

PORTLAND, OREGON, SUNDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 14, 1909.

Spring Hats Clever, charming creations, for early spring wear are here in goodly assortment. The most correct millinery possible to wear are the new tailored shapes and black chip hats, large or small shapes, Perodaine braid hats in black or colors, shades to match the new spring costumes. The latest millinery fad in the east is the new spangle hat. Let us show you the smartest styles.

Tomorrow we make the initial showing for 1909 of the most popular tub fabrics for spring and summer wear—dainty fabrics that will be much in evidence in the pretty, filmy frocks in the summer season soon to come. Present indications are that wash dresses and tailored suits will be more popular this season, and the woman who wants to be among those well supplied will provide the materials for her early wash dresses now. The immense window display on Fifth and Washington streets will give you a hint of the many pretty weaves we have for you to enthuse over, and, once inside, with countless hundreds of yards spread out before you, we're certain that you'll find the splendid assortment and low prices more than you can resist. Among the new things

Spring Suits

Milady will be delighted at the completeness of the assortment of spring styles in tailored suits that now awaits her choosing. The most favored fabrics and shades are well represented. Coats run from hip length to three-quarters, cutaway, round or square cornered and most styles are semi-fitting. Chevron effects, shadow stripes and self stripes are much favored, but plain colors and fancies are as popular as ever. There's a decided jauntiness to this spring's plain tailored models, while the trimmed models show a wealth of choice. Braids, large buttons, appliques, inlaid laces, etc., are used as decorations. Three-piece suits, with Princess gown and coat to match are very smart.

See the window display, then hurry right up to the department and see the rest. BEST STYLES AND VALUES FOR THE MONEY we have ever been in a position to offer
