WHITE LIGHT IS HAYES' DEFEAT

Italian Marathon Runner Wins Renewal in New York Last Night.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, Nov. 26.—Johnnie Hayes' defeat by Dorando last night in the renewal of the great Marathon race was no surprise to those who have watched the career of the young runner since his sensational victory over the Italian at the Olympic games.

When Hayes went to England he was a modest, retiring youth, and even after his return to America he exhibited much of his old time shyness. Then he fell into the hands of the vaudeville people and that spoiled him.

Being an "actor" he quickly fell into all the habits of the Great White Way and ere long the faded look of the Bohemian had taken the place of the healthy, ruddy complexion of the athlete.

Hayes never had a look in last night. Dorando held him safely all the way, despite the fact that the American occasionally showed a flash of speed and assumed the lead for a minute or two. The time of the 26 mile race, 2 hours, 44 minutes, 25 seconds, while considerably better than that made at the Olympic games, is not really so remarkable when it is considered that last night's race was run in a comfortable building on a track especially prepared for speed, whereas the Olympic race was run on uncertain roads under a blinding sun.

Hayes finished 60 yards behind Dorando, the American's time being 2 hours, 45 minutes and 5 seconds.

Dick Croker Starter.
Richard Croker, former Tammany leader, now visiting in the United States from his present home, Ireland, sent the international contestants away at 18 minutes and 45 seconds after 9 o'clock. Dorando forged into the lead at the start by a yard, Hayes contenting himself with letting the Italian set the pace. They turned the first mile in 1:37. Mile after mile the Italian sped with the same distance separating the pair. They covered the 10 miles in 1:08:15 and were going easy.

Occasionally Hayes would spurt into the lead but would relinquish it shortly to Dorando. After the fifteenth mile Dorando gradually began to outpace Hayes hung on tenaciously and at the twenty-fourth mile spurted into the lead again. Another half mile and the American did the same. Thousands were yelling for him to keep the lead but he gradually weakened, while Dorando finished comfortably. Dorando crossed the tape about 50 yards ahead of the American.

MAN WHO WON MARATHON RACE FROM JOHN J. HAYES

New York, Nov. 26.—At Madison Square Garden yesterday Durando Pietre won the second try of the Marathon race from John J. Hayes, who was declared winner of the first try during the Olympic games. Durando won by one third of a lap.

IDEAL DAY FOR GREAT BATTLE

More Ketchel Money Appears and Is Eagerly Gobbled by Papkeans.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Nov. 26.—Ideal weather is promised for the third meeting between Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel for the middleweight championship of the world at the Mission street arena this afternoon.

The rainy, blustering weather of Wednesday gave way this morning to glorious sunshine with every indication that this condition would continue throughout the day. Should there be a shifting in the weather a great canvas tent will be spread over the open air arena. Both fighters remained abed late and after a light breakfast went out for a short stroll until the weighing in, which took place at 11:30.

More Ketchel money showed itself this morning and was eagerly snapped up by Papke's admirers, who laid 10 to 7 on their favorite, although a few bets at 10 to 7 1/2 were recorded.

Papke Is Confident.
Papke continues the personification of confidence, as does Ketchel, although the Michigan fighter lacks that feeling of supreme indifference for the prowess of his opponent that he has shown in his previous contests.

Kramer Opens Stables.

DEVEREAUX MAY MANAGE NEW TEAM

Red Dog Offered Job by McCredies—Judge Still After Eight Clubs.

Judge W. W. McCredie, owner of the Portland baseball club, is still strong for an eight club baseball league on the Pacific coast, including four northern and four southern teams, although Walter Devereux, who has just returned from the east, has made preliminary arrangements to place a team in both the Northwestern and Coast leagues next spring.

With the return of the big manager from the east things on baseball row have been perking up. Mac is full of news and was an object of unconcealed interest yesterday. However, the judge's word is final with relation to the Portland teams and the next few months will be watched for interesting developments.

The McCredies are moving along as if it was a settled fact that there were to be two teams in the city next season. Lloyd Dubois, the well known resident of Vancouver, has been offered the business management of the Northwest team, but it is almost a foregone conclusion that he will decline the honor owing to press of other business.

Brick Devereux, Manager.
Interest naturally centers in the manager of the team and local fans will be pleased to know that the position has been tendered the inquisitive Brick Devereux, present manager of the outlay Fresno team of the California league. A juicy offering has been made the Red Dog and it is almost certain that he will accept. However, the McCredies are taking no chances and if Brick declines another high class manager of the California outlays will be handed the plum. The McCredies are prepared to make the place so tempting that there will be no need to turn it down.

Judge McCredie has confided to one of his intimates that both Walter McCredie and Pearl Casey will be with the Coast outfit next summer. They will occupy the same positions as last season.

While the judge and his nephew have not finally decided upon how the players will be apportioned, it can be stated upon good authority that Bassey and APOLOGIST ABIE Oregon Aggies Will Try to West Championship From Washington. Clever Little Briton Outpoints America's Champion Featherweight.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Nov. 26.—The big eleven representing the University of Washington and Oregon Agricultural college are ready to battle on Denny field, varsity campus, today for the football championship of the northwest.

Rightly speaking, the Washington institution is the only one which is fighting for the championship, as the O. A. C. has no claim to it, even if it does win today.

Should the Oregonians secure the game, the championship will be a vague, intangible thing, and who possesses it will be unknown.

Last night the rosters of the university joined with the alumni of the same institution, and held one of the largest football rallies ever held in the city. Accompanied by the "C" band and a long line of automobiles carrying the old "grads," about 800 rosters uniquely attired marched up and down Seattle's principal thoroughfares holding up the traffic and arresting the attention of the passerby during the parade's duration.

The sale of tickets for the game of today outruns all other sales for professional games and from the prospect of a fine football weather everything points toward one of the largest football crowds ever out for a grand battle in Seattle.

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—Abie Attell, the greatest "apologist," is today nursing a beautifully sutured set of kidneys and a well-hashed nose, as a result of his 15 round encounter with Freddie Welsh, the fast little Englishman, last night.

Attell, as in former fights in which he has failed to make a good showing, lays his defeat to an injury to his hand in training and to the further fact that he gave away too much weight.

As a matter of fact, Attell, with all of his wonderful skill, could not have beaten Welsh under any conditions, the Englishman being his master throughout the contest. Welsh was speedier, had superior cleverness and outgamed the little Hebrew.

Three thousand fans saw the fight, which took place in Jim Jeffries' canvas-covered arena, through which the rain poured, soaking the ring and making it hard for the fighters to keep on their feet.

It is more than likely that in the near future Welsh will challenge Nelson.

The Fight by Rounds.
Some of the best rounds between the two little fighters follow.

Round 1.—Attell refused to shake hands. Welsh landed light lefts to stomach and head, which Attell sent several lightning jabs to the stomach, while Welsh played for the knees. Welsh did all the fighting, showing great speed. Attell almost fell as Welsh sidestepped a rush. Welsh's round.

Round 2.—Attell opened viciously with right and left jabs for the body. Welsh followed with two lefts to jaw. Welsh protested to the referee about Attell's blows to foul territory and Abe was warned. Welsh did all the fighting, showing great speed. Attell almost fell as Welsh sidestepped a rush. Welsh's round.

Round 3.—Attell got away from Welsh's leads, the Englishman being eager and landing repeatedly to the jaw. Attell missed twice, but Welsh and Welsh mauled his kidneys in a clinch and then outgamed him to the fans. The crowd called for Abe to fight. Attell took three terrific wallops to the jaw and Welsh brought the crowd to its feet with a fusillade of appropriate to the face and jaw. The referee had to separate the men.

Round 4.—Welsh landed long left leads to the pit of the stomach. He sounded the kidneys in clinches. The men kept to the center of the ring, because of the slippery condition at the edges. Welsh smothered Abe with clean punches to the face and jaw and landed at will on the jaw and staggered Attell. Abe appeared dazed, though Welsh strong and stubborn. The men slid, as if on skates.

Round 5.—They shook hands. Abe rushed aggressively, but Welsh held him harmless in a clinch and backed him up with a succession of punches to the jaw. Abe dropped low and fought for the stomach, the referee breaking them. Attell dodged away cleverly from several leads of Welsh, who was eager. Both men fought desperately to the body. Abe almost went down to Sperry's help at 1:15.

Round 6.—Welsh was given the decision.

ITALIAN BATTLESHIP RAMMED BY STEAMER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Leghorn, Nov. 26.—The Italian battleship Pisa, while lying at anchor in the harbor here today, was rammed by the Italian steamer Elisa. The great warship was torn in the warship's hull below the water line. The Pisa is being towed to Spezia, where the steamer Elisa was badly damaged in the collision.

YOUNG DANE TRIES TO OUTDO WESTON

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26.—Determined to break the record established by the veteran pedestrian, Edward Weston, on his recent walk from San Francisco to Los Angeles, William Stanley, a young Dane, is attempting to do the same this morning on the long hike to the southern metropolis.

Stanley proposes to do the distance in 10 days and 8 hours, beating the record by about 16 hours. He is confident of doing this, claiming that his condition is all that could be desired to pull him through in record breaking time.

The young pedestrian's most notable achievement was a 5000 mile tramp through Europe. He will make the San Francisco-Los Angeles walk in an ordinary business suit and his only impediment will be a small knapsack containing a change of clothing. His finish will be made in the office of the Los Angeles Record.

HEINRICH SENDS HIS FORFEIT COIN

One thing that will delight the fans will be the 37 weeks of high class baseball instead of 15 weeks, as heretofore. The southern circuit will be the same as last year, while the Northwestern league teams will play 17 weeks of baseball at home. Of course the two leagues cannot play in Portland at the same time, but they will occupy the same field, Twenty-fourth and Vaughn streets.

The judge, according to statements, is still willing to let the Northwestern proposition go. If the California magnates grant him the eight club extension of the Coast league. It is now up to them to decide by their action or inaction just what the baseball situation for next summer will be.
