SHOOT AT MAN AT BACK DOOR

East Washington Street Men Take Pot Shot at Burglar Who Runs.

Portland might as well have no police force, so far as immunity from burglars is concerned. The usual burglary was attempted early yesterday morning, but

Naphtha Loosens The Dirt.

Soap cleans. That is how P. & G. Naphtha Soap does its work.

The naphtha in it, by loosening the dirt, makes it easy for the soap to do the work it is intended to do—cleanse.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap would clean just as thoroughly as it does, if it contained no naphtha at all; but it would take more time and more work.

Naphtha and good soap make an ideal combination—a combination that does away with half the work and practically all the discomfort of wash day; and makes it possible for a woman to do as much work in 4 or 5 hours as now takes twice that long.

Boiling of clothes, with all its attendant annoyances, is a thing of the past with women who use P. & G. Naphtha Soap. So is nine-tenths of the hard work over the wash-board.

was frustrated only by the determined action of the inmates of the house, who took a few pot shots at the would-be house breaker as he was running away. Albert and Robert Anderson, the two sons of Mrs. Joseph Anderson, 1033 East Washington street, heard some one trying to get into the back door with a key. They got up, and one taking a revolver and creeping around to the back of the house, and the other aiming himself with a shot gun and waiting at the front door, attempted to land at least one burglar in the city jail.

But the man heard them and started to run. Albert Anderson saw him running down the steps and fired at him twice, but so far as he could tell, did not hit him.

As there is no danger of the burglars being caught, another house breaking may be expected tonight.

SKATING SOON DUE SAYS WEATHER MAN

There is a possibility of having some skating soon. District Forecaster E. A. Beals of the weather bureau holds out hope in predicting a 32 degree temperature for tonight. And he says it was down to the 32 degree mark early this morning.

was trying to get work, but could not find it. The man in the institute gave me a dime, so I had to get some way to get along, and when I met this fellow he helped me out.

Suspected Stamp Thieves.
 The postal inspectors are investigating the records of Johns, Lloyd and the boy on the grounds that they might have been implicated in some of the postoffice robberies which have been pulled off during the last few weeks.

The government authorities believe that Lloyd has been connected with other robberies of United States properties before. In the event that the county authorities prosecute the men it is not likely that the government will take a hand in the case.

JOHN AND ANDY DECRY WEALTH

Real Money Not Half So Fine as the Coin You Are Dreaming About.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 New York, Nov. 27.—In an article to be published in the December number of the World's Work, John D. Rockefeller declares it is better to give than to receive. He says the novelty of being able to purchase everything one desires soon passes, and that what people most seek is not buyable. He also gives a little advice, and among other things says:

"Don't begin business with the idea of getting all out of the world by hook or crook that you can. Rather consider, 'Where can I be most effective in the work of the world?' The only way in which one can secure the real equivalent of money spent is by cultivating a taste for giving where money will produce effect, and where it will be a life-long gratification."

The oil king says the greatest problem of his career has been the organization of philanthropic enterprises.

New York, Nov. 27.—"Beyond a competency for old age, wealth decreases rather than increases human happiness," says Andrew Carnegie in an article which will appear in the December number of the World's Work. The great steel magnate says that community makes wealth, and that wealth should be divided with the community. This statement is the keynote of his article. Carnegie points out that none of the professions has money making as its aim, and says that the state should levy a tax on such gains at the highest possible rate.

POLICY OUGHT TO BE WIDE OPEN

by the mayor; they were assured by Dr. Lane that he has the power to subpoena park owners. Landscape Gardener Olmstead says he is not prepared to appeal to him also as being the wisest course to follow.

Judge M. J. Munly, president of the North East Side Improvement association, addressed the board on behalf of the association, by whom he had been sent to express the approval of the plan across the river of the general people which the park board has adopted for the creation of the magnificent park and boulevard system outlined by the Olmsteads.

Submits Proposal.
 L. E. Rice, president of the Mount Taber Improvement association, presented a communication from the Waverly-Richmond club asking that the park board buy the acres bordering on the Planfield tract. He said this is admirably adapted for park purposes and for a reasonable price.

NO MOTORS ON VANCOUVER RUN

North Bank Officials Doubt If Such Cars Would Be Profitable at Present.

Rumors that the North Bank road intended operating gasoline motor cars between Portland and Vancouver by way of the new bridges were denied today by officials of the road. Although the plan of running a motor car service between Vancouver and Portland has been suggested to the officials, they have not officially considered it and stated that in their opinion the service would not pay, even if they had the cars to operate with.

Both passenger and freight service over the new line between Portland and Pasco has been heavier than was expected by the officials. There is comparatively little through freight as yet, but the new line seems to be breaking even with the others in that respect.

The mail contracts, excepting for a portion of the Portland-Spokane mail and that for way stations along the line, have not yet been signed. A portion of the through mail for the east is carried by the North Bank, but the government is prohibited under present conditions from paying more for a carload of mail than for a box full and the bulk of the through service will continue to go to the O. R. & N. for the present.

TRAIN DERAILED BY LED HORSES

An O. R. & N. train killed two horses and was derailed by them on a high trestle a mile west of Bonneville yesterday afternoon. J. H. Mills, foreman of a surfacing gang, jumped from the train and was badly hurt, all through the attempt of a man to lead two horses across the ties of the bridge.

The man was leading the two horses, one of them with a 300 pound pack on its back, and had lost his way. He came down upon the railroad track and tried to lead the horses across the bridge. When he was part way over a work train came around the curve and upon the bridge backing. Before the man could get his horses off they were struck and both killed. The man managed to save his own life.

Mills, seeing the danger, jumped and was injured. Farrell, superintendent of the construction gang, did not jump and was not hurt, although the train was derailed and ran for some distance on the ties.

BILLIK'S MOTHER DIES OF GRIEF

In Letter She Sends Love and Faith and a Piteous Mite.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Cleveland, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Barbara Billik, mother of Hermann Billik, condemned to hang in Chicago, December 11, died of a broken heart this morning.

She broke down physically when her son was convicted of poisoning the Vrsal family and through the long and unsuccessful struggle for his life she failed rapidly.

When the final ruling of the supreme court removed the last possibility of hope in the courts, and Governor Deneen expressed his firm determination not to interfere with the decision, Mrs. Billik began to have severe pains in her heart. The culmination came Wednesday when she received a farewell letter from her son, protesting his innocence and at the same time expressing his loss of hope.

More than a year ago Mrs. Billik completed arrangements with a local undertaker to bury her and her son, in case he was executed, and the shock killed her. The undertaker took charge of the funeral arrangements as soon as he was notified of her death.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Hermann Billik, whose aged mother died today in Cleveland of a broken heart caused by his sentence to hang on December 11, this afternoon gave out a letter which he received from her yesterday. A pathetic feature was the act of the poor old woman in sending her son $2—"all she could spare."

"I knew she was dying when she wrote it," said Billik as he allowed the reporters to make a copy of it. Even the guards wept at the pitiful message was read aloud as follows:

"Dear Son Hermann:—Why don't you write to me in so long a time? I am half dead. I pray night and day to God to let me live until I know the outcome of the troubles of my only child. I can't believe they will hang you, or there is no justice in the world. I know you are innocent. You never committed a crime like that. When they hang you, it will kill me and I'll go with you. So dear son, don't take it hard. Maybe God will help you yet, and how glad I would be to see you if I could. The doctors are doing all they can to get me on my feet. I send you two dollars, all I have to spare. Is Edna better? You don't write about her. I will try to come to you. I send you a dozen kisses.

"Your broken hearted mother."
 After the letter was read Billik put his hands on the shoulders of Jailer Davis, who supported him to his cell. Edna, referred to in the letter, is Billik's daughter, who made a brave fight for his life and a pathetic personal appeal to the troubles of my only child. I
