If you could visit the factory in which Ivory Soap is made;

If you could examine the materials which enter into its manufacture;

You would know, as its makers know, that Ivory Soap is the purest soap that money will buy; and you would use it in preference to any and all other kinds.

Ivory Soap 99 1/100 Per Cent. Pure.

EXTRAVAGANZA AT THE BAKER

Knox Wilson is with the "Land of Nod" again this year. To those who know that is quite sufficient. To those who don't let it be said that with Mr. Wilson the entertaining extravaganza is one of the best of its kind. Wasn't it Mr. Rork who presented "Coming Thru the Rye" at the Hellig a month or so ago, to say nothing of seasons past but scarcely forgotten? If "Coming Thru the Rye" was worth even thinking about, "The Land of Nod" is worth going to see twice.

That there were many who had remembered the show from last year was evidenced by the big house the Baker had last night. The press agent had been excessively busy, too, even going to the extent of filing a suit in a real court. But it was almost worth his efforts. The April Fool was funny. They were nearly all funny and you forgive them for not being able to sing because they were so tired and didn't try it on you very often.

The "Land of Nod" tells about a little girl who goes to school in a fairy land—in that particular being just like every other extravaganza ever written. When she finds herself near the palace of the King of Hearts, and things begin to happen, greatly to her delight and to ours. The telephone man comes in and rings a bell. The weather man makes himself as obnoxious as weather men usually are. The chorus is a real treat. The Jack of Hearts, a lovely person with a soprano voice and blonde hair, sings about her lost heart. The Rabbit jumps out of the chafing dish and into the firing line of the king's bunker; and all the time Bonnie, the little girl who went to sleep, is having most delicious spasms of amazement.

There are some reasonably good dances for those who like them. There are some songs in the regular Joe Howard style, there are jokes for the simple minded and programs for the worldly wise. "The Land of Nod" should not have a good week of it at the Baker. It deserves it because it gives value received.

criminal assault and was sentenced to the maximum penalty of five years, but after serving two years was paroled. He broke his parole almost immediately and had been missing 13 months when he was arrested in Portland on a charge of vagrancy.

The police are on the lookout for two youthful runaways who left the Chemawa Indian school near Salem yesterday. As soon as the boys were found to be missing the superintendent notified the local authorities, giving their names as William Woodley and Rex Johnson, aged 17 and 14 respectively.
