

APPLE SHOW A SPOKANE

Exhibition Opened at White House Signal—Demonstration of Apple Foods.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—President Roosevelt touched a button in the telegraph room of the executive offices at 1:30 o'clock today (Washington time), sending a current over a direct line to Spokane, Wash., and setting in motion the machinery of the national apple show. No guests were present.

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 7.—The national apple show was opened in this city at 10:30 today. President Roosevelt touched a button at the White House, and the machinery of the national apple show. No guests were present.

The exhibits include fruit from many parts of the United States and Canada, and from England, Germany, France, Norway and Japan. The show will continue through the entire week. During this time there will be lectures by heads of agricultural departments and meetings under the auspices of various horticultural societies.

The primary purpose of the exhibition, which is the first of its kind, is to show the value of the apple as a wholesome food and healthful fruit, to demonstrate its manifold uses, to show the perfect system and with-out blemish, is to be reproduced in bronze, which will be heavily plated with gold. The reproduction will be given to the grower of the perfect apple. Several prizes also will be awarded to those devising improved methods in the packing of the fruit for shipment.

ANTIS' HOPES

center of Oregon politics to know the conditions here, said Senator Beach this morning. "I do not believe that he is advised of the value of the apple in the case. I do not believe that his statement will have any effect."

"Will Out No Joe."
Max G. Cohen, the secretary of the Union Republican club, is a leader of the anti-Chamberlain movement in that organization, is solemn but official in tone. "I am a party man," said Cohen this morning. "I believe that the party should have its rights. I believe that there should be a Republican in the legislature. I believe that there will be one. I do not know who, and I do not care, so long as he is a Republican. Chamberlain has said a whole lot of things, and I do not believe that his statement will out any one."

Cohen says he has not decided just yet how the trick is to be done. He has not formulated any plan, but is confident nevertheless that there will be a Republican senator.

Jimmy Kercheval in Bloom.
Jimmy Kercheval, who has been boosting the game over in the Sellwood district, is also gloomy. He led the movement which resulted in the Sellwood club being taken over by the legislature, sending out the now famed and almost forgotten petitions asking Statement No. 1 members of the legislature to repudiate their pledges. The Sellwood petition is not accumulating signatures rapidly and Kercheval is grieving because of that fact. What hurts him most of anything, however, is the fact that several men upon whom he was counting have vigorously declined to sign up. The have intimated to Jimmy that it was not at all nice for him to come to them with such a petition, arguing that he was not working in a good cause. They have wound up their arguments by gently but firmly declining to have anything to do with his petitions. Jimmy is disconsolate.

Sheep Jump Off Canyon Wall.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
North Yakima, Dec. 7.—Following their leader, 210 sheep out of a band of 5000 owned by Corbin Bros. of this city went over a canyon wall in the Moxee coulee west of this city Saturday and were killed. The sheep were being driven from the hills to the valley pastures, when one of them made a short turn on the trail and went over the cliff. Before they could stop the others followed blindly and were either killed or smothered. Many that went over fell on their companions and escaped uninjured. The loss is over 1000.

"SPEAKERS," SAYS PRESIDENT

Attributes Attacks on Panama Canal to "Certain Class of Newspapers."

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Hot Springs, Va., Dec. 7.—William Dudley Foulke with permission of President Roosevelt has made a public response to the attacks on the Panama canal. President Roosevelt assails the motives of the "certain class of newspapers."

The fact is that these particular newspapers habitually and continually and as a matter of business practice every form of mendacity known to man, from the suppression of the truth and the suggestion of the false, to the direct lies which are written or procured by others to write the articles are engaged in the practice of mendacity for hire, and surely there can be no lower form of gaining a livelihood. Whether they are paid by outsiders to say what is false, or whether their profit comes from the circulation of falsehoods is a matter of small consequence.

There is no higher and more honest calling than that of the man connected with an upright, fearless and truthful newspaper; no calling in which a man can render greater service to his fellow men. The best and ablest editors and writers in the daily press render a service to the community which can hardly be paralleled by any service rendered by the best and ablest men in the public life, or the men in the government. The most corrupt politicians are no greater menace to the community than the most corrupt newspaper editors. The men of the type that I have discussed, whether they belong to the yellow press or to the purplish press, whether they are engaged in the cause of their sordid mendacity and whatever the cloak it may wear, matters but little. In any event, they represent one of the potent forces for evil in the community. Yours very truly, THEODORE ROOSEVELT, William Dudley Foulke, Richmond, Ind.

FINCH TO BE TRIED

went past Miss Burkhardt in the outer office and that she did not see what took place in the inner office. When he went in he said: "Hello, Ralph."

Finch says Fisher answered by asking, "What are you here for?" and he replied: "I came over to see if you were ready to sign my petition and help me out a little."

Finch says that Fisher's reply was to tell him to get out. Fisher, he said, had his notarial seal in his hand or it was on the desk, and Fisher struck back at him with it. Then he says Fisher threw the seal and yelled at him to "Get out." The seal struck him and dazed him. He thought Fisher used his right hand. Then, he said, Fisher half rose from his seat and reached over into the open drawer of the desk at his right hand. Then, Finch says, he fired.

He did not see Fisher have a revolver nor did he see whether there was a gun in the drawer. The weight of Fisher's falling body closed the drawer as he fell, Finch declared. He said that Fisher's crouching position at the moment he fired had removed his weight from the chair and this was the reason Fisher's chair fell over.

This statement by Finch appears to be full of holes for attack by the prosecution. Miss Burkhardt did not see the notary seal that day and she is able to contradict the statement that Fisher threw it at Finch. She says Finch used his gun and fire, just a moment after he had said, "Hello, Ralph."

Finch admits that Fisher did not at any time turn around in his chair to face him, though he says Fisher partially turned. The known facts concerning the seal and the improbability of Fisher's having hurled it over his shoulder, without facing his slayer, are believed by the prosecution to render the seal story worthless as a means of defense.

Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald stated yesterday that the state places no reliance in the conspiracy theory. He thinks it is doubtless true that the attorney against whom Finch used the proceedings discussed their imagined grievances with each other, but he says there is nothing in this which appears to have any direct bearing on the case.

Finch himself denies that he talked over his troubles with the other attorneys against whom Fisher proceeded. As to J. H. Hitchings, he says he never had more than a passing acquaintance and says he never "had any use" for Hitchings.

Finch yesterday repeated that he is ready to be tried at the December term, and remarked that he expected to be indicted at once. He added that he has not discussed the time of trial with his attorneys, and said that they may prefer postponement to a later term. This is all in their hands, he said.

When attention was called to discrepancies in the statement he made yesterday as compared with the statements that Deputy Sheriff Beatty, and Riley Petty, his brother in law, have stated that he made to them on the night following the shooting, Finch said there was no material difference. He said he had mentioned the seal to them, but was not certain about it.

MANY WOMEN ATTEND

keny, Washington; Foraker, Ohio; Fulton, Oregon; Hansbrough, North Dakota; Henneman, Indiana; Kittredge, South Dakota; Long, Kansas; Creamy, Kentucky; Platt, New York, and Teller, Colorado.

Those whose reelection has already been accomplished, or seems sure, are: Brandegee, Connecticut; Clarke, Arkansas; Clay, Georgia; Dillingham, Vermont; Guilford, New Hampshire; Gore, Oklahoma; Heyburn, Idaho; Hopkins, Illinois; Lattimer, South Carolina; McKinney, Louisiana; Overman, North Carolina; Penrose, Pennsylvania; Smoot, Utah; Stevenson, Wisconsin; Stone, Missouri.

The later and Brandegee have a fight on their hands.

Vice President Fairbanks, who will retire March 4, was early on the scene. He was all urbanity and smiles. After the opening prayer by the venerable chaplain Edward Everett Hale, and the roll call, the three customary resolutions which mark the beginning of a new session were adopted by a later vote.

They first fixed the hour of daily meetings at noon. Then second they directed the secretary to notify the house that the session was adjourned and the third they authorized the vice president to appoint a committee to join the committee appointed by the house to notify the president that the congress was ready to receive any message he might wish to send.

Senator Dooliver then rose. In simple words he depicted the grief which he and the other members of the Iowa delegation felt at the death of his colleague. He offered the resolution expressing the deep sense of the senate in the loss that it had sustained. The senate adopted the resolution and adjourned until tomorrow.

Governor Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, the chosen successor of the late Senator Allison, will probably be sworn in at tomorrow's session. Scores of representatives were on the floor of the house before noon.

Visits to Cannon.
Speaker Cannon's office was a mecca for all. They crowded the room, smoked cigars and cracked jokes.

At a minute to 12, the gaze of the crowd centered upon the door at the right of the speaker's stand, they were looking for "Uncle Joe." At the first glimpse of his familiar countenance, members and spectators joined in a big demonstration. The speaker mounted the steps to his throne. He seized the gavel and held it aloft menacingly.

No attention being paid to this warning to be quiet, he hammered vigorously, and the house reluctantly came to order.

Seattle Police Theory Is Suicide Dating Back Two to Five Years.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Dec. 7.—Half buried beneath leaves and decaying vegetable matter, the remains of a man were found about 200 feet north of the fair grounds at Madison Park yesterday afternoon. Only the skull appeared above the ground. The police made an investigation and are convinced that the man committed suicide between two and five years ago. Nothing to indicate identity could be found. The clothing, which had been dark, was almost entirely decayed. A pair of pants, made of a material had disintegrated, contained $5 in gold and $2.50 in silver. A revolver, with which the man is supposed to have killed himself, was found beneath the remains.

FACILIS DESCENSUS FROM WALLA WALLA

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 7.—Denunciation of peckaboo waiats, cheap theaters, dancing and novelette reading made up the sermon of the Rev. A. L. Thoroughman, pastor of the Marvin Methodist Episcopal church, last night and a crowded house heard him preach on "How Tom and Sallie Went to Hell from Walla Walla."

According to Rev. A. L. Thoroughman, the reading of novelettes is the worst thing a young man or woman can do and he went so far as to state that "no young person can long read them and retain their virtue, it is impossible. Bad books are everywhere.
