DR. J. W. BROUGHER ELECTRIFIES TREMONT TEMPLE AUDIENCE

Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, D. D., pastor of the White Temple, made a positive impression on the worshipers in Tremont Temple, Boston, where he preached in his recent visit to the hub of the universe. One of the Boston papers speaks as follows of the Portland pastor:

The figure, frame, height, cast of features, and in his heavy thatch of raven black hair, the preacher vividity recalled to the elder members of the congregation the memory of the beloved pastor, the late Dr. Lorimer as he appeared on the temple platform 25 years or more ago. The similarity between the two men also extends to the fervor and force of delivery and to their devotion and seal.

"Tremont Temple seemed to be surcharged during the whole sermon with the speaker and hearters in closest sympathy. The immediate effect of Dr. Brougher's words was made apparent when at the close of his sermon he requested all to arise who would pledge themselves to use their best endeavors on the temple platform 25 years or more ago. The similarity between the two men responded to the call. "In a way this one sermon afforded an explanation of the great influence for explanation of the great who would pledge themselves to use their best endeavors on the edge members of the congregation the memory of the beloved pastor, the late Dr. Lorimer as he appeared on the temple platform 25 years or more ago. The passenger department of the O. R. & N. will probably change the time of the Portland-Spokane train No. which leaves here at 5 o'clock p. m. beginning next Sunday. There has been a demand from the traveling public for some time to change the leaving time of the train, making it later in the evening. It is the general impression among the officials that the leaving time will be placed back about two hours, making the arrival in Spokane at 9 a. m. instead of 7 a. m. as at present. It is claimed that in this way travelers will be able to eat brenkfast on the train and be ready to transact business by the time the train reaches Spokane. If the change is made, breakfast instead of dinner will be served on the train. It is not intended to change the time of the west bound trains.
