CITY WELL COMPLETED
Huntington Has 400-Foot Bore—
Other News.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Huntington, Or., Dec. 3.—The deep well which was being drilled by Russell and Wilson for the city has been completed according to contract and accepted. A depth of 600 feet was reached without an overflow, the water standing within 85 feet of the top. A pump will be installed and a reservoir built. It is thought there will be sufficient water to supply the city.

 Last night a carload of sheep was overturned in the railroad yards, killing 30 sheep. The accident was caused by the trucks refusing to take a curve as the car was being switched to the stock yards to unload the sheep.
 The public schools of this city were closed today for the week, awaiting further development of the diphtheria epidemic. No new cases are reported and school will reopen Monday if no more have developed.

SALEM CITY ELECTION

Charter to Be Amended and Franchise Voted on.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
 Salem, Or., Dec. 3.—The city election will take place in Salem next Monday, December 7, at which time a mayor, city recorder, city marshal and treasurer and seven councilmen are to be elected. Mayor George Rodgers will have no opposition for reelection nor will Treasurer Frank Meredith or City Recorder Wiley Moore. City Marshal W. D. Gibson and nearly all of the councilmen will have opposition. Not much interest has been manifested in the coming election.

An amendment to the charter regarding the matter of opening streets and alleys, and a franchise will be submitted to the people for their approval. The franchise is a renewal of the one held by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company for the operation of the street railway.

There are in the county 140,473 acres of tillable land valued at $15,913,765. Railroads are assessed at $2,076,590. The street railway of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company at $86,000, rolling stock at $160,635. Telephone and telegraph companies are assessed at $245,280. Livestock in Marion county is assessed at $963,182. Other items of assessment are made up of improvements and personal property.

PATTON AFTER VOTES

Representative-elect Thinks Chances Are Good.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
 Albany, Or., Dec. 2.—Representative-elect Hal D. Patton of this city has departed for eastern Oregon where he has gone in the interests of his candidacy for the speakership of the house at the approaching session of the legislature. Since the disputation among the members of the delegation from Multnomah county Mr. Patton feels that his chances for the speakership are improving and he will enlist the aid of as many members outside of Multnomah as he is able.

INSTITUTE IS CLOSED

Three Days' Session of Linn County Teachers.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Albany, Or., Dec. 2.—The Linn County Teachers' Institute closed this afternoon after a successful three days' session. Men of prominence have been on the program. Last night President Campbell of the University of Oregon gave an address which was greatly enjoyed. The institute was divided into three classes, primary, intermediate and high school, each class having its special work, with special instructors.

PLAIN WORDS ON BREAKING LAWS

Attorney Exhorts Merchants to Obey Laws and Bring Back Liberty.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, Dec. 3.—The Merchants' association in its annual banquet at the Fairmont last night listened to a discussion of the trusts by three men, each of whom in his particular sphere is an authority on his subject. The most ringing speech of the evening was made by Attorney Charles S. Wheeler, who spoke on the topic "What Combinations are Lawful Under the Sherman and Cartwright Acts," and said in part:

"It is often the case that such large gatherings as this can be divided in two great divisions, the one containing the violators of the Sherman act and the other the violators of the Cartwright law. Now, our laws have been made, and I propose if the laws are on the statute books, whether they accord with my views or not, to obey them. We have had enough of law breaking."

"There is something better than dollars and cents. Let us postpone getting our dollars by violations of the statutes, give me back my cottage and the 10 cents in grocery with the liberty of every man to compete equally for the right to sustain himself and his family. I would rather see 10,000 Americans working out their own destiny than 10 trust magnates working out the destiny of 10,000 men. There may be more dollars to be made out of the other system, but then there are more dollars to be made in a kingdom than in a republic."

Wheeler's address followed a speech made by Frank L. Brown in behalf of the retention of the trust idea. He believed the day of vast cooperative business organizations had come to stay, and that despite present evils in the system the trust movement would extend, just as actual war had given all of good that it could to this country, so, said he, industrial warfare has given this nation all the benefits possible.
 "A perfected system of cooperation," he asserted, "is the hope of the future."
 United States District Attorney Robert T. Devlin talked on the attitude of the government toward the trusts, describing the series of prosecutions which had been inaugurated for the enforcement of federal laws.

on the Willamette river, and took merchandise valued at several hundred dollars. It is the second time the store has been robbed within a month.

Girls' Manual Training.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Forest Grove, Or., Dec. 3.—The board of directors of the public schools of this city have established a manual training department for the girls in all the classes above the sixth grade. The boys have had a manual training department since the beginning of the school year, and the interest they have taken in the work determined the directors to establish a class for the girls. Work began Tuesday under the direction of Miss Clement of the primary department, who has had experience in that branch of work in Chicago. Forest Grove has as fine an equipment for the work of the manual training class as can be found anywhere.
