

SOCIETY

Mrs. Frank M. Warren is to entertain Tuesday with a luncheon for Miss Constance McCorkle, the secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association who has been doing efficient work here for several years. Miss McCorkle remained to see the work well established in the new building but intends to leave soon for her old home in Richmond, Va., where she will engage in similar work. Miss McCorkle has many friends in Portland who regret her intended departure.

Harold Chamberlain, who has been spending a year in Wasco, is expected home tonight to make his home again with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Chamberlain. He is popular among the younger set and his return is gladly welcomed.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus J. Delahunt who have spent several months east left New York last Friday on a route again and after making short visits on the way expect to be home for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Fleischer spent the Thanksgiving week end at their delightful Seaside home with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehrman and Sanford Hirsch as their guests.

Miss Felling has cards out for a small bridge tomorrow afternoon.

Teeth Have Much to Answer For.

From Current Literature. It is to the teeth that the pathologist should first look for explanation of those emotional crises in the lives of all of us which assume how the form of an exaggeration of the sentiment of romantic love, again an intensification of insomnia and sometimes a development of religious sensibility to the boundary line of mania. In making good this theory the professor of diseases of the nervous system in the Western Reserve University, Dr. Henry S. Upson, ascribes many of the ordinary cases of nervous wreck met with in daily experience to a misunderstanding of the dental mechanism of man. Not only is toothache the cause but disease of a dental nature involving no pain whatever to the victim works its havoc and leads men and women to madhouses, domestic miseries and every kind of excess.
