OLD GERMANY HAS "400" FOR OLD OREGON STAR LOVES

New York Feb 6.—Or gon is threatened with a new peril beside which the Japanese question pales into insignificance and it is for the bachelors that the situation is most alarming. Between 300 and 400 young German wo-tween 300 and 400 young German wo-tween 300 and 400 young German wo-tween structure across the continent. tween 300 and 400 young German women are hurrying across the continent, having left here today, and their sole purpose is to seize an equal number of Oregon's most eligible young farmers and the them up forever in matrimony. The young women came into this port yesterday on the steamer Graf Waldersee as steerage passengers. They were in charge of Mrs. Frieda Walberg, wite of the owner of an Oregon sheep ranch. It was only five years ago that she came across for the first time, wearing wooden shoes. She took them right out to Oregon with her, and the Oregon sheep farmer soon succumbed to her charms.

Brave Four Enndred.

Mrs. Walberg could well have come across first cabin, but she preferred to be with the young women, many of whom were her friends. It was her good luck that caused the brave 400 to try their fortunes in the far west. After Mrs. Walberg learned English and she confided to him her plan of bringing over 300 or 400 young German woman for the lonely bachelors of Oreson and he quickly gave assent to her plan. So she burried across the ocean to her native village near Hamburg and gathered up the best looking unmarried women for miles around. And they estainly were good to look upon as they stood grouped on the forward deck of the steamer for a snapshot. Rosy cheeked, buxom and smiling happly, they no doubt will take well with heir victims across the continent.

At their head was Mrs. Walberg, who looked just like them, strange looking

Most extraoroinary figures showing the net earnings of the roads operating in Oregon are mixtured in this report. From 1905 to 1205, sie net earnings of the Union Pacinic increased from $2.533.029 to $4.093.066. Even more interesting are the statistics comparing the carnings of the O. R. & N. In 1837 this road operated 1059 miles of track, its gross earnings were $4.130,902, the operating expenses were $4.2348.216, the per cent of operating expenses to earnings $1,884,886. In 1903 the miteage was 1254, the gross carnings were $1,307,476, the per cent of operating expenses to earnings $1,884,886. In 1903 the miteage was 1254, the gross carnings were $1,307,476, the per cent of operating expenses to earnings $5.842,229.

In other words, the net income from the O. R. & N. alone hast year was enough to build all the extensions that have been asked of Harriman in Oregon and that have been delayed because of an alleged lack of funds.

Shows Bad Logic.

The claim that the rate per ton mile has been reduced is met by the answer that the long distance of hauls to the Pacific coast would nevertheless result in these rates being immensely profitable to the railroads, and permit of low rates per ton mile. Besides distance, water competition, and loads back are both cited as excellent reasons why the rate to the Pacific coast should be low. And it is claimed that should the advanced rates result in increased water shipments that the railroad will encounter more trouble than ever from transferring empty cars from the east to the Pacific coast.

"The justification for the high distributive rates in this territory," says the report, "has been the low terminal rates and the low rates on our natural preducts eastbound. With advances in both directions on this traffic it was but IN SIX DAY RACE

Some of Increases.

Referring to the territory affected by advances in the eastbound rates a table is given showing some of the increases, samong the most interesting to Oregon being an advance of 10 cents carload on canned goods, dried fruits, raisins, primas and figs in sacks. The importance in this advance lies in the fact that it affects the producer and if he cannot add it to the cost, it affects him directly. The industries most seriously affected by this increase are the fruit-rowers and canners, the former even house than the latter. The committee loss and believe it possible that the fruitgrowers scattered all over the country, such raising a limited amount, can protect themselvos without the intervention of the state.

LOUISIANA BOOKIES GIVEN CRUSHING BLOW

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.) New Orleans, Feb. 6.—Bookmaking in its last stronghold in Louisiana was given a final crushing blow this morning, that sent it through the ropes for ing, that sent it through the ropes for the final count, when Mark Beagburg, allas Jack Sheehan, was found guilty of violating the Locke law and was fined $350 and sentenced to serve seven months in the parish jail. Judge Edrington entered his decision before a crowded courtroom in Jefferson parish this morning and in his delivery declared the method of the suburban bookmakers was a mere subterfuge to cheat the law, but that it could not confuse the court. The fact that they had accepted and paid bets and made a memorandum of them was the act of violation and it did not matter what machinery was used in that act. and it do not matter what machinery was used in that act.

Attorneys for the defense immediately submitted a motion for a new trial. It was overruled at once and when the defendant asked for a stay of execution the court disposed of that in an accusally supports. equally summary manner. After the fine and sentence were imposed no ap-peal was made, though the usual time was allowed to perfect this action.

HOURS STUCK IN MUD MALONEY ISSUES DEFI TO INDIAN LONGBOAT

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

New York, Feb. 6.—In all probability Tom Longboat, king of professional long-distance runners, will soon be called upon to defend his laurels against Maloney, the very best of present day amateurs. The winner of the New York Journal's Christmas day Marathon today mailed his resignation to the American Amateur Athletic union. Immediately he issued a defi to Longboat for a race over the full Marathon distance for a side bet of from $2500 to $5000, money to be posted as soon as Longboat accepts. Tom Eck says he will back Fred Simpson, the Ojibway In...ian, against Longboat, Shrubb, Hayes or Dorando, or all of them, in a race over the full Marathon distance. FIX SEASON

After working continuously for thireen hours, the Northwestern league directors, through their committee, President W. H. Lucas, Judge W. W. McCredie and Joseph P. Cohn, came to a working agreement at 12 o'clock last night. The schedule is considered one of the best ever framed by the North western circuit. The season opens April 17, the first series continuing until April 25. Portland opens at Seattle, Vancouver at Tacoms and Aberdeen at Spokane. Memorial day, May 30, will see Spocoma and Aberdeen at Spokane.

Memorial day, May 30, will see Spokane at Portland, Aberdeen at Scattle and Tacoma at Vancouver.

Seattle plays at Portland July 4, the date falling on Sunday, Tacoma being at Spokane and Aberdeen against Vancouver at Scattle. The following day, which is the legal holiday, will bring Vancouver to Tacoma, Spokane to Scattle and Aberdeen to Portland.

Labor day, September 6, will see Tacoma at Vancouver, Spokane at Portland and Aberdeen at Scattle.

No Passes by Managers.

No passes will be issued except those by the league president. The president will appoint the official scorers in the various cities.

Bids to supply baseballs were received from A. J. Reach & Co., A. G. Spalding & Bros and the Victor Sporting Goods company. Owing to the washouts and the inability of the bid of L. A. Wolff of the Spaiding San Francisco house to reach the committee, the ball awards were not made. The president was empowered to open all bids and award the contract to the lowest bidders.

C. H. Wolf of Spokane, who was blacklisted by the national commission because of bribery charges made against Umpire Raibn Frary last scason, which he could not prove, asked the leavue directors to request of the national commission his removal from the blacklist. They emphatically refused to do so.

The mileage of the six clubs was ordered pooled and will be equalized on the basis of fourteen men to the club. The transportation committee, which, will do this work, consists of Lucas, McCredle and Cohn.

Bestrict Barter of Players.

One of the important measures adopted was one in relation to the sale or exchange of players. "No sale or transfer of a player between the clubs of the league shall be made except by the unanimous vote of the clubs of the league." Is the way the new resolution reads.

The home teams will be compelled to wear white uniforms, but the clubs league" is the way the new resolution reads.

The home teams will be compelled to wear white uniforms, but the clubs may have any color of uniform while traveling except the white.

Before the meeting adjourned a letter was read from President Pulliam of the National league stating that David E. Dugdale's suggestion to amend the playing rules would be read before a joint meeting of the rules committee which will be held in Chicago later this menth.
