AD SPACE IN CARS COST $20,000

Pacific Railways Advertising Co. Will Appeal From Assessment Levied as Merchandise—Officials Look to Legislature.

Asserting that its privilege of handling streetcar advertising in Portland is not "merchandise," and that it possesses no stock that can be called merchandise, the Pacific Railway Advertising company has filed a notice of appeal from the action of the county board of equalization, which last week refused to expunge or lower an assessment of $20,000 for the present year.

County Assessor Sigler ascertained that the company paid $20,000 for the exclusive privilege of handling the advertising in the streetcars in Portland. He held that the company should be assessed for that amount. But how was he to describe the thing to be assessed? It is not a franchise, nor real estate, nor could it be defined as money, notes and accounts. Apparently the company's property had to be listed as "merchandise," though the most of its value is intangible.

When the time came for filing protests with the county board of equalization the advertising concern presented a long application for cancellation of its assessment. It declared, in substance, that what merchandise it owns is carried in San Francisco, and that it has no tangible property in Oregon, except its office furniture. But County Judge Webster, Clerk Fields and Assessor Sigler would not concede that the assessment should be stricken off, and the $20,000 figures remain on the books.

It was clear that if the company had invested $20,000 here in land, buildings, jewelry, hardware, groceries, or in almost any other conceivable form, it would be taxable on that amount. Then why, it was argued, should it be allowed to escape without paying a cent on its investment? Now that an appeal has been taken, the matter will go into the circuit court for judicial determination. There is apparently little doubt that the courts will cancel the assessment and rule that the privilege of advertising here is not merchandise. County officials are apparently not sanguine that the courts will uphold the assessment, but they hope that the weak spot thus revealed in the law may be remedied by the next session of the legislature.

Stinker Lots for Sale—Residence lots in reach of the offensive odors from the packing houses at South Omaha can be purchased for less than half of the selling price when first placed on the market 25 years ago, plus taxes, interest and street assessments, but business lots in the midst of the odors have risen to extremely high prices. P. D. Armour, the once famous packer, said: "This is true only of business lots. We have for sale at a bargain prospective business lots in the thick of the stink south of the packing plant of Patton avenue, midway between Kenton and Swinton, Oak Lumber Co., 617 Commercial block.

YUM WAH WILL WED ALMOND EYED HEIRESS

Yum Wah, the Chinese steward on board the German steamer Arabia of the Portland & Asiatic Steamship company's line, who has worked faithfully for a long time in hopes of earning enough money to buy a wife that he has selected, over in Canton, expects to become a benedict when the steamer, which is now here, reaches the other side of the Pacific.

This fact he confided to Captain Neumann yesterday afternoon, much to the sorrow of the master mariner, because Yum Wah is, in his employer's estimation, the best steward that ever tread the floor of a ship's galley. During his long service with Captain Neumann on the Arabia and other steamers, he has learned not only to speak English, but German as well, so that it makes no difference in which he is spoken to.

Captain Neumann's particular reason for regret is that the steward will probably retire from the sea because the girl he intends taking for better or worse has enough worldly goods to permit them to live independently ashore.

NECKLACES SOLD TO FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE

A Porto Rican necklace has been placed on exhibition in a prominent window on Washington street with a card stating that these necklaces will be sold for the benefit of the crusade against tuberculosis in that island.

When the time came for filing protests with the county board of equalization the advertising concern presented a long application for cancellation of its assessment. It declared, in substance, that what merchandise it owns is carried in San Francisco, and that it has no tangible property in Oregon, except its office furniture.

It was clear that if the company had invested $20,000 here in land, buildings, jewelry, hardware, groceries, or in almost any other conceivable form, it would be taxable on that amount. Then why, it was argued, should it be allowed to escape without paying a cent on its investment?

County officials are apparently not sanguine that the courts will uphold the assessment, but they hope that the weak spot thus revealed in the law may be remedied by the next session of the legislature.

The following list is remarkable, and you will recognize the names—names as familiar as the names of old friends: Steinway; A. B. Chase, Everett, Conover, Parkard, Kingsbury, Ludwig, Estey, Emerson, Kutzmann, Wellington, A. B. Chase Player Piano; Kingsbury, Carola and Euphonia Inner Players.

Convenient monthly payments may be arranged.

CLAREMONT TAVERN. A charming place to spend the evening. All the delicacies of the season, prepared by a chef "who knows how." Excellent service.

this city and whose husband is a naval officer in Porto Rico, is one of the workers in this crusade against the white plague and was a delegate to the recent congress in Washington. She has asked that orders for these necklaces, which may be had either in red or gray, may be sent to her, and the money received for them will be devoted to the crusade work. Already since her residence in the island she has succeeded in having established a hospital and free dispensary where the sufferers may be treated.

The death rate from tuberculosis is enormous in the islands. It is stated that deaths from this cause comprise one third of the total mortality. As the necklaces sell for a small sum and as every cent of it goes to the cause for which they are sold, it is hoped by the workers in this cause that a large number of the pretty ornaments may be ordered here. Orders will be filled as promptly as possible. Mrs. John Cran, 725 Johnson street, acting for Mrs. Wood, will receive orders.

Reserve your table at the Perkins Grill for Thanksgiving dinner. Extra fine menu. Special musical program.
