

GLOBE NEGRO CAUGHT IN ROBBERY

W. Mallory Then Gets Officer to McMillen Street in Time to Have Christopher Captured With Bleeding Head as Evidence.

Another burglary was added to the long list of recent crimes last night when a big negro entered the home of W. Mallory, 190 McMillen street, and was ransacking Mr. Mallory's bedroom when the occupant awoke and seizing a rifle beat the robber over the head until he fled for his life.

The thug left the house by jumping out of a second story window a distance of about 20 feet, but was not hurt. He sat down on the ground and put on his shoes which he had taken off on entering the house and staggered toward the river. The police were notified at once and Officer Raney found the fellow crouching in the tall grass in a nearby vacant lot. His head was bleeding, but although several powerful blows had been rained on his head only the scalp was injured.

Waiver Examination. Raney marched the burglar to the police station, where he gave his name as Richard Christopher, a years ago. He refused absolutely to make any explanation of his actions and in police court waived examination in preference to telling his story and was bound over to the grand jury.

Although a dozen burglaries have been reported within the last week and many more just previous, very few of them were handed in with any description of the burglar and the police have been arrested and positively identified. The police will attempt to fasten other crimes on the culprit of last night. Mr. Mallory has not reported the loss of any articles.

Store Burglar Escapes. While Patrolman Epps was searching the store of William Gadsby & Sons, First and Washington streets, early this morning, the burglar whom he suspected of being in the building managed to give him the slip and make his escape.

At 3 o'clock this morning Epps entered the store, after asking for assistance from the police station. When the emergency squad arrived the intruder was gone. He had entered the building through a window in the rear door. Nothing was taken from the store, so far as could be learned today.

Boy Sentenced for Larceny. Archie McCoy, aged 18, charged with burglary, was sentenced to four months in the county jail by Acting Judge Westbrook. The detectives showed that the recent robbery of the barber shop in the Albius building was committed by the young man, and the theft of two revolvers and a shot gun from M. Lee, twenty-sixth and Sawyer streets, was also laid at his door.

KVALVAAG TIRES OF SPELLING IT. Pronouncing the name Kvalvaag is too much of a task for Americans, according to Carl Kvalvaag and Ludvick Kvalvaag, his wife. In a petition for change of name filed in the county court, the possessor of the scrambled consonants says that since he came from Norway in 1906 his name has been a constant annoyance, and that he frequently is compelled to write it out for people who are otherwise unable to straighten out the curves in it. Kvalvaag has four children, and he sees all sorts of trouble arising from the name. His names, too, are radically changed. He wants the name of Edwards for his whole family, Kvalvaag is a ship carpenter at 1124 East Sixteenth street, north.

GOLTZ HAS A SMILE THAT WON'T COME OFF. Sergeant of Police John A. Goltz has a new position. He is instructor in a private school with a new pupil in his own house and is teaching it to say "papa" and "mamma." It got into his nine pounds.

Goltz left the school this morning, however, for he had to appear at the police court, where he arrived with a smile as long as your arm. Why shouldn't he? He has a new pupil, a baby girl, who was registered in the Goltz family at 2:15 yesterday morning on John's own birthday. This is the first of two birthday cakes on the 22d of November in the Goltz household.

SUSPECT BACK WILLIE NOBAC

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.) Salem, Or., Nov. 23.—Homer Blackburn, accused of shooting Dr. C. H. Robertson of this city, because he resisted being held up, was arraigned in Justice Daniel Webster's court at 1 o'clock this afternoon on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He waived examination without hesitation and appeared to be self-controlled throughout the reading of the charge by Deputy District Attorney C. L. McNary. As usual the prisoner had nothing whatever to say.

They said that the boy was irresponsible and that he had been placed in the aid society for his own good and asked that he be returned. He was taken back.

WILLIE'S FOLKS DID NOT WANT TO SEE HIM

Willie Meyers, an 11-year-old ward of the Boys and Girls Aid society, whose parents reside at 209 1/2 First street, and who escaped from the aid society several days ago, was picked up in the rain at the corner of First and Madison streets last night by Policeman Burke and taken to his father and mother. They refused to allow him to come into the house.

They said that the boy was irresponsible and that he had been placed in the aid society for his own good and asked that he be returned. He was taken back.

Match Safes Cause Suit. Judge Cleland this morning began the hearing of testimony in the case of H. G. Erace vs. August Erickson for $500 on an alleged sale of match safes.

TACOMA SUPERINTENDENT TELLS PORTLAND TEACHERS COLLEGE PRESIDENTS' REMARKS BASED ON FINE SPUN THEORIES—INSTITUTE ATTENDED BY MANY TEACHERS OF COUNTY.

Over 800 school teachers were present in the assembly room of the East Side high school at 9 o'clock this morning when County Superintendent Robinson called the annual institute to order.

During the morning session notable addresses were delivered by three well-known educators, Richard G. Boone, long connected with educational interests in different parts of the country and now a resident of Los Angeles, was on the program for the first address, his subject being the "Ends and Means of Education." The speaker emphatically protested against the prevailing tendency to decry the profit derived from education.

"It is not to be held," said he, "if only the teacher were to be benefited. It is the boys and girls of the land who reap the profit of education."

Teaching varies as to conditions, but it is to be attained in the same no matter whether in the splendidly equipped institutions in the cities or in the little red schoolhouses in the country districts. Every teacher professing education are the same—something more than mere lessons taught. There should be a reach out from the school room.

In general for the accomplishment of the child's education there are two means; first, the world of things and force and change; second, the world of thought, of purpose, and achievement. The end means for the child's education is the contact of the thing.

The speaker dwelt at length upon this phase of his subject, and his remarks were received with the closest attention from the audience.

The remarks of Superintendent A. H. Yoder, of the Tacoma city schools, were also given to a Rely on the Current Criticisms of Public School Education. Professor Yoder took up the criticisms that have been running in the Deland discussed them at length. He was especially caustic in discussing the editorial criticisms by college presidents of the work in the public schools. "College presidents," said he, "have not helped to solve the difficulties in the public schools of America and for my part, I am free to say that I spend but little time reading what they have to say on the subject. Their criticisms are largely based upon fine-spun theories and are not the result of an intimate acquaintance with the work of teaching in the common grades of the public schools."

Professor Yoder gave his unequalled approval of the work of the teachers of the county. He declared that it is well nigh impossible to get pupils interested in school work who they are deprived of studying in athletics. In closing he complimented the Portland schools upon independence and the fact that it is well nigh impossible to get pupils interested in school work who they are deprived of studying in athletics. The last address on the morning program was by State Superintendent J. H. Boone, who spoke on "Some Non-Functions of the Public Schools." Mr. Boone began his address by declaring that the school is not for the purpose of preparing the child for the future, but that the most important thing for the parents is the one who amuses the child. He said that the school is not to take the place of the home, and it is not to take the place of the home kitchen, and it is not to take the place of the home kitchen.

TWIN PURPOSES OF BEACH'S TRIP

State Senator S. C. Beach has gone to eastern Oregon to help out the anti-Statement No. 1 cause a little and incidentally to see just how strong the wind is blowing for the Beach candidacy for the job of president of the senate.

Senator Beach is the man to whom Senator Upton has entrusted his campaign now under way for defeating the popular will of the people by the defeat of the Chamberlain for United States senator, and incidentally to subvert the primary law and throw the state back into the old system of machine rule.

Since having been given this trust by Senator Fulton, the Multnomah senator has been very active. He made one trip through southern Oregon and returned to Portland, saying that things looked bright for the state, but however, of any break in the Statement No. 1 ranks as a result of the trip.

The present jaunt of Senator Beach is similar in design. He will make a trip through eastern Oregon in order, if possible, to get some force in the legislature. He will also make a trip through southern Oregon and returned to Portland, saying that things looked bright for the state, but however, of any break in the Statement No. 1 ranks as a result of the trip.

NEW STEAMER FOR UPPER RIVER

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Detectives this afternoon boarded the steamer Rose City as she passed through the Golden Gate and arrested a stowaway who it is said is Captain T. Theorin, wanted in Portland, Or., on suspicion of being the murderer of a steam schooner watchman last month. The prisoner was placed in irons and removed to the city prison on a patrol boat. He will be sent back to Portland to face the murder charge.

MAX FIGMAN RECEIVES WARM WELCOME IN "THE SUBSTITUTE"

It was with more or less disappointment that Portland theatergoers who admire Max Figman, especially those who saw his work last season in "The Man on the Box," left the Heilig theatre last night after witnessing the initial production of "The Substitute," in which Mr. Figman is starring this year.

It would be rather difficult to describe the plot of "The Substitute," but it is safe to say that had Mr. Figman come here as a stranger, and had the fact that he is a Portlander been known, it would have been a splendid little drama. "The Road to Yesterday," been unaltered. "The Substitute" would have received a warmer welcome from the more critical.

The misfortune of both play and player is that they suffer by comparison. It is well for all that "The Substitute" is well worth seeing, and the big audience that packed the theatre last night must have warmed all the while to his heart. The play in many respects is exceedingly bright and contains more than its share of comedy. It is a comedy, but it contains crud
