

BONI IN COURT IS DELIGHTED

Will Trouble the De Sagans for Some Coin, If They Please.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Paris, Nov. 18.—Anna Gould's marital troubles are not over yet, and if the statements made in court today are true she even now is planning to sue for divorce from the Prince de Sagan, to marry whom she traveled about the world in one of the most remarkable courtships on record.
Such a plan, however, is vehemently denied by her friends and princesses who say they are happy and that Casellane is out for the money, solely.
The prince, however, former husband of Count Boni De Casellane, former husband of Anna, who made the sensational announcement, Boni, who was present, smiled with delight.
When Boni's suit against Princess Anna to obtain the custody of the children was called, Maître Albert Clemenceau, brother of the premier, appeared as her attorney. Clemenceau asked the court for time in which to familiarize himself and learn all the facts, but the court overruled his motion for delay and set the case for trial next Wednesday.
In opposing the motion, Maître Boni told of Princess Anna's domestic troubles. He said:
"I can understand Clemenceau's interest, but the interest of the children is paramount. Two of the boys are ill and unable to go to school, while the oldest is so broken down nervously that he drops to sleep at the dinner table. The unfortunate moral atmosphere of their mother's home is responsible for their condition, and if this case is adjourned temporarily, it is imperative that the children be entrusted temporarily to their grandmother."
"I shall not enter into the details in this argument at this time, but I can state positively that the princess contemplated divorce proceedings last week. I have a letter from the doctor in attendance on the children in which he says that he has been forbidden to accompany their father with his true condition."
Evidence to support the statements of Boni is awaited eagerly by Paris.
The statements caused a stir in the courtroom and all eyes were on Boni, who beamed triumphantly.

SCIENCE and ART

BEAUTY CULTURE LECTURE

—BY—
MME. YALE

Ladies are duly notified that Mme. Yale, of Beauty Culture Fame, will combine Science and Art in an illustrated lecture and artistic entertainment, to be given at the Heilig theatre, November 18, at 2:30 p. m.

What this wonderful woman has accomplished in her chosen life work is best attested in the beauty of her own personality. That speaks more convincingly than words.

Thousands upon thousands of women all over the world have received the same remarkable benefits from the wonderful Yale System, that is so rapidly revolutionizing Human Ugliness into Physical Beauty. Women of all ages are being made happy by what they are enabled to do for themselves under Mme. Yale's System.

Well-meaning persons have often challenged Mme. Yale's claims to make women naturally beautiful as physical impossibilities until overwhelmingly convinced to the contrary by irrefutable evidence.

SYNOPSIS OF LECTURE.
1ST ACT—The Art of Beauty Culture.
2ND ACT—The science of Physical Culture.
3RD ACT—The Poetry of Motion.
4TH ACT—The Art of Good Style.
—General instructions.

COSTUMES.
Mme. Yale will wear four different costumes of beautiful design and coloring. Her perfect figure will be artistically displayed.

MUSICAL PROGRAM.
Mme. Yale's Physical Culture Exercises will be given by her with fascinating grace to the strains of sweet music rendered by the Theatre Orchestra.

Those attending will enjoy a Beauty Culture treat impossible to describe.

TICKETS COMPLIMENTARY.
Tickets for Mme. Yale's Lecture may be obtained free of charge by applying for them now at the Heilig Goods Department of Lipman, Wolfe & Co. The tickets are free to those making a purchase of any of the Yale preparations at the time of applying for tickets.
The lecture will begin promptly at 2:30 p. m. Ladies are kindly requested to be seated at that time.

PICK FLAWS IN ARGUMENT OF MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE

The appended letter from the officers of the New York and Massachusetts Associations Opposed to the Extension of Suffrage to Women, written in reply to a recent letter from Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, was printed in the London Times of November 9:
To the Editor—Will you allow space in your columns for the correction of certain misstatements by our countrywoman, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, in her reply to Mrs. Humphrey Ward, due doubtless to the ardor with which Mrs. Howe continues to sustain the woman suffrage cause?
Mrs. Howe represents Mrs. Ward as saying that the movement in this country is "almost extinct." We do not find these words in her letter, but the more exact statement that woman suffrage is "obviously declining." We agree with Mrs. Howe that "the movement for woman suffrage in this country was small and unpopular and the object of unlimited ridicule." We find some records of the time that the radical theories of government and social life of the United States were achieved between 1899 and 1906.
Wyoming adopted woman suffrage in 1890, but as it was and is an immense grazing region with sparse population, only one person to the square mile, it received little consideration from the country. Colorado adopted it in 1893 at a time of intense depression, when the Populist party was in full control of the state. In Utah the granting of the ballot to women was brought about in 1896, chiefly by the Mormon church, which thereby greatly strengthened its power. In Idaho it was granted the same year through the same influence.

Begin Active Opposition.
It was in 1895 that the remonstrants in the eastern and middle states, who were working quietly to counteract the movement for woman suffrage, decided that the time had come for active opposition. The women of Massachusetts and New York formed their state associations in 1895, and a third state association was soon afterward organized in Illinois.
Since 1895 no state has adopted full suffrage for women, although petitions for the purpose have been presented and as constantly defeated at the rate of 150 defeats in 10 years. Mrs. Humphrey Ward needs no better foundation for her statement that the woman suffrage movement in the United States is obviously declining, but down by the common sense of women themselves.
It is true, as Mrs. Howe says, that petitions are presented and leagues formed by suffrage workers, but aided by the memorial fund to Miss Anthony used by the National Woman Suffrage Association, amounting to $50,000 to be expended during five years, or $12,000 yearly. What does their non-success mean? Simply that the electors do not believe in woman suffrage, not convinced that woman suffragists truly represent the convictions and wishes of American women.

Opposition to woman suffrage is conducted persistently by state associations and committees. The middle west is largely influenced by the work of the Illinois state association, with headquarters in Chicago. The New York state association, with headquarters in New York city, has strong auxiliaries in Brooklyn, Albany and Buffalo. Massachusetts has an organization in 245 cities, towns and villages of the state, and a membership of 14,000. This state was the early battle ground of the woman suffragists, and from 1880 to 1895 the movement here gained great headway. The serious danger aroused opposition, and remonstrances followed all petitions presented by the suffragists. The results is that since 1895 increasingly active work of organized opposition has led to heavy majorities against woman suffrage in the Massachusetts legislature.

Oregon Vote Significant.
The campaigns in Oregon are equally significant. A neighbor to the woman suffrage states, her people know well what the franchise for women means. The question of granting suffrage to women was voted on in Oregon in 1900, with the result of a majority against it of only 2,137. In 1906, when submitted again, the majority against it was more voted on the question, the majority against it rose to 21,812. In the campaign of 1906 alone, the Oregon women opposed to woman suffrage circulated over a million pieces of literature.

Send England Greeting.
We extend our greeting across the sea to the brave English women who are working to uphold the established institutions of their country.
For the executive committee of the Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women:

PINCHOT'S PLEA FOR HORSE SENSE

Waterways Must Be Developed on a Plan, or Money's Wasted.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 18.—Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the United States, in an address this afternoon before the Atlantic Deep Waterways association, said:
"The success of the development of the waterways of both coasts and the interior of the country depends on whether we take up the question in a broad way.
"A loss to one section cannot be a gain to another. The time of developing individual stretches of individual rivers is gone. We learned long since to adopt a single gauge for railroads in the United States. We are coming to see that the time has passed for scattering waterway improvements over such stretches of time and place that they are out of place before they are completed.
"The way to build waterways is to build them under a great comprehensive plan so that we may get the benefit of them."
When all the interests concerned in the improvement of waterways and that mean every interest in the nation unite, demanding their development under an immediate, uniform and effective plan, this work will begin and not before.

ACCUSED OF HOLDING OUT ON COLLECTIONS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Sedro-Woolley, Wash., Nov. 18.—Charged with the embezzlement of $500, D. N. Stearns, formerly local agent of the Singer Sewing Machine company, is under arrest, and his books are being audited to discover the total of the alleged shortage. The arrest was made at the request of the company and the agent has been released on bonds and a number of business men of this place are making an attempt to straighten up the affair.
Stearns has always borne a good reputation. He has a family.

Poor Tools and A Good Worker

That Is What Makes Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Taste, Foul Breath and Catarrh.
The stomach is a good strong vital organ, which is constantly protecting and feeding every other organ of the body.
It is the most abused, neglected and scorned member of man also. Most men abuse their stomach with undercooked food, high living, alcohol, tobacco, pastries and scores of other unhealthy practices.
When the stomach at last sickens of all this, it is constantly protesting and keeps up their assaults on the stomach until, at last, it refuses to work and strikes back and cry for help. Man by his own abuse has taken away from the stomach the tools to work with.
These tools are the digestive juices which go to make up the digestive agents. From 7 to 25 lbs. of gastric juice are turned into the stomach every day.
When poor, poisonous food consumes this juice, dilutes it, robs it of its strength and throws it, a fermented mass from the system, of course there is just that much of the gastric fluid which cannot be readily supplied by the blood.
When food comes into a stomach filled with depleted fluids lacking of power to do their part, the good strong stomach is using poor tools and, of course, suffers and in its work produces a condition which often prevails is that which takes place when the gastric juice contains too much alkali. If the juice were wholly alkaline it would not only devour and digest the food but would eat and digest the stomach itself. Gastric fluid does the digestion so good and attacks the walls of the stomach making them raw and sore and setting up inflammation and irritation.
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will strengthen a stomach filled with poor gastric juice. They will remove any abnormal alkaline condition, allay irritation, sweeten the breath, remove catarrhal conditions and digest food no matter how the stomach has acted before.
These little tablets contain an ingredient, one grain of which will digest perfectly 3,000 grains of food. They will digest an entire meal in a jar without the aid of any other force except themselves. They have demonstrated this time after time.
Every druggist carries them in stock; price 50c, and 40,000 physicians use them in their practice. Send us your name and address and we will mail you at once a trial package free. Address, F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

GOODING FLAYS RAILROAD CZAR

Sizzling "Message" Sent to Harriman by Idaho's Chief Executive.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Nampa, Idaho, Nov. 18.—The convention of the League of Southern Idaho Commercial clubs completed its work in this city today. The convention was attended by about 50 delegates representing 20 clubs of the southern part of the state, and much interest in the work of the league was manifested throughout the deliberations.
The annual report of Secretary Retilly Atkinson, also secretary of the Boise City Commercial club, gave a detailed review of the extensive work of the league during the past year. Prominent in the report was the great campaign of advertising that the state has carried on and the evidenced good accomplished.
The business that came before the convention which was of particular interest to the whole state was the matter of recommending to the legislature the establishment of a commission on state railroad and public utilities commission. Governor Frank Gooding was champion of the movement. In the contest for the adoption of a resolution proposed by the committee on resolutions providing for such a commission, Governor Gooding made a strong speech in which he took a decided stand against the methods of the Oregon Short Line in Idaho.
He arraigned the Short Line company for its methods in fostering the public good and declared that it had entered other great enterprises out of the state at the expense of the people of Idaho. "I want to say to you," he said, "I want Mr. Harriman to hear what I say here today and I want his name to be present at this meeting to carry a report to Mr. Harriman of the proceedings of this convention and of what I have said relative to the Short Line railroad methods. We do not intend to crawl on our bellies any longer."
An amendment to strike out the word, "railroad" in the resolution was lost by a vote of 42 to 12, and the resolution was adopted unanimously by acclamation.

RESOLUTION FOR NEGRO PRIESTS

Such Will Be Reported to Catholic Missionary Congress—Colonization.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 18.—The resolutions committee has decided to report to the Catholic missionary congress a recommendation for the ordination of negro priests. Plans for colonization projects will also be introduced.
The congress is in its last session today. This morning M. A. Fanning of Cleveland spoke on "The Layman's Opportunity." A. A. Hirst of Philadelphia spoke on "The Memorial Idea." Judge M. F. Britten and N. L. Piotrowski of Chicago and Alexander Granger of Kansas of Illinois discussed mission work.
The program for this afternoon was as follows: "Our Five Million Immigrants," by Rev. R. A. McEachen of Barton, Ohio; "The Philippines," by Rev. Joseph Casey; "Obstacles to the 'Broom,'" by W. T. Breen of Fort Wayne, Ind.
Congress will close tonight, when an oration on the aims of the congress will be delivered by Bourke Cockran. The final address will be made by Archbishop Quigley of Chicago.
The address of Quigley was a scathing attack on Socialism, which he termed the "greatest peril of the age." He urged the Catholic church to enter the labor unions and "disabuse working men of the false ideas spread by agitators."
The resolutions will recommend the establishment of missions in the industrial centers, with priests who are masters of foreign tongues; the cooperation of Catholic societies with the church extension society, and work among the negroes and Indians in the south and southwest.

OLD ENGLISH IN SUNDAY SUPPLEMENT

The Journal's pattern supplement for next Sunday is a full sheet of old English letters, suitable for initialing table linen, bed linen, towels and all the distinctive dainty articles in the home which need this marking.
Next housekeepers who have pride in their linen know how important it is to have set marked correctly. The substantial and always attractive old English is now in the height of fashion for table linen. It is correct to place a big letter, group of initials or monogram in the center of the cloth. However, as this is nearly always covered by the centerpiece many adhere to the marking in the corner of the border.
Napkins are marked on the border, in a corner, so that they come uppermost when the napkin is folded square on the bias of the corner or in the center. Dotted are usually marked with smaller initials in the center.
Equal latitude is allowed in placing the initials for a runner or buffet scarf, although those are usually large letters and are placed above the border or fringe at the most conspicuous end.
A full large alphabet and a full small alphabet are given in next Sunday's supplement, so that every woman may select the appropriate letter or group of letters for marking her own linen.

New Line Holdings Have Just Arrived

What Swift's Means to Portland

As With Chicago
Developed in a few years from a good-sized city to the second city in importance in America, principally through building of railroads and the establishment of the packing-houses of the Swifts, Armour's, Morris and other Titans of commerce.

As With Kansas City
Which was more than quadrupled in size and its commercial activity increased a thousand-fold by the coming of these gigantic interests within its borders.

As With St. Joseph, Fort Worth
And other towns which have been benefited by the advent of these gigantic interests and have gradually become numbered among the most important commercial centers of America.

So With Portland
The commercial supremacy of Portland is assured in the northwest. Realty values have already shown a decided increase in properties adjacent to the sites, for these interests will eventually triple and quadruple in value.

And So With FAIRPORT
This addition is the choicest of any that has been offered. It lies directly adjoining Kenton, the site purchased by the Swifts for the establishment of a great commercial center.

FAIRPORT—Lots $250
Has graded streets, Bull Run water and an unexcelled view. It is convenient to public schools and churches, and is 25 minutes' ride from the heart of Portland. Every one in Portland should have some money invested here.
