CADETS CLINCH LOCAL PENNANT

East Side Plays Great Game Against Latourette's Speedy Squad.

Hill Military academy yesterday cinched the interscholastic championship of the city by defeating East Side High school, 6 to 0. Hill had probably the hardest time of any this season, for weight was the only thing that they had on the little east siders. In punting, accuracy in handling the slippery ball and speed the east siders seemed to have the cadets beaten.

Throughout the first half the east siders played better ball than did the Hill team and kept the ball in Hill territory most of the time. Jones outpunted Donason, while Cason and Barsee were outplaying their opponents at end. The East Side line was holding well and Donason, whose line plunging has been so terrific in all the other games in which Hill has played, was unable to negotiate the long gains which he usually makes. Fine work by Bill Graham, the Hill captain, kept the game from being too much East Side, however.

The second half started out in much the same manner as did the first, but after about 10 minutes of play Hill got started and with one big rush carried the ball over. Donason was sent through the line time and again for short but effective gains and the ball was worked to the two-yard line.

Cornell's Great Play.

Cornell, the East Side captain, came near pulling off a most unusual play in football and which, had he been successful, would have broken up the game right there. He came up and took a place in the line in hopes of stopping the Hill team and as the ball was passed slipped through the Hill line like a shot. He took the ball as it was passed from Hughes to Donason, but owing to the slippery condition of the pigskin, fumbled and the ball, hitting Donason, rolled over the line, where it was fallen upon by Graham, Ford and Barsee. Hill was given the touchdown and Hughes kicked the goal.

Had Cornell gotten the ball securely in his hands on that play he would have had a clear field before him and would have easily scored a touchdown.

The ball was in East Side territory all the rest of the game. The lineup was as follows:

Hill Military.		E. S. High School.
Troy	L E R	Cason
S. Graham	L T R	Ed Leader
Jamieson	L G R	Houck, Hedges
Carruthers	C	Moreland
Wurzweiler, W. Graham	R G L	Flaherty
Ford	R T L	Elmer Leader
McGuire	R E L	Barzee
Hughes, Hincks	Q	Cornell
Meier	L H R	Jones

BEAVERS SHAPING FOR GREAT OREGON CONTEST

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Nov. 19.—Coach Norcross is putting the finishing touches on his scoring machine, and in this he is ably assisted by Dr. Steckle, O. A. C.'s coach in 1904-5. Dr. Steckle is a staunch friend of O. A. C., and his assistance in coaching is greatly appreciated. He is an expert on the work of linemen, and the light Agric center guards and tackles will be greatly helped by his instruction.

Norcross has been greatly handicaped by lack of an assistant coach, but because of his two years' training of most of the men he has accomplished a great deal, and his players work well together.

The O. A. C. student body, who are ardent admirers of their crafty coach, think he is almost infallible, and during the past two seasons he has demonstrated his ability in every game. This year every coach in the northwest is after his scalp, but it remains for the next two games to decide the issue.

Every O. A. C. student is proud of the team and coach, and if student backing carries any weight the Beavers will win.

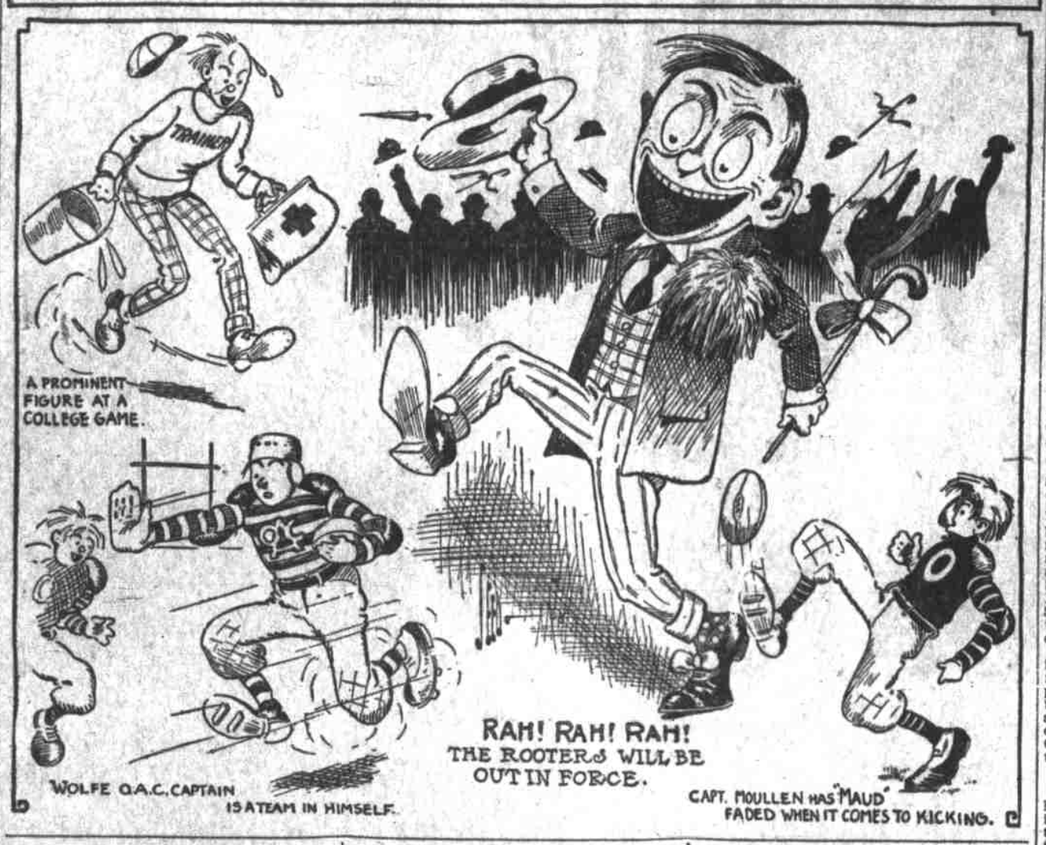
CARTOONIST SEED'S IDEA OF WHAT WILL HAPPEN IN SATURDAY'S GAME



BRITISH SPORTS FEAR AMERICANS

Yankee Horsemen Bid Fair to Carry Off Rich English Classics.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

London, Nov. 19.—American anti-gambling laws are counted on to bring such a mob of trans-Atlantic sportsmen to England for next year's racing that the British contingent is getting nervous.

The Americans will be welcome in a way, as they will bring money into the ring. Still, they have a record for such enormous winnings in the past that the bookies are not altogether sure they are glad to see them. The breeders are distinctly hostile, and say the influx of American horses threatens to kill their market.

Whether the English like it or not, however, American owners stand a chance of winning some of the richest English classic three-year-olds next year.

If Foxhall Keene's Sir Martin, for instance, turns out anywhere nearly as good as he is advertised, the prospects are that the derby will be credited to the Stars and Stripes again.

The past season's British three-year-old form has been very confusing, and Signorienetta's dual victory in the derby and the Oaks is now believed to have been a fluke. She showed no such powers in any subsequent race, and the general opinion is that J. B. Joel's Your Majesty is realy the season's best horse.

STEPHENS TEAM WINS FROM WILLIAMS SQUAD

TY COBB COPPED ONE MILLION WITH BRIDE

New Orleans, La., Nov. 19.—To the surprise of everyone but her husband, it was announced last night that Mrs. Tyrus Cobb, wife of the great Detroit right fielder, had fallen heir to more than $1,000,000.

When a delegation of hard-hearted citizens waited on Ty at his home to break the awful news to him, they found him regaling himself in an easy chair and reading the latest stock reports from Wall street. As the tale was tearfully told to him, he smiled at his visitors and said:

"Friends, I hate to disturb your dreams, but I knew her rating before I wed."

Ty is playing with a semi-professional baseball team here.

Fair Fan With "U." Squad.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., Nov. 19.—Mrs. William Hayward arrived last night from California, where she has been visiting relatives for the past two months, and will accompany Trainer Hayward and the team today when they leave for Portland for the O. A. C. game. Mrs. Hayward is one of Oregon's most enthusiastic supporters and has accompanied the teams on many of their trips during the past few years.

PLACES DYNAMITE ON HEATING STOVE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Leandro, Cal., Nov. 19.—Edward Oakes, 12 years, a pupil of San Leandro school sustained three broken ribs and several painful lacerations about the face this afternoon when a dynamite cap placed in the heating stove of the school exploded and sent portions of cast iron flying in all directions. The stove was an old fashioned wood heater and was in the corner of the room. Pieces of the stove flew about the room and Oakes, who sat nearest it was hit in the chest by a large fragment.

MIKE DWYER IS AFTER O'CONNELL

President Roosevelt's Grappling Instructor Challenges Club Instructor.

Michael Dwyer, the man who taught President Roosevelt, how to wrestle, has challenged Ed J. O'Connell, the crack wrestling instructor of the Multnomah club, to a wrestling match to be held in Portland whenever O'Connell gets ready to take on the easterner. Dwyer is now the wrestling instructor of the Denver Athletic club and will bring with him a carload of Colorado gold when the two are matched.

O'Connell stated this morning that he was willing to meet Dwyer on a handicap basis in view of the fact that Dwyer is a 180 pound man while O'Connell tips the beam at 145 pounds. Dwyer is one of the greatest wrestlers that the age has produced. He is now 38 years of age and is still as good as when he wrestled Tom Jenkins, then world's champion, for two hours in Worcester, Mass., without a fall.

Men Have Met Before.

This will not be the first match between the pair. Some seven years ago, when O'Connell was just starting in the game, Dwyer beat him, the match being held in New York. However, the youthful O'Connell gave him such a stiff bout that Mike still talks about the youngster.

After standing off Jenkins two hours, Dwyer was on the point of making another match with Tom, when Frank Gotch, present champion of the world, stepped in and defeated Jenkins, taking the title. Dwyer tried to arrange a match with Gotch but the latter started on a theatrical tour and it was never made.

President Roosevelt thinks Dwyer the best wrestler in the country and always has a good word for his old tutor. In addition to instructing Teddy, Dwyer gave lessons on physical culture to Senator Depew of New York. Dwyer taught Roosevelt at the White House and Chanucey at his palatial home across Lafayette square from the White House.

If the pair finally comes together this match will attract attention all over the world, owing to the prominence of the two grapplers.

Posts $50 Forfeit for Sullivan.

O'Connell in answer to the challenge from Dan Sullivan, now in Seattle, that he could throw O'Connell in private match for a $500 side bet, this morning deposited $50 with the sporting editor of The Journal as a forfeit for the match. O'Connell says he is not in Sullivan's class as a writer of sarcastic letters but informs Sullivan and the public that he doesn't need the aid of Strangler Smith, as Dan suggested, to beat the former Olympic athlete.

"I see that Sullivan is to box in Aberdeen Saturday night," said O'Connell. "I don't want to interfere with his engagement but there are trains running into Portland from the sound daily and I'll give him a chance to beat me anytime within a week after his boxing match."

'Sullivan wants a $500 side bet and this he will be given. Now it is up to Mr. Sullivan to post his forfeit and agree to meet me in a private match."

SEVEN BALLOONS IN CONTINENTAL RACES

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—Determined to break the world's long distance balloon record, Captain Horace B. Wild, who piloted the balloon United States in the recent unsuccessful race, announced today that he would start immediately for Chicago to make arrangements for another race from the Pacific to the Atlantic in which seven great gas bags would be entered.

"It is impossible for me to give up, now that I have made an attempt to get across the mountains and break the world's record in a start from Los Angeles," said Captain Wild. "If the owners of the balloons do not become interested in my plans, I will get two balloons of my own and make the test again—and I'll do it without waiting very long.

"Back in Chicago there are five balloons. One, the Chicago, is the largest in this country. It has a capacity of 110,000 cubic feet of gas. Another is the Illinois, holding 76,000 cubic feet of gas, and the remaining three are the Columbia, the Ville Deppe and the King Edward, each requiring 55,000 cubic feet of gas. The American, holding 78,000 cubic feet of gas, and the United States, with a capacity of 75,200 cubic feet, are already available for another attempt to cross the continent."

OLDEST RIVALS PLAY TOMORROW

West Side High and Portland Academy in Final Football Game.

Much interest has been aroused over the game tomorrow between Portland High school and Portland Academy. It will be called at 3:13 p. m. on Multnomah field.

These schools are old rivals and always fight harder against each other than they do against the newer schools. Should the Academy succeed in defeating High School it would mean that the tie between High and Columbia would be broken and High would fall to third place.

The Portland Academy team has been unlucky this year, as in every game some one has been out of commission. However, they bid fair to have a strong team on the field tomorrow, and Coach Blanchard expects to show the High school boys some tricks.

Captain Smith of the High school team said the other day: "If we lose it will not be from overconfidence, for although comparative scores seem to indicate that we will win, I do not think that the game will be at all one sided.

As this will be the last interscholastic game of the season, a large crowd is expected to be present. The lineup will be:

W. S. H. S.—		P. A.
Dabney	R E L	Snow
Smith	R T L	Summers
Arnold	R G L	Tegart
Gerspach	C	Leonard
Cochran	L G R	Wilson

DORR'S PROPOSITION TO HIS CREDITORS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—Creditors of Fred Dorr, the bankrupt broker, have decided to hold a meeting November 25 for consideration of a scheme to form a partnership with their debtor. Dorr recently proposed that his creditors form a company, and accepting a certain percentage of their claims in cash dismiss the bankruptcy proceedings now pending against him. Then he will resume his seat on the New York and Chicago stock exchanges and reopen his brokerage business. Deducting a $5,000 salary for himself, Dorr promises to pay his creditors half of his earnings until such time as all their claims are paid, when the company will be dissolved.
