Kings in the Educational World Meet at Convention in Dixie.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 16.—Page after page of the Piedmont hotel register was filled today with the names of recognized leaders of thought in the United States. They are delegates to the second annual convention of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, which will hold its sessions in this city during the remainder of this week.

The society was organized at a meeting held in Cooper Union, New York in November, 1906, and the first annual convention was held in Chicago a year ago. The organization now has 1,000 active members throughout the United States. State branches have been organized in Pennsylvania, Georgia and Massachusetts, and branches in Ohio, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Alabama, Virginia and several other states are in course of formation. State committees have been organized in 30 states, and as they increase in size will become branch societies.

A notable banquet has been arranged to usher in the convention tonight. Carroll D. Wright, president of the society, will preside, and Governor Hicks Smith will act as toastmaster. "Industrial Education as an Essential Factor in Our National Prosperity" will form the topic and the chief speakers will be Secretary of Agriculture, James Wilson and Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, United States commissioner of education.

The subjects scheduled for discussion at the regular sessions beginning tomorrow include the following: "Moral and Material Benefits of Industrial Education to the Nation"; "Industrial Training Through the Apprenticeship System"; "Promotion of Industrial Education by Means of Trade Schools"; and "Industrial Education in the Public Schools."

Educators and heads of large industries will be the principal speakers. Among those to be heard are L. D. Harvey of Menomonic, Wis., president of the National Education association; Charles S. Howe, president of the Case School of Applied Science; E. P. Hulbert, a prominent manufacturer of Bridgeport, Conn.; George N. Carman, director of the Lewis Institute, Chicago; Mrs. B. B. Munford, president of the Richmond, Va. Education association; Theodore C. Search, president of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Arts; Carlton B. Gibson, superintendent of schools of Columbus, Ga.; and Dr. Thomas M. Balliet, dean of the School of Pedagogy of New York university.

SUFFRAGETTES ON HORSEBACK

British Propaganda Takes on Militant Aspect All Along the Line.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, Nov. 19.—Active plans were begun today for the formation of a troop of women cavalry for the purpose of aiding in the breaking of police lines during suffragette demonstrations. A fund of $250,000 has been voted by the Women's Social and Political Union and the greater portion of it will be used for concerted attacks upon the parliament house and the residences of its members hostile to suffragette legislation.

The dates fixed for the various rushes and raids are kept secret for the present. The members, however, have been warned by the officers of the union that there must be no "false politeness."

Public meetings will be held and at the elections every effort will be made to defeat liberal candidates. The prediction is made by members of the union that within a year the franchise will be given to all English women.

JAMES TREADWELL DECLARED BANKRUPT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Nov. 19.—James Treadwell, who is facing trial on a charge of embezzling securities on deposit with the California Safe Deposit and Trust company, of which he was a director, is a bankrupt. He has been so judged on the complaint of Daniel O'Connell, representing various depositors who claimed that Treadwell was transferring his property to his wife.

The order declaring Treadwell insolvent was made yesterday afternoon by the United States circuit court of appeals. The action against Treadwell was taken some time ago by the depositors. The decision was given against him by Milton S. Green, referee in bankruptcy, and an appeal was taken to the higher court, which affirmed the judgment. No further opposition to the decision will be made.

GERMAN MINERS JEER KAISER'S SECOND SON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Hannu, Westphalia, Germany, Nov. 19.—A crowd of 1,500 angry miners made a hostile demonstration while Prince Eitel Frederick, son of the Kaiser, and Minister of Commerce Delbrock were visiting the scene of the recent mine explosion, when 110 men were killed. The miners greeted the prince with jeers, indicating their belief that the disaster was caused through fault of the mine management. The district governor tried to pacify the men, but they hoisted him down, struck up the "Marschlied" and blocked the road, preventing the prince's automobile from advancing.

BURNABY IN TOUCH WITH FIELD MILLIONS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 19.—An ante-nuptial agreement between Algermon Edwyn Burnaby of Leicestershire, England, and Miss Anna Field Gibson, niece of the late Marshall Field, dated the day before their marriage, was filed here late yesterday. The agreement provides that in the event of her pre-decease Mrs. Burnaby's husband will receive the same portion of her property as would fall to an American husband under the laws of Illinois.

This will amount to one half of her personal property and the use of one third of her real estate during his lifetime. Mrs. Burnaby's wealth has been variously estimated from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000. This law applies in case there are no children. The contract provides that Burnaby shall grant his wife one third of all his property in case she should survive him but this property in no manner that he is admitted to have the better of the bargain.

Here are some of the things that went into its making:

- Little Corky By Edward Hungerford
A short story about a busy man who tried to select a wife as he would an automobile.
- American Humor
By Brander Matthews
A pie in itself. Full of the best anecdotes and bon mots of these and older days.
- The Marauder By George Pattullo
A story that makes you want to oil your gun, mend your rod, pack your kit and get out on the trail again, with a good horse under you.
- The Buying End
By James S. Collins
For retail merchants. It points out the difference between success and failure, and shows how to achieve the one and avoid the other.
- Romance at Random
By H. B. Marriott Watson
Narrating the evening adventures of a young English nobleman, slightly bored and in search of a new sensation—which he gets.
- Memories of Authors
By William Winter
An intimate personal reminiscence of a life-long friendship with Bayard Taylor.
- The Complete Muckraker
By Samuel G. Blythe
In which it is shown the ambitious young Muckraker how easy it is to hand Wall Street and Society what's coming to them.
- The Honorable Madge
By Dorothea Deakin
Being the love story of the girl in the Young Sage coat, the Forced Rhubarb dress and the Merry Widow hat. Not to mention a few snobs and a couple of incorrigibles.
- Rich Women's Investments By Isaac F. Marcossion
An article of unusual interest to women, telling how money is invested wisely by Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. Anna Weightman Walker Penfield, Mrs. Hetty Green, Miss Helen Gould, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, Mrs. Mary Thaw, Mrs. Collis P. Huntington and others.
