

Women's Clubs and Their Work

Edited by Mrs. Sarah A. Evans

THIS week we finish the committee reports and begin the publication of the individual club reports that were given at the annual convention of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, recently held at La Grande.

It may seem a far call from irrigation to the Woman's club movement, but when one considers what irrigation means to the women and children of the rural districts, it will readily be seen the close connection of the two, and therefore the following very interesting report that was given on irrigation:

The prosperity of our state depends not on the city, but on the country; the prosperity of the country on the production of the soil. Land has been cheap and climate so suitable that only of recent years, less than a dozen, has been increasing the yield of our soil beyond agrarian.

Irrigation has become the accepted means of this adding to our wealth. Even in the Willamette valley which is supposed to be abundantly supplied with moisture, experiments have been carried on the past year which prove that the yield of the land may be doubled and in some cases increased three and fourfold by the application of water during the growing season. The sugar beet factory at La Grande was a number of months this year for the lack of water for irrigation purposes, and not only is the yield of a single crop greater, but a succession of crops may be grown on the same land; in some places three or four crops have been harvested in a year.

How much more profitable to the farmer is three crops that one? Less land is needed. In fact, it is claimed that one man cannot cultivate more than 40 acres advantageously. This irrigation means smaller and better cultivated farms; denser population; better social and educational advantages, more profits, less drudgery, more comforts and giving the wife and mother more time for self-improvement, and family life.

Madam President, I have here a set of resolutions indorsed by another organization interested in the public welfare and I would like to have you have the committee on resolutions present to this body for consideration. I would urge the women throughout the state to give more attention to consideration to this matter, attend public meetings where these things are discussed, form opinions on the subject and have the committee on resolutions present to this body for consideration.

MRS. A. KING WILSON.

FOLLOWING are the resolutions of the state convention, as adopted at La Grande:

First, Irrigation—Whereas, titles to water are of equal importance with titles to land, and it appears that a water right should be as easily ascertained, as clearly defined, as secure and in all respects as definite as a perfect title to land, and

Whereas, it is apparent that without a definite system of water right titles and adequate protection by the state, the water user are burdened with a costly and apparently unending litigation; our present constructed works are defective and the state is in a state of flux, and it is the duty of the state to legislate, rather than by statutes of the legislature. Few know what the law is, nor do they care to be tomorrow.

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs that it is the duty of the state to legislate at the earliest possible time, to codify and enact a complete, concise and definite water law, and that the courts only the mere interpretation of this law on such occasions as it might be brought into dispute, and be it further

Resolved, That such water law should be based upon the best experience of other states and countries, such as Wyoming, Idaho and Canada, and should include the following fundamental principles: 1. That no water right should become vested except by direct grant from the state.

2. To provide a system whereby the priority and limitations of every existing right to the use of water can eventually be ascertained.

3. To provide a reliable record in some central office of all water rights as determined, and of new rights as initiated.

4. That actual measurements of ditches and streams be made as a basis for the adjudication of existing rights and the initiation of new rights to the surplus water, if any.

5. To provide a definite procedure whereby rights to such surplus water may be acquired.

6. That beneficial use should be the basis of all rights to the use of water and that water for irrigation purposes should be made appurtenant to the land irrigated.

7. All rights to the use of water for power development should be limited to a period of 25 years, subject to renewal under certain restrictions.

8. To provide an efficient administrative system, with proper officers, for the distribution of the water supply among those entitled to its use. Motion of indorsement carried.

Resolved, That inasmuch as the quality of the future citizenship of the state depends upon the health of the children of the state, and that this is directly affected by the sanitary condition of our schools, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in convention assembled, we recommend that individual club, the necessity for greater interest in the sanitary condition of our school buildings. Be it further Resolved, That we especially commend the work of the Women's Afternoon clubs of Pendleton in equipping a school building with sanitary conditions to the board of education of other cities the example of the board of education of Pendleton in its careful supervision of its school building and the excellent type of architecture adopted by the board. Motion of indorsement carried. Motion carried to send copy of resolution No. 2 to school board of Pendleton.

Third—Scholarship loan fund. Resolving that the scholarship loan fund is necessarily dispensed under varying conditions, we commend that the conditions of the loan and repayment of the loan be left to the committee with power to act. Motion of indorsement carried.

Whereas, the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs in convention assembled believing that the following resolutions, bear directly on the welfare of the state, and in view of the improved conditions, resulting therefrom can be obtained only through legislation, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the legislative committee be instructed to have prepared bills and amendments embodying the resolutions and to have them further instructed to arrange for the presentation of these bills and amendments to the legislature, and to take such steps as may insure their passage.

First—To again present the bill providing for the wife's signature in addition to the husband's as security on another person's note.

Second—An amendment to our school law providing that school houses may be used as neighborhood centers.

Third—An amendment to our law providing for public playgrounds which shall change its application to cities of the first class.

Fourth—An amendment to the pure food and drug act, forbidding any amount of patent medicine to be thrown about in public places.

Resolved, That we recommend cooperation with the state association for the prevention of tuberculosis in providing for public playgrounds, and that the clubs indorse any legislation presented by that body.

Resolved, That all clubwomen cooperate with the child labor commission in its efforts to guard the children of our state from the evil effects of legal employment. Referred to industrial committee.

Resolved, That the president be requested to appoint a committee of three in public health, corresponding in scope and duties with the similar committee in the general federation.

Resolved, That the president be requested to appoint a committee of three in public health, corresponding in scope and duties with the similar committee in the general federation.

ance, our children's books are as good in kind as in the Portland library, the same is also true of the history, sociology and other departments. Our card catalogue is about completed. We allow the grade teachers in the public schools, teachers' cards with as many as 10 volumes issued, thus helping the school rooms in their supplemental work.

Last winter, though our mayor, Mr. Carnegie's secretary, has us an offer of $15,000 library building, which proposition the library board respectfully declines on the ground that it was inadequate for the purpose intended. We have not a poor public building in the capital city and we do not propose beginning with a poor public library building, but will trust the future for one. The aim of the library board is to do effective work with our present plant.

Respectfully submitted, C. L. BRISTOL-KELLHER, ALIN H. DODD.

AT THE recent national election Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the National Equal Suffrage association went to Denver to personally observe the conditions on election day in a great city where women vote. Here is what she says about it:

The day was beautiful. The sensation of a Sunday or Thanksgiving. Not one man did I see intoxicated. All seemed to be in a happy mood. I started out in an automobile at 8:30 a. m. and went continually until the city closed at 10 p. m. Not one man did we see intoxicating or pulling or pushing, much less a woman. Order was perfect; men and women fell in line, and the doors were opened in order. The first thing that impressed me and remained with me all day was the sense of order and respectability. There were no smiles or glances or anything denoting the presence of men and women who were not conscious of performing their duty to state and nation.

The per cent of women voting increased as one went from the slums to Capitol Hill. In one polling place of Capitol Hill the per cent of women registered was 87 per cent. In the residential and industrial parts of the city, the per cent of women registered was 70 per cent. In the next polling place, out of 450 registered, 80 were women and about 30 voted, showing that the vote of women increased as one ascended the scale of industry and intelligence. One of the things the tenderloin told me there was "nothing doing in women's votes"; that they would not vote unless forced to do so to get police protection for their business. Another "king" of the same district, the tenderloin told me that he never had except when the corrupt police forced them to. He told me that he feared the bad women's votes; that they would not vote unless forced to do so to get police protection for their business.

triumph. The night before election I was at a dinner of professional women and out of 40 only one did not say that they intended to vote for Judge Lindsey.

I am so glad that I went to Denver. Conditions were so good that if any one had told me anything like the real truth, I would not have believed it. It was so much better than I dreamed an election could be. Oh! it was a great day and one long to be remembered!

ALTHOUGH the aims set forth in the constitution of Forest Grove are social and literary the members do not wish to hold themselves apart from the broader work of the Oregon Federation. It was, therefore, with interest we entered into plans of the federation for a campaign in the interests of the Open Air sanatorium and to present to the people of Forest Grove the dangers from tuberculosis. A meeting under our auspices was addressed by Dr. Pierce and also by Mrs. Trumbull of the People's Club. A meeting especially in the interests of the Visiting Nurses' association.

Our club, which now consists of 60 members, maintains four departments of special study, each under a competent leader. Household economics in particular receives enthusiastic support. During our three preceding years most of the regular club work was directed to the study of American history and in particular the growth of our country, work and the increase in membership makes the plan of united study no longer desirable. This year we have selected topics along the line of local interests and the broader lines of federalism. Our open meetings give ample testimony that the Women's club is appreciated as a social and intellectual factor in Forest Grove. We do not open our doors so wide that the pleasures of life may be enjoyed without its responsibilities; we are glad, however, to make an occasional contribution to the community life of our town. In the spring we shall hold a special conference for our members under the direction of Rev. J. J. Ferris, whose experience in legislative work in Iowa makes her residence in Forest Grove a most interesting one.

One of our members was a delegate at large to the biennial at Boston and her report of that convention was given at the first meeting of the current year. Through the biennial and the convention at La Grande we expect a stimulus that will give us a desire for closer participation in the work both of Oregon and the nation. Respectfully submitted, MARY F. FARNHAM, President Woman's Club of Forest Grove.

IT seems but a brief time since the organization of the Alpha Literary club of Baker City, and yet, as the eighth president of that club I am reporting the eighth year of our club life. We were organized primarily to give to Baker City a public library. The five years' work to found, maintain and keep up this library before the city accepted the books and furniture of the trustees of the library association is a tale that has been told, and we would not now allude to it were it not that we wish you to know about our beautiful Carnegie library now in process of construction.

We are proud, not only of the handsome new stone building, but of our books, now numbering over 3200, which we believe are carefully selected, but of our librarians, Miss Moser, whose faithful work makes it possible for our library to have an average daily circulation of 80 books in addition to the reference work done.

In the three years that have elapsed since the city took the library we have been able to do more for ourselves, although we contributed something each year to the library for books.

We are now a sort of a department club, although we still have our regular meetings on alternate Mondays attended by all members of the club. The study work is done in classes. One of the largest classes in the one studying Shakespeare this is the third year for this class, which is now reading "Hamlet." The art department took early Italian art the first year, Dutch and Flemish art the second year, and this year will take a course in modern art. The Day View class is studying German. There is also a department in domestic science. The programs for the general meetings are furnished by these departments.

Year before last we purchased our piano and paid for it, and contributed something over $100 to the library by the sale of the piano. Last year we felt the need of a rest and were inclined to think our patrons would appreciate a rest also. We did not put forth a strenuous effort to raise money as we had been doing.
