Justice Bell this morning upheld a man who had struck another for persistently using vile language in the presence of his wife. S. V. Fine therefore heard the charge of assault and battery brought against him by S. Singer dismissed. Singer, according to the testimony, had insisted on using language of the worst kind in the presence of Mrs. Fine. Fine resented and finally struck Singer. Singer had him arrested. Justice Bell declared that Fine was justified, although he did not believe that ordinarily any one is justified in taking the law into his own hands. Fine was represented by A. Walter Wolfe.

Alleging fraud and deception on the part of his business partner, C. A. Anderson has filed suit in the circuit court against James Attanasio to recover $1000 or thereabouts as his share of the profits earned by himself and Attanasio in completing a contract with G. A. Anderson and E. T. Johnson, doing business as E. T. Johnson & Co. C. A. Anderson alleges that he entered into partnership with Attanasio on good faith, and that the latter deceived him. He asks that the profits made by completing the contract be turned over to the clerk of the court and equally divided.

WILL CELEBRATE ADMISSION DAY

Frederick Newton Judson to Speak on Anniversary of Oregon's Birth.

The matter of celebrating in proper style the fiftieth anniversary of the admission of Oregon to statehood, which will fall on February 14 next, was presented to the Oregon Historical society this afternoon by President F. V. Holman, at the tenth annual meeting of the society.

As February 14 will be Sunday, the celebration will probably be held either February 12 or 13, and it is expected that the governor of the state will take an active part and that the state legislature will assist in some way. It has not been decided whether to hold the celebration at Salem or at Portland. Frederick Newton Judson, a distinguished lawyer of St. Louis, author of authoritative works on taxation, and lecturer to Washington university, St. Louis, will deliver the principal address.

The meeting this afternoon was opened by reports of officers and committees, followed by an address by the president, Mr. Holman, on "Discovery of the Fraser River and its Significance to Oregon Pioneers."

Joseph Schafer, professor history in the University of Oregon, will tell of the sources of information relative to the early history of the state which he was instrumental in opening to investigators during his residence in London. The British foreign office has a large store of such material, correspondence of the Hudson's Bay company. Professor Schafer obtained copies of much of this material, which will be of great value in connection with the much vexed Oregon question previous to the treaty in 1846.

WANTED TO DIE; GOES TO ROCKPILE

Herbert A. Cohan believed last night that within 24 hours he would be dead. He told his landlady so, and she believed him, too. But when the end of the 24 hours rolls around tonight where do you imagine Cohan will be? Not in the morgue, by any means. Instead he will be out at the Kelly Butte rockpile, and tomorrow morning he will begin breaking rock.

Cohan roomed at 22 North Sixth street. He went out last evening and bought a bottle of carbolic acid. When he returned he told the landlady all about his plan to take his life. She was frightened, and Patrolman Peterson was called. When the policeman arrived Cohan was still arranging the details of his suicide. Alas, for his cherished hope of soon being a corpse! He was arrested—and on a charge of disorderly conduct. He had frightened the landlady.

Today he was sentenced to 10 days at the rockpile.

CAMPAIGN ON FOR STATE PROHIBITION

The various temperance societies of the state all of which have headquarters in Portland, have been studying the question of a campaign for state prohibition for some time. The Woman's Temperance Union declared for such a campaign in its recent convention and committees were appointed to carry out such purposes, while the anti-saloon league has also been looking to that end. This has all culminated the past week in a number of meetings at the state headquarters of the W. C. T. U. of representatives of these organizations and the Prohibition party at which plans were laid for the immediate inauguration of a state campaign to place Oregon in line with the lengthening list of the states that have outlawed the traffic and manufacture in intoxicating liquors.

The vigor which characterizes the plans of the united societies and the fact that they will work as a unit in this matter augurs success.

PERSONALS

Carlton H. and Richard T. Wall, San Francisco capitalists, have been in Portland for the past few days. They are directors and large stockholders in the new terminal dock and warehouse company which was organized Wednesday of this week. They express themselves as being favorably impressed with Portland and think there is no better place on the Pacific coast for investment. Their parents are old Oregon pioneers, having lived at Oregon City in the early fifties.

Charles Loesch, president and manager of the California Baking company, is in the city looking after property interests he has here, and also to attend a meeting of the organizers of the new terminal dock and warehouse company, which is to be built at the foot of Seventeenth street, on property formerly belonging to P. P. Mays. Mr. Loesch was here just 10 years ago and is astonished at the marvelous growth of the city since his former visit. He leaves for San Francisco tonight, but will return to Portland in February to give further attention to his business interests here.
