

WALLA WALLA ELECTRIC CITY

R. C. MacLeod Says Interests of Portland and Inland Empire Tributary to Columbia River

Portland and the inland empire of the northwest tributary to the Columbia river are inseparably identified. The interests of the city and the entire region to the north are inseparably identified. The Columbia basin depends upon the progress of the Oregon metropolis, and further strides to the commercial supremacy of the Pacific coast by Portland can only be lengthened with the cooperation and good will of the people who must look to the valley for their livelihood.

Continuing the up river editor said: "In a business way Walla Walla has always been loyal to this city, and the wonderful growth of the Rose City is something that pleases every farmer, orchardist and gardener in the Walla Walla valley. It looks as if Portland is the natural outlet for all the products of the soil raised in that section. The farmers are making arrangements to construct a 30 mile line from Dayton to the Garden City, as the metropolis of southeastern Washington is called. We have room for more people in the valley, which is as yet but comparatively thinly populated. As soon as an individual farmer or grower is bound to come. We expect Portland to help advertise these resources, for the more people we can get to visit us, the greater will be the trading which will be built up with the farming country by Portland merchants."

"The Walla Walla Commercial club has done much to bring the Columbia basin to the notice of eastern growers, and every year it sends out tons of advertising literature in which space is given to an incidental boost for Portland."

DRIDGE EXERTS EFFECTIVE MANAGEMENT

Special Committee Still Investigating Facts Concerning Structure.

Another dreary meeting of the special committee appointed by Mayor Lane to investigate into the facts concerning the construction of the reinforced concrete bridge on East Twenty-eighth street was held yesterday afternoon. After being in session for almost five hours the committee adjourned to convene again at the call of the mayor.

J. W. Moffatt, one of the three experts who inspected the structure and reported many alleged defects, was put upon the stand and threw the only new light on the question to be turned up since the meeting of a week ago. He reiterated his statement that the column supporting the bridge is poorly constructed and that the building required by the specifications cannot be supported by the concrete pillars.

LEGISLATION AT NEW ANGLE

Lilley Defense Interposes Brand New Constitutional Kink.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 28.—A peculiar defense against an important accusation today before the adjournment of the tribunal empowered to decide whether or not Governor-elect Lilley and his political agent, J. M. Gilman, violated the law by filing with the secretary of state a certificate in account of expenses in the last campaign. Counsel for the governor-elect maintained that if a man would be deemed guilty of such a charge he would be liable for the same in any office for four years and that if a verdict of guilty were reached in this case the constitution must be violated by an enforcement of the penalty without trial by jury. The contention was advanced by a Superior Court Justice, Hon. J. H. Robinson, and met by an insubstantial body, filing their findings with the secretary of state.

REMARKABLE DRIFT FROM STAGE TOWARD PRESENTATION OF CHRISTIANITY TO AUDIENCES OF MEN—EXTRAORDINARY EXPERIMENT CONDUCTED FOR LAYMEN.

Copyright, 1908, by Herman Haggrood.
Two stock subjects of discussion at preachers' meetings and religious conventions are "How to get men to church" and "The Sunday evening service." Thus indicate two grave and allied problems of organized religion. While more or less academic debate upon the two-fold theme is in progress, actual life is giving an answer of deeper significance than many preachers and other "professionals" realize. A notable tendency of the day is the popularity of religious meetings for men held outside of the church and with thousands of churches are full of echoing emptiness on Sunday evenings there are in certain quarters notably in New York and Boston—conspicuous instances of the popularity of unchurched discussions of moral and religious themes.

It is to be doubted if organized Christianity has really awakened to the meaning of the big theatre meeting for men, held on Sunday evenings afternoons by the Young Men's Christian Association, and occasionally by "popular" meetings in a distinct type of development of American Sunday, remotely related to the "Pleasant Sunday Afternoon" scheme of British churches. Men, by hundreds and even by thousands, are going to the larger cities, gathering in theatres and halls to hear religious discourses by men of the highest ability. It is a distinct type, theologically, it must be true that it is the manner of presentation, rather than the subject matter, that attracts these men. The discourses are given in a formal, and distinctly more entertaining, especially in a musical way, as is afforded by the ordinary church.

What It Signifies.

Whether all this forecasts a drift away from the conventional ecclesiastical form and building authority remains to be seen. Assuredly it is true, and a sign of the times worthy of the attention of the church. That in the very communities where hundreds of men gather for a theatre service, the regular attending congregations of the churches will must only a few handfuls of the faithful.

This drift towards extra-church religion finds its chief point at the ultra-liberal men, who impatient of ecclesiastical trammels, or unfitted for working in narrow lanes, take the advice of the popular saying and "hit a ball." There is scarcely a city of the first or second class on the continent which has not lately witnessed one or more experiments of this sort. Usually it must be said, these one-man affairs are not given in a serious manner, unless they are supported by an organized congregation.

That the big themes of religion, morality and theology profoundly appeal to the men of this day, and that they are to the workmen—cannot be gainsaid. Probably the most conspicuous concrete evidence of this is the famous Sunday evening meeting in Cooper Union, New York, where the great orators and women gather weekly, and after addresses on religious, philosophical and ethical subjects, pour a fusillade of burning oratory upon the speaker. What a sensation would this fashion of preachers were to follow the pulpits, which Emerson called "the coward's castle," give the people a chance to answer the questions which they would be widely adopted in a serious manner, unless they are supported by an organized congregation.

Motley Crowds Are Found Asleep in Spokane Labor Halls.

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 26.—Over 100 ragged, unemployed men were found asleep on the floors of two union labor halls this morning. Officers were called to rout them. Less than $2 was found in the crowd. Many were covered with vermin. They were searched for concealed weapons, but none were found, and they were all released.

KILLS HIS MAN, THEN SURRENDERS

Virginia City, Mont., Dec. 26.—Pat Carney, who shot and killed a man, surrendered to the sheriff today. He had shot and killed a man named Harvey at the Bay Horse mine, near Parrott. Carney would give no details other than to say that he shot Harvey with his six shooter. From the drift of Anthony's talk, the inference was drawn that the two men had had trouble over mining matters.

TAFT DINES WITH FEDERAL OFFICIALS

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 26.—John prominent federal office holders in this and adjoining states were the guests of President-elect Taft at an old schoolmate of the host. The dinner was a personal chat and good humored banter. Taft returned from a trip to Aiken, S. C., shortly before the dinner.

NEW LINE, SEATTLE TO CENTRAL AMERICA

Los Angeles, Dec. 26.—John Ostrander of Seattle has advised the Los Angeles harbor commission that San Pedro will be made a port of call for a new monthly steamer service between Seattle and Central America ports which will be established some time in January. The steamer, Ellis and Erna will be placed in service on the new line and will go as far south as Manzanillo.

low the old advice. "When you haven't anything to say, hold your tongue." More significant in a churchly way than the Cooper Union meeting, of which it is an outgrowth, or even than the popular theatre meetings of the Young Men's Christian Association, is a Boston innovation in the form of a Sunday evening meeting. This is a gathering in Ford hall supported and conducted by the Boston Baptist Union, which treats current interests from a broadly humanitarian standpoint and realizes a notable audience of university graduates, worth end foreigners, labor unionists and typical Bostonians. This is a Cooper Union something on a somewhat higher scale.

When I wandered into Ford hall on a recent Sunday evening, the beautiful building itself, like the funds that are being used for this enterprise, being bequeathed to the late Daniel Sharp by Ford, owner of the South Boston Union, I expected to find wide-eyed Socialists, down-at-the-heel visionaries, and a motley collection of the ordinary. I took advantage of this open forum. What I met instead was an audience of 500 or more men and women, of such manifest intelligence and earnestness as it is the fortune of only the rare preacher to confront. There was a large sprinkling of men and women, many of them of foreign birth, and a detachment from the clergymen's union, and occasionally a few of the kind who haunt the public libraries; thinkers who have never been able to harness up their theories to actual life. But the dominating type was representative of Bostonian; the people who go to symphony concerts and to lectures, and whose congregations are made up of civic or philanthropic movements. It was plainly the sort of crowd that a man with nothing to say would shrink from.

Audiences Discriminating.

The announced topic on this occasion was Tolstoy's "Story of a Soul's Resurrection," and Professor William Salter, of Chicago, was the lecturer. The preceding week a woman had spoken upon "The Unrest in India." A week later another speaker, presenting a paper on "Socialism," and 500 persons were turned away. There were no "devotional exercises, neither prayer nor hymn. Instead, a fine string quartet rendered several selections of classical music which the audience, manifestly discriminating, heartily applauded. The speaker's points were also applauded, as were apt questions at the close.

If anybody thinks that the preachers and professors have a monopoly of thinking upon religious and philosophical themes, he should have heard those questions. Not one was without point and frequently a brilliant one. I rather expected that a demonstration would be made over Tolstoy's position that the man who sins against chastity is as culpable as the woman, but this audience postulated that position, and went on to consider deeper things. The evening must have been a revelation to the first visitors of the number and character of the men and women who are thinking deeply upon these fundamental human spiritual questions.

Bartholdt of Missouri Will Ask Congress for $10,- Contribution.

Washington, Dec. 26.—For the maintenance of a temple of peace up the Alps, Representative Bagnall, Republican, of Missouri, is going to ask of congress an appropriation of $10,000. The Missouri legislature has passed a resolution today and had an extended conference with the president, going over with him some projects for the furtherance of the peace work. The $10,000 is to be used to defray expenses of permanent peace headquarters at Berne, Switzerland. England has already set aside $50,000 for the purpose and a large amount is yearly contributed by philanthropists. Heretofore this nation has not been in the list of contributors.

PRESIDENT LEWIS ANSWERS CRITICS "DUTCH" ARNOLD'S 100- YARD RECORD DOUBTED

New York, Dec. 26.—Reports of marvelous feats being performed by "Dutch" Arnold in the Philippine islands have been met by the following remarks from Arthur Duffy:

"Arnold used to be quite a familiar figure in athletic circles. In those days he could sprint, jump or hurdle with any of the champions. But of late he has been making a name for himself in sport I have to take, with a grain of salt, the alleged performance of Arnold in the Philippines. He is reported to have run a 100 yard race on a diet of coconuts and Manila grass. He taboos meat completely, and now he has returned to America. He is now in the Philippines and will look after the scalp of all the leading sprinting champions of the world. He is doing nothing about the watches and the timers, and, of course, the American people know nothing about the qualities of the watches and the timers. Arnold lands in this country the American people will have to be shown before they will believe any such fairy tale. That 100 yards record has received some 200 hits in a few years. It is generally admitted this time each year we hear of the alleged performance of some foreign champion. It is generally admitted that the distance is 91.6 seconds, but his record of 91.6 seconds is acknowledged the world's amateur record, but this, too, has come in for as much question as any of the other reported performances. Perhaps the time will come when a sprinter will be unearthed who can run the 100 yards race in 91.6 seconds, but at present it looks as if it will have to be done with the aid of a timing machine, or some other mechanical contrivance."

FOREMAN ALLEGED TO HAVE FORGED CHECKS

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 26.—The police are looking for Archie E. Devers, boss of a construction crew on the high tension line between Wapinitia and Osburn, Idaho, who is alleged to have forged the names to pay checks for $8,000 in his crew, securing cash to the amount of nearly $1,000. Devers is believed to have fled the coast. The merchants who cashed the checks must stand the loss.

WILL PREACH IN FAMOUS TREMONT TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH OF BOSTON.

Rev. I. Whitcomb Brounger, D. D., pastor of the White Temple, has been invited by the Tremont Temple Baptist church of Boston to supply the pulpit of that great church for the first two Sundays in January. Tremont temple is generally recognized as the greatest Baptist church in America. It owns property in the heart of Boston worth $1,000,000, and has an auditorium seating 3000 people. It has had some of the most famous preachers in the world as pastors. Recently Dr. E. S. Henson resigned from that position, and the church is now looking for some one to succeed him, and it is understood that the congregation is anxious to secure the services of Dr. Brounger.

It is believed, however, that the pastor of the White Temple cannot be secured. He has made a place for himself in Portland that could hardly be surpassed in influence even as pastor of the Tremont temple. He has resigned from that position, and he has no reason why he should. In accepting the invitation to preach for the Tremont temple, Dr. Brounger proposes to take advantage of his trip east to give several addresses upon the subject of "The Christian's View of the World." He will be in Portland next June in coming to the annual conference of the northern conferences of Boston, New York, Cleveland and Chicago. He will organize committees at these centers to handle the literature to be issued by the local committee advertising Portland and the city of Portland. In an interview Harry Pratt Judson, president of the Chicago university, in regard to arrangements of the convention, Mr. Judson said: "With the idea in mind he will address the preachers' conference of Boston, New York, Cleveland and Chicago.
