South Buying Potatoes Again.

There has been a renewal of activity in the local potato market. Now that the freeze is over and it has been determined which stocks have been frozen and which not, the south has begun to buy here. At country shipping points local buyers have been paying up to $11 per 100 pounds for the best shipping stock for the southern markets and are now quite anxious to buy at this figure. While there are reports of the payment of 5c premium over this amount, such cannot be confirmed.

While the local onion situation is quiet and in some instances disposed to show duliness because of the plentiful supplies offered by some outside the association, the general trend of the market is quite firm with prices generally maintained at the association asking price.

Eams and Lard Eigher.

Hams and Lard Higher.

Higher cost of live hogs in the Portland yards has stiffened the provision market considerably and all through the list there is a tendency to advance. hams and lard are both quoted his a pound higher by the Union Meat company's new list, but other provision values are unchanged.

In the dressed meat market arrivals are quite liberal and while the market is disposed to show softness no change in values is shown since the decline yesterday and Monday.

Lower Price for Chickens. Mams and Lard Higher.

Lower Price for Chickens.

Lower Price for Chickens.

The big buyers have the commission men at their mercy just now—the situation in poultry being entirely reversed. While a short time ago commission men were boosting prices skyhigh and retailers were forced to pay anything asked in order to get supplies; the latter now have the whip hand and they are holding off their purchases sufficiently long to put the price down. Today chickens cannet be sold over 13c and it is a question whether than 13½c. Even these values are hard to obtain and it is a question whether they will be cut during the next 24 hours.

Erg market is soft with prices ruling from 37½ to 40c, with most of the saies today at the lower figure. Receipts are increasing.

Olmypia Oysters Have Been Frozen.

It now appears that much damage was done the oyster industry in the Pacific northwest by the recent cold snap. Advices from Olympia state that

More local cabbage is coming forward and the market is a fraction down.

In the creamery butter market supplies are accumulating to some extent and it is stated that even the best brands are being cut below 36c.

Pincus Switches in Hops.

The wonderful switch of Messrs. Isaac Pincus & Sons of Tacomather ting of late states that short sellers will need from $000 to 10,000 bales of hops this month. The way growers are holding their product at present, he says, "leads me to believe that between this time and the first of the month hops will go to $ and 10c a pound, with the market much firmer. After that the market may ease down for awhile. Our firm has covered entirely its short sales.

"Farmers will be foolish to contract but today each and every member is talking of big prices to rule on the 1909 crop. Whether this is merely an attempt to keep growers from plowing up their hops or just some startling "inside" information cannot be told. The fact that the firm has struck the right course during the past few years leads many to believe the flop is genuine.

It was decided to hold the next annual exhibit in the early part of December, thereby allowing breeders an opportunity of exhibiting their birds in the Seattle and Tacoma shows also. A special department for cats will be one of the features of the next show.

Some discussion centered about the question of the merits of the two existing systems of judging birds. The majority apparently favored the comparison system, as over the score card system under which fowls are scored according to points.

A resolution thanking members of the retiring executive board for their efforts in making the show just closed so complete a success, was adopted.

PROBING INTO

Two Baptist ministers, Rev. D. W. Thurston of the Sellwood church, and the Rev. E. A. Smith of the Arieta church are today wandering about Portland in a search into the dim past of John C. Young, heir apparent to the postmastership of Portland. They are asking if he is a Mormon.

The Baptist Ministerial association, in session Monday morning, upon the recommendation of the Rev. Howard N. Smith, district superintendent of the Congregational churches, who has strong opinions as to Mr. Young's religious beliefs and affiliations, appointed the Arleta and Sellwood pastors as a sleuthing committee to investigate the charges made against Mr. Young. They were ordered to report to the general ministerial union of the city, in session on the first Monday of next month, "If this is a political fight we do not care to become mixed up in it," asserted Mr. Thurston today.
