

BLACK LYNX, MINK, FOX, ERMINE, CARACUL and PONY are the Popular Furs of the Season

We are prepared to handle the Christmas trade in Furs with promptness. Our holiday assortment is complete, ranging in price from ONE DOLLAR to ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS. We show the same attention and appreciation to the dollar customer that we do to the largest purchaser. We want every wearer of a fur, whether expensive or inexpensive, to know that this is the house of unequalled values, no matter what the size of your purchase. The prices we quote are extremely tempting. Remember that a LIEBES FUR of any kind is the standard of value, seldom equaled and never excelled in style, quality, workmanship and general all-around effect. We have furs for the tots, furs for the misses, furs suited to all ages. We employ our own trappers and handle more genuine Alaska Sealskins than any other fur house in the United States. This enables us to supply the best Seal Coats at moderate prices.

BULLET ENDS DREAM OF WEALTH

Butte Prospector Murdered Shortly After Uncovering Gold Vein Yielding Returns of $1300 to the Ton.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Butte, Mont., Dec. 21.—William T. Clark, an old time prospector and a familiar character in this city, was found murdered in a lonely cabin on Fish creek in the mountains south of here. A couple of months ago Clark uncovered a very rich gold vein, yielding returns of $1300 to the ton, in free milling metal, and this discovery is believed by the authorities to have played no small part in his murder.

 number or possibly 11 or 12 votes. In addition to these two blocks of votes is Campbell with his two colleagues in Clackamas county. These men have so far refused to go into caucus. There are 14 Statement No. 1 members who have agreed to go in a body to some speaker-ship candidate when the proper time comes, and they will not go to McArthur. Besides these are those members who may be called middle of the road men who want a caucus but will not pledge themselves to any one in particular at this time.

No. 1 men who have agreed to go together and it is safe to say that would mean pick up 13 votes he will be given the added 14.
 Instead of Bean being out of the race his strength is so formidable that McArthur is willing to break away from the anti-Chamberlain fight that has been waged up to this time by the Fulton followers and sign up an agreement to keep his hands and his influence off the senatorial question entirely. For the past week or more McArthur has been negotiating with statement No. 1 men, complaining that he was being discriminated against because of the statement previously made by Bean on the senatorial issue, and contending that he was willing to put himself down in writing to the effect that he would not allow himself or his influence as a speaker to enter into the senatorial fight to defeat Chamberlain. So far, however, he has not written out his statement for any member, though it is expected that he will do so as a last resort to put himself back on an equal footing with Bean before the other members of the house.

Change in Storm Warnings.
 District Forecaster Beas of the local weather bureau today received notice from the chief of the department that, beginning January 1, weather storm warnings at night will consist of a white light below the red, instead of as present the white light above the red. It is understood that the change has been ordered at all stations in the United States, but no reason is given therefor.

SHIPPERS RALLY AGAINST ROADS

Proposed Revolt in Face of Rate Raise Meets General Favor.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, Dec. 21.—The shippers' executive committee is receiving letters and telegrams promising cooperation in the public meetings to be held throughout the state, on what has been termed "rate day," to protest against the proposed increase in freight rates by the railroads of the state. So great has been the response to the call sent out from this city that the shippers' association has decided to hold a meeting and it is believed they will first attempt to enjoin the railroads from increasing the rates.

TOLD ROBERTS

 As a result of this innovation there has not been the slightest suggestion that this jury has been or will be approached.
Thornton Jenkins Bold Front.
 The intimation that Mrs. Annis will produce a letter written by the prisoner to her husband and containing a distinct threat, when she resumes her testimony tomorrow, is not affirmed by District Attorney Darrin.
 "Wait until she gets on the stand," is all he would say today regarding her testimony.
 Thornton Jenkins Hains dismissed the report with a denial. "Nothing to it," he declared. "It is all rot to say such a thing. I never threatened Annis in my life and every one that knows anything about the case knows this is true."
 Hains is very confident of his acquittal.
 "Why, all the prosecution has brought out in confirmation of my own story, they only drew my revolver to keep John Tanning and the others from throwing Pete into the bay," he said. "And I would do the same thing if it was to happen again. I will tell the jury just what happened when I take the stand, and I have no doubt they will see I did nothing criminal and that I will go free."

CAUGHT BETWEEN CAR AND AUTO

Los Angeles, Dec. 21.—Jerome L. Harvey, an aged farmer from Leon, Iowa, is near death at the receiving hospital today after being struck by a streetcar last night.
 Harvey, driving an automobile and was hit by the car. His body was hurled from the fender against the window in front of the motorman's face, then dropped back into the fender just as the car came to a standstill.
 Harvey's wife and his son, Harry D. Harvey, traveling passenger agent for the Manjinton & Pike Peak railroad, are here today.

SAY COSGROVE WILL RECOVER

Physicians Have no Doubt, Declares Son of Washington's Governor-Elect.

"Whether or not my father returns to Washington in time to assume the office of governor on the first day of his term, will not make any material difference, in so far as the execution of his plans is concerned. All that is argued there will be no shift at Olympia. Everything is harmonious," said Howard Cosgrove, son of Governor-elect S. G. Cosgrove of Washington, this morning. The governor's son has just returned from a visit to his father at Paso Robles and says that the latter's health is rapidly improving.
 "This newspaper talk about the contingencies that may arise in the event that my father should not come home is not worrying me one iota. I hold that he becomes governor as soon as the certificate of his election is issued by the legislature," continued Mr. Cosgrove. "There is no provision in the constitution of the state by which a governor is required to take the oath of office, but simply as a matter of precaution my father will be sworn in at Paso Robles in case he should not decide to go to Olympia to be on hand at the opening session of the legislature."
 "My father is able to make the trip to Olympia at any time now if it were necessary, but it is not probable that he will. The question of his coming north at this time is merely one of advisability. When I was sent for two weeks ago, Dr. Sawyer believed that my father would die before I could arrive. The sudden change for the better was a complete surprise to the physicians at Paso Robles, but they now say that recovery is assured and that my father is absolutely out of danger."
 "As to the probable distribution of political patronage, I am unable to make any official announcement today, but several appointments will be made quite soon. No official announcements, in fact, have as yet been made by my father. He does not know with a certainty now just what appointments he will make."
 The press dispatches which stated that E. L. Boardman is slated for the position of state printer were not authorized by us, but it has been definitely decided that Boardman will secure the office and that Eugene Lorton of Walla Walla will be given a place on the state board of control.
 "Job hunters have not been allowed to bother my father. Only one or two intimate friends have been permitted to see him at all. His mail is all returned to me and no letter of a political nature has been allowed to reach him before, I have seen it."
 "Let me tell you," concluded Mr. Cosgrove, "that this business of holding down a public position is the most strenuous kind of work possible. A man needs an iron constitution, unlimited gall, and an unquenchable fighting spirit to bear up under the continuous bombardments of office seekers. If my father comes back to Washington before the legislature adjourns, he will need every ounce of vitality which he may have regained."
 But he is eager and willing to get into the fray once more and he is all we can do to hold him back. His physicians will try to keep him at Paso Robles until they are assured that his plunge into the legislative whirlpool will not cause a relapse."

FINDS RESIDENCE USED AS STABLE
 A vacant house on the southwest corner of Tenth and Clifton streets, believed to be the rendezvous of lobos, was entered and examined yesterday by Officer Fuller. He found to his surprise that two horses were being stabled in one room of the house, but there were neither horses nor lobos in the house when he called.

A Long Wait Likely.
 From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. It is nothing new for Joe Cannon to say that he is in favor of tariff revision. There will be plenty of time to arrange a celebration before anybody finds him working and voting for it.
