

GREAT GRAIN ELEVATOR TO RISE

Inland Empire Farmers to Market the Coming Season's Wheat Crop at the Head of Navigation in Portland.

An immense grain elevator and warehouse will be erected along the Portland waterfront in time to house part of next season's wheat crop. The money has been secured and it is understood that the site has practically been selected. The elevator will have capacity for 600,000 bushels of wheat.

Farmers of the great inland empire, who make fortunes each year by growing wheat, have banded together and they are behind the big elevator scheme. Ten thousand in number and controlling the output of some 20,000,000 bushels of wheat, these farmers have come to the conclusion that an elevator is one of their greatest needs. After considering a number of other shipping points along the coast, Portland has been chosen as the only logical tide water port for the farmers.

Load in Portland Harbor.

The building of the elevator at Portland will mean that the loading of vessels in the grain trade will be done here and that the port will improve its position in the grain trade in the United States, although several times Portland has been second only to New York, with Philadelphia, Galveston and the combined Puget sound ports trailing behind.

Work to Begin at Once.

Announcement of the elevator project was made here this morning when President T. S. Townsend, Secretary Fred Muller and Director C. L. Goodrich of the Portland Board of Trade returned from the Farmers' convention at Spokane, and it is stated that work on the immense structure will be commenced before the end of this month, which goes to indicate that practically all the preliminary details have been attended to.

Secretary Muller, whose address at the convention bore weight, in speaking of the proceedings there said:

"Ten thousand farmers, controlling a grain output in the inland empire which exceeds 20,000,000 bushels yearly, have formed themselves into a union for the purpose of stimulation and their own interests as they may be affected in their dealings with the buyer. In accordance with the program of the Monday session of the Spokane convention the Portland board of trade was given first place, and the arguments advanced by the board of trade proved so convincing that not only the individual farmers but the organization, through its proper committee, has been thoroughly impressed with the fact that Portland is the only logical tidewater outlet for the farmers."

Spokane Board of Trade.

There was not a man in attendance—and there were over 600—who did not express himself as being deeply impressed with the beneficial influence of the board of trade's work. As a consequence, the membership of the Portland board of trade will be greatly

"LUMBER TRUST: FREE LIST," SAYS WAYS AND MEANS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Feb. 12.—Notwithstanding the efforts of a strong lumbermen's lobby, the house ways and means committee has, it is positively stated today, placed lumber on the free list and it is believed the conclusion reached will not be changed under any circumstances before the bill is presented to the house. The ways and means committee concluded its hearing on the new lumber tariff yesterday. The charge is made by the lumbermen that the committee made its decision as a result of representations which do not accurately reflect conditions in the trade. The committee, it is declared, acted upon the assumption that lumber is controlled by a trust and no longer needs protection.

WATER SUPERINTENDENT DODGE DECLINES SALARY INCREASE

Portland has another claim to distinction. She now comes to the front with a city official who refuses to accept an increase in salary and declares that he is getting enough. Frank T. Dodge, superintendent of the water department is the man. The pioneer head of the department says he will absolutely refuse to take any additional salary, even if the water board should vote him an advance. The salary of the superintendent is now and has been for years, $250 a month.

When the water board decided to raise salaries all along the line, Superintendent Dodge, a member of the board, approved all raises, except as to his own job. He told the board that he was entirely satisfied with his salary and could not be induced to accept any more for his services than the city has paid him for two decades.

When asked for his reasons for assuming this attitude, Mr. Dodge this morning requested that no mention of the circumstances be made in the newspapers. He repeated what he had said to the board and said that while he did not want any higher salary himself, he thought the rest of the employees are entitled to the raise, especially the chief engineer, whose salary was doubled, being made $500.

WOMAN CHARGES A PEACEMAKER WITH THREATENING HER LIFE

A new turn to the squabble between the residents of 649 Third street was given this morning when Mrs. Alice O. Elliott, of Vickery, after she had been fined $10 for being drunk, swore to a complaint charging Mrs. G. McAvoy with threatening to kill her. Everything being taken into consideration, Mrs. McAvoy was released on her own recognizance until the hearing tomorrow.

The two women met in the police station, while Mrs. McAvoy was undergoing the booking ordeal and weeping. Charles Meyers, the old man who was to marry Mrs. Elliott, but whom she had tired of and beat with a hammer, as is alleged, while John Burns, a new favorite, held his arms also present and Mrs. Elliott, who it is said was formerly an actress in San Francisco, addressed a few terse remarks to him.

augmented and its usefulness largely stimulated. "We submitted a definite proposition and while I am not at liberty to disclose the details at this time, before this month expires the construction of a 600,000 bushel elevator and warehouse, with the best of switching facilities, will be commenced. President T. S. Townsend and Director C. L. Goodrich were also in attendance at the convention and President Townsend's talk to the farmers at Monday afternoon's session greatly influenced the final conclusions reached by the convention."

Kellaher Keeps After Webster.

(By Journal Leased Sales Wire.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 12.—Senator Kellaher is still on the trail of County Judge Webster of Multnomah county. In a bill introduced early in the session he sought to separate the probate work from county work and add a new county commissioner. He now has a bill ready to introduce to keep his office open 11 months each year and be prohibited from private practice of law. The bill fixes a fine of from $25 to $100 for each violation.

CROOK FARMERS TO COURT

Riparian Rights Useless Because Deschutes Company Refuses Right of Way.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Bend, Or., Feb. 12.—It is practically certain that the courts of Oregon will soon be called upon to decide, finally, whether or not an individual has the right to condemn right of way across another's land for an irrigation ditch.

Several ranchers and farmers residing east of Bend have recently asked the Deschutes Irrigation & Power company for right of way to construct a canal across a part of their land, which the company refused. The farmers have declared their intention of having the matter settled by the courts. They expect to force the irrigation company to enjoin them and then carry the matter up.

THREE COUPLES ARE DIVORCED

Two Wives and One Husband Ask Court to Cut Bonds.

After being married 29 years Katharine L. Wiser says that her husband, Peter G. Wiser, deserted her and she was granted a divorce on that ground in Presiding Judge Gantenben's court this morning. They have seven children, the oldest 29 years of age. They were married in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1877.

Henry W. Burr was granted a divorce from his wife Petronella Burr. The plaintiff says that his wife left him in Los Angeles, Calif., in 1907 and went to Chicago on a visit. That she refused to return, and that when he went to Chicago after her he was informed "that there was nothing doing for him." They were married in Hammond, Ind. in 1892 and have one child.

Nellie C. Ebers was granted a divorce from Samuel Ebers, on the ground of cruelty and inhuman treatment. They were married in Portland and have one child 5 years old, the custody of which is given to the plaintiff.

CHICAGO ALDERMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Feb. 12.—Alderman Joseph H. Kohout shot himself in the temple with a revolver early today. His wife is unable to account for the act. It is reported that at a meeting of his constituents last night Kohout was informed that he would not be re-nominated, because of dereliction in making improvements.

Druggists Appeal for Sunday Rest.

(By Journal Leased Sales Wire.)
Salem, Feb. 12.—A new Sunday closing idea struck the senate yesterday in the form of a bill introduced by Caldwell. It applies only to drug stores, directing that they shall be closed except between the hours of 9 a. m. and 2 p. m., except in case of emergency. It says that many druggists have appealed to him to introduce the bill.

KNOX WILL NOT EMBARRASS TAFT

Leaves Matter of His Cabinet Appointment Entirely to President-Elect.

New Orleans, Feb. 12.—A telegram from Senator Knox to President-Elect Taft regarding the objection to his arising to prevent his appointing Knox to the post of secretary of state was made public here today. Knox said that he would have nothing to do with the matter but would leave it entirely to President-Elect Taft to determine whether the senate's proposed action looking to removing the objection, would be desirable or effective. The message said:

"If you for any reason do not approve of what is being done, it should be known. Otherwise, no injustice may be done to whoever is appointed."

President-Elect Taft today addressed a negro Young Men's Christian association meeting and was later a guest of the Country Club.

JUST ONE DRINK; FIVE MONTHS ABSENT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Everett, Wash., Feb. 12.—For months mourned as dead by his wife and little daughter, who live on a ranch near Machias, Washington, C. W. Ellsworth, who disappeared from Everett last September, has returned home. He says he took a drink with a chance acquaintance in a water front saloon and knew nothing more until he found himself aboard the schooner Morando, bound for Australia. He does not know where he was put aboard the craft. He worked his way back to San Francisco and took a train for the north. Ellsworth had $150 on his person when he disappeared. He had never come here from Portland and had bought the Machias ranch. He belonged to the Odd-fellows lodge, to which he belonged, made an extensive search for him at the time of his disappearance.

HONORS TO LINCOLN AT NATIONAL CAPITAL

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Feb. 12.—At the Lincoln memorial services in the house today prayer was offered by the blind chaplain, Dr. Henry N. Couden. Lincoln's Gettysburg speech was read by Representative Henry S. Bontel of Lincoln. The eulogy of the great emancipator was delivered by Representative Frank Mellen Nye of Minnesota. The day was a holiday in the District of Columbia and in the territories, by proclamation of the president.

The United States Historical society, the Grand Army of the Republic, and other organizations in the national capital joined in the celebration of Lincoln day. One of the most notable observances of the centenary was that at Howard university, where Secretary of the Interior Garfield presided over exercises that included music, orations and the unveiling of a painting entitled "The Underground Railway."

Chicken Livers for Two.

From the New York World.
She entered a high priced butcher shop on upper Broadway yesterday afternoon. Her automobile waited outside.

"Have you any chicken livers, William?" she asked of her favorite anatomist.

"Yes, madam; 80 cents a pound."

"Take me half a pound," she said, "and cut them in halves. I'll take them," she said, "but be careful to cut each exactly in half."

William fixed them with great care.

"You see," she said, as she swept out: "I have two dogs, and if the liver is not exactly halved they fight about it."

William fell in a faint.
