

FAMOUS OLD MANAGER

Charles D. Hess One of the Great Impresarios of the Country.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—News of the critical illness of Charles D. Hess at his home near Westfield, Ill., has been received with regret among old-time theatrical men in Chicago who remember Mr. Hess as one of the most famous members of this profession twenty-five or thirty years ago. For a number of years Mr. Hess has lived in quiet retirement on a farm in Indiana and to the great majority of players as well as playgoers his name was little more than a memory. Both the older generation recall him as the greatest operatic manager of his day and the man who introduced to the operatic and theatrical world such well known stars as Emma Abbott, Clara Louise Kellogg, Christine Nilsson, Minnie Palmer and William H. Crane.

The son of a Mohawk valley Dutchman, Mr. Hess was born in Livingston county, New York, seventy-one years ago.

From the age of thirteen he ran away from home with a strolling minstrel troupe whose supply of funds was no limited that railroad fare was out of the question and no the members trapped over the Erie road from town to town, playing wherever they could get a cent.

Mr. Hess had numerous experiences as a strolling player and manager until the outbreak of the civil war, when he enlisted and served in the 11th New York Volunteers. At the time of the assassination of President Lincoln Mr. Hess was part owner in Grover's opera house in Washington, and though a staunch unionist, was called as a witness in the trial of Mrs. Surratt. Later he went to Philadelphia as manager of the Chestnut street theater. Alternating between Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Washington, Mr. Hess eventually came to Chicago and assumed the active management of the Crosby opera house. It was while managing, with great success, this beautiful opera house that Mr. Hess first conceived the notion of organizing an opera company for the production of grand opera in English, a project which at that time was considered by managers as being daring and hazardous. Parsip-Rosa was engaged and the English Grand Opera company was enthusiastically received everywhere. The singer met with a neighborhood of $100,000 as her share of the profits, while Manager Hess received a percentage of the receipts.

With the added prestige resulting from having achieved a brilliant success in attempting the daring role of manager of an English grand opera company, Mr. Hess turned his valuable library and theatrical wardrobe in the fire that destroyed the Crosby opera house. Mr. Hess retired to his home in New York the managers had suffered a loss of $25,000. Mr. Hess wisely decided to drop grand opera and turned to the opera company he netted $15,000 in the venture within a few weeks.

Among his other ventures Mr. Hess toured an opera company through Mexico and a part of South America. Upon his return to this country he managed the Grand opera house in Chicago and later directed the affairs of the Illinois Russell English Opera company. Then came a season as manager of the Minnesota opera company, which he gave up to assume the management of the Cora Tanner company. His last operatic directorship was the Minnesota opera company. In 1895 Mr. Hess retired permanently from the theatrical business and has since lived quietly on his well-stocked farm.

Gridiron Club Tonight.
Washington, Jan. 30.—The flag of the Gridiron Club floated over the New Willard Hotel today in token of the fact that the club's annual winter dinner is to take place there tonight. A brilliant entertainment has been prepared for a long list of distinguished guests, and it will be a notable affair. President Roosevelt, members of his cabinet, the speaker of the house, the justices of the supreme court, ambassadors, senators and other men prominent in all walks of life will be among the guests.

In Memory of Charles I.
London, Jan. 30.—Today was the 25th anniversary of the execution of Charles I. and services in memory of the martyr were held in St. Margaret Patten, Rood Lane, and elsewhere. A brilliant entertainment has been prepared for a long list of distinguished guests, and it will be a notable affair.
