of the road between Portland and Vancouver, and a large crowd of several hundred people lined the tracks near East St. Johns and crowded on the wagon bridges across the cut. The trip to Vancouver was made without incident, according to the report of the conductor on the train at East St. Johns. An important feature of the trip was that it was the first time that mail has been carried between Portland and Vancouver by steam train. The contract between the North Bank road and the government for carrying mail has not yet been signed, but the road will carry the mail free for a few days until the contract is signed and accepted by both parties. The mail service via the railroad will be supplemented with electric lines of the Portland-Vancouver and the first Seattle, Portland & Spokane train carrying passengers into the city will arrive at the Hoyt street depot this afternoon at 4:30 p. m.

KEEP CHILDREN IF NOT AT HOSPITAL

Miss May Petty, matron of the Drs. Atwood maternity hospital at Tremont station until a few days ago, will be allowed to retain control of her adopted girls, 2 and 8 years of age, provided she does not renew her connection with the Atwood institution. This was the verdict of the jury of six that heard testimony in the juvenile court yesterday in the proceeding brought to take the children away from her. A large number of witnesses testified that Miss Petty has taken good care of the children. It developed that she has resigned as matron of the hospital, where it was alleged, the little girls were permitted to witness operations, and she also stated that she is about to be married. Dr. C. H. Atwood took the stand during the afternoon and denied that he had performed criminal operations at the Tremont maternity hospital. Numerous nurses and employees who have worked for him at times testified to the same effect. This was a rather lengthy testimony offered by the state earlier in the day as to the character of the institution.

JOKES COPS WHEN HER LEG IS BROKEN

Alice Kennedy, one of the most familiar female visitors of the police station, was arrested last night and found to have broken her leg. She was sufficiently under the influence of whiskey to joke about her mishap and seemed glad of the opportunity to visit her old friend, the matron, on the top floor of the old jail building. City Physician Zeigler recommended that she be sent to the hospital, and a Red Cross ambulance was called and Alice was given a ride to the hospital where she is reported as resting easily.

Suit for $1,858 on Note. Judge Cleland in the circuit court today is hearing testimony in the case of the city jail. The testimony is against the city of Portland, which $1,858 is claimed on a note, and for alleged failure to carry out a contract between them. PERSONALS Curtis G. Sutherland, chief clerk in J. P. O'Brien's office of the Harriman lines, has been confined to his home for some time with a severe cold.

DECLARE O'BRIEN IS THE ROBBER

One of the boldest robberies reported to the police in months was committed at the end of the Brooklyn carline at 9:25 last night. A Brooklyn car had made the trip out and was about to start on the return trip when two masked men crawled aboard and commanded the conductor, W. Rosewell and Motorman F. Claypool to throw up their hands. A short heavy set man wearing dark clothes, a slouch hat and a blue police dot handkerchief, held a bright nickel-plated revolver under Rosewell's chin while he went through his pockets, relieving him of between $12 and $15 and his 17-jeweled Elgin watch and chain. The other highwayman took care of Motorman Claypool, taking his watch and chain but no money. The conductor had $7.50 of his own money in one of his pockets which was accidentally overlooked by the robbers, although they seemed in no particular hurry or state of excitement while executing the hold up. Woman Soared Away. All the lights in the car were on and the car stood on a corner under a bright arc light. There were no passengers on hand but no money. The woman who was about to board the car was frightened away when she saw the highwayman searching the pockets of the conductor. A frantic scream was heard just before the men completed their job. "Are you ready, Bill?" asked one of the thugs, after he had searched the conductor. "Yes, I'm through with him," said the other, and the robbers made their way out of the car. Both were wearing blue masks made from handkerchiefs and covering the lower part of their faces. The conductor was told to command their victims to keep their hands up in the air and their chins raised. Suspect Identified. Some time after the affair had been reported to the police, Detective Tennant arrested Patrick O'Brien in North Portland on suspicion. A revolver resembling the one used by the smaller man was found on him. The car crew visited the station this morning and O'Brien immediately admitted the man who held up the conductor. A warrant will probably be sworn out against him today. The conductor was the man, but said that the man who held the gun under his chin was dressed in a suit similar to O'Brien. O'Brien asked Rosewell if the thug had spoken to him during the affair. "Yes, he did," answered Rosewell, "and his voice sounded great deal like yours." The police believe they have captured another of the hold-up pests in the city and are looking for his partner today.

SHIP MEN NEED NOT PUBLISH

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Nov. 17.—In order to combat the impression that has been created by the various steamship and transcontinental railroad lines that the new ruling of the interstate commerce commission has resulted to the detriment of American shipping men because foreigners do not have to obey it, the interstate commerce commission has issued a statement answering the propaganda put forth by the railroads and their interests since the new ruling went into effect on the first of this month. The statement points out that the trans-Pacific lines are not required to publish their tariff schedules, but that only transcontinental lines are required to publish their portion. The reason is obvious, says the commission, because it is alone over the railroad that the commission has control and it is desired to prevent rebating and other practices. The publication of the rate makes this impossible, whereas the publication of the whole rate would mean nothing. Even if rebating were proved it would be impossible to fix the responsibility on the carrier alone.

SEATTLE FRANCHISE FOR SUBWAY SYSTEM

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., Nov. 17.—Councilman Frederick Sawyer introduced a bill in the city council last night granting a franchise to W. L. Dudley of Seattle and W. S. Bray of Philadelphia to construct an extensive system of subway. The applicants for the franchise, according to Councilman Sawyer, are backed by millions of eastern capital and are in a position to carry on the great undertaking. The proposed franchise ordinance outlines three subway routes for streets. The application was referred to the committee on corporations.
