

CONDUCTOR KABS THREE ROBBERS

Boxcar Bandits Are Locked in Caboose and Turned Over to the Law.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Feb. 13.—Three men were arrested here yesterday evening for breaking open a box car and taking merchandise from it. They gave their names as Fred Smith, Charles Martin and Albert Crawford. They broke into the car at La Grande and rode to Bingham station, where they alighted. The conductor caught sight of them as they were reentering the car and hustled them into the caboose, where, after searching and finding the merchandise upon them, he locked them up in a compartment of the caboose and telephoned for an officer to meet the train. The trio were arraigned in the justice court this morning, where they waived examination and were bound over under $250 bonds. In lieu of bonds they were confined in the county jail until the convening of the grand jury.

GOODYEAR SHOE CO. LEASES BIG STORE

Blumauer-Frank Drug Company
Four-Story Brick Will House
a First-Class Shoe Store.

The removal of the Goodyear Shoe company from its well established location in the Y. M. C. A. building to the big building being vacated by the Blumauer-Frank Drug company is a notable business change. This business began in a most modest way seven years ago, and through the enterprising management of H. Bruck has been built up to its present imposing proportions.

Mr. Bruck came to Portland seven years ago, and clerked a while for one of the leading shoe stores of the city. He then opened the first Goodyear shoe factory on the coast in a small building on Third and Fourth streets. The patronage grew rapidly, so that in a few months new quarters were sought. The first move was to larger premises in the Teal building on Yamhill near Fourth street. In a very short time it became apparent that additional room would be needed. This time a double store on the corner of Fourth and Yamhill in the Y. M. C. A. building was leased. A fine stock of men's and boys' shoes were added, and the business was incorporated under the name of Goodyear company. When the business needed more room, Mr. Bruck found he could not secure any more of the Y. M. C. A. building, so he was obliged to rent a store down on Third street between Stark and Oak, opposite the Chamber of Commerce. To consolidate the business in one big establishment, and also to enlarge its scope so as to add ladies' misses' and children's shoes, the Goodyear company has leased and will remodel the four story building heretofore occupied by the whole sale house of Blumauer-Frank Drug company. It is proposed to make the Goodyear company one of the foremost shoe establishments of Portland. The repair shop and shoe factory, which are so extensively equipped with machinery to do repairing and manufacturing will be transferred to the same building, and will doubtless prove the same business getters that they have always been.

CROOK COUNTY HIGH DEBATERS LOSE TO ALL-SHERMAN TEAM

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MANY BOOKS AND MAPS OF OLD OREGON DISPLAYED AT LIBRARY

The collection of Oregoniana belonging to the public library is of great value and interest. Some of the most curious of the old books and maps may be seen in the cases and upon the walls of the main stairway landing in token of Admission day, February 14. The books are largely of travel and discovery in northwest America, including the first edition of Carver's Travels in the Interior Parts of North America, in which the word Oregon first appears. Here may be seen also a manuscript copy from the original log book of the Columbia, giving an account of the discovery of the Columbia river, which Gray doubted not was navigable upwards of 100 miles. Vancouver's account of Broughton's exploration on the Columbia up to Point Vancouver, and of the discovery and naming of Puget sound is there and all of the interesting Lewis and Clark journals, the first edition of the Jefferson letter, the counterfeit edition and the Clark's maps which disappeared soon after the expedition and were not found and published until nearly 100 years afterward. There are also a few of the early maps, one giving the Straits of Anian, California, as an island, and all the rest of northwest America as "parts unknown." Another makes the Cascade range go from northwest to southeast, while Mexico extends to the southern boundary of Oregon. Still another divides the whole country west of the Mississippi into five parts, Nebraska, Indian Territory, Texas, Upper or New California, and Oregon. There is also the first newspaper published in Oregon, which is a great curiosity, and a copy of the treaty with Great Britain by which the Oregon territory became a part of the United States; also the journals of the meeting for the formation of the provisional government, the journal of the constitutional convention and the Congressional Record giving the debate on the admission of the state. The children's room was crowded on Friday afternoon with bright faced youngsters listening to stories of Lincoln. The Washington stories will be told next Saturday afternoon, February 20, at 3 o'clock. On Wednesday evening, February 17, at 8 o'clock, Rev. D. P. Thompson will give a lecture on astronomy at the Sellwood library. This will be illustrated by astronomical plates and, if the evening will permit, with telescope. The library has just published a list of practical books on machine shop practice, foundry work and electricity. This should be of the greatest use to men interested in those subjects and may be obtained at the circulating desk in the main library, also at the branches and reading room. Two special lists of books will be posted this week in the main library circulating room, suggesting books on the questions of the day and the other giving material suitable for the celebration of Washington's birthday. There is also a bulletin containing a list of about 40 interesting books about Oregon, including popular history, biography, fiction, and travel. This collection will be found on the shelves under the bulletin and is especially interesting at this anniversary season.

Mistake, Says Garrey.—"If President Josselyn, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, is correctly quoted in a morning paper," said J. Frank Garrey, business agent of the Portland Linemen's union, yesterday, "he has been guilty of a deliberate misstatement of facts. In his printed interview Mr. Josselyn said that higher wages are being paid to linemen in Portland than in any other city on the coast. This is not true. According to his own data, which he furnished us when we called upon him the other day, wages are much lower here than in any other city on the coast except Los Angeles."

Spokane Flyer's Time Changed.—Effective today the Spokane Flyer on the O. R. & N. will leave and arrive half an hour earlier than heretofore. Leaving for Spokane No. 4 will go at 7 p. m. instead of 7:30 p. m., and returning No. 3 will reach Portland at 9 a. m. instead of 9:30 a. m. This brings the train into Spokane half an hour earlier and also necessitates its leaving there for Portland at 7 p. m. instead of 7:30.

Fors Found Guilty.—A verdict of guilty was returned yesterday afternoon by the jury in the case of the state against Ed Fors. Fors was indicted by the grand jury for obtaining money under false pretenses. The defendant conducted two saloons on the north side. On the fixtures he had made partial payments amounting to about $2900. He borrowed $750 on the two places and gave a bill of sale. He will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Konasty in North End.—Nearly every one who lives "north of de bend," in other words in the north end, has a bad name in police circles, but one resident of a lodging house on the far side of Ankeny street showed his honesty last evening. Joe Meyers, who lives at the New house, Second street near Burnside, found a lady's silver watch with a Waltham movement on the sidewalk at Third and Washington streets. He brought it to the police station, where the owner may recover it by proving his claim.

Block Sold in South Portland.—The block bounded by Front, First, Sheridan and Baker streets, was sold yesterday by Abrahams & Son to L. and T. Shanks for $18,000. This is one of the largest sales reported in South Portland in several months and shows an increasing demand for property in that section of the city.

Jump Board Bill.—E. Spalding and O. Spalding were arrested late yesterday afternoon and taken to the county jail where they are held awaiting the arrival of officials from Franklin county. The young men are accused of jumping a board bill in Franklin county.

McFARLAND COMING BACK TO SHOW US

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Unless the California promoters quit what he characterizes as their highway robbery and bulldozing tactics, Packy McFarland, the stockyard lightweight, threatens to give up the ring altogether. McFarland arrived from the coast today and immediately expressed his indignation at the reports that he had fled from San Francisco recently and canceled his engagement to fight Dick Hyland because he could not make the lightweight limit of 133 pounds. "To prove that I didn't run away from Hyland," said Mack, "I'm going to take the first train back to San Francisco as soon as I see my mother and attend to some business deals in Chicago. The whole scheme of the California promoters is to boost Freddie Welsh into the lightweight championship and give him the first shot at Nelson."

VALLEY DIAMOND FANS ORGANIZING LEAGUE

Albany, Or., Feb. 13.—The baseball fans of this city will meet Monday next for the purpose of organizing a team to represent this city in the upper Williamette Valley league for the coming season. The league will be composed of Albany, Seia, Lebanon, Corvallis and Jefferson. As the towns were represented by star teams last year and as baseball enthusiasm ran high it is proposed to put it on a paying basis. Salaries will be paid in most instances and already players are being signed. The Albany team will consist mostly of the old Alco club players of last season, the club having one of the best teams in Oregon.

POWDERCOMPANY GIRDS FOR FIGHT

Coeur d'Alene Concern Takes
First Step in Struggle
With Big Trust.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Feb. 13.—The first step in the fight between the Coeur d'Alene Powder company and the powder trust, represented by the Dupont-Denemours Powder company, which will start in the near future, is being taken in the form of the material enlargement of the Coeur d'Alene plant and preparations to manufacture its own nitric and sulphuric acids. The company has 2,000,000 tons of randanite, a rare absorbent soil, covering 40 acres in Stevens county, Washington. Randanite is used as a filler for powder, enabling the company to manufacture powder much cheaper than the trust. Because of that fact the Coeur d'Alene company can successfully compete with the trust. The company has no satisfactory terminal point and speaks of securing a terminal point either at Portland or Seattle, and shipping dirt there for manufacture.

ALIENIST OR JUROR, FOR INSANE PERSONS?

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Feb. 13.—Opponents of the jury system for the trial of insane persons have procured the temporary adoption of a plan to try subjects by a commission of two alienists. It has been a success for a short time and if the constitutional provisions which entitle every person who is to be "deprived of life, liberty or property" to a jury trial, does not prevent, the commission system will be submitted. Critics of the plan say it would make possible the incarceration of sane persons at any time a corrupt or credulous commission was appointed. They regard it as a blow at the jury system, which they say "is the greatest bulwark of Anglo Saxon liberties and not to be lightly put aside."

ENGINEER FALLS AND BREAKS LEG

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pendleton, Or., Feb. 13.—As he was descending from the cab of his engine Thatcher, engineer on the Oregon coast line, fell and broke his leg above the ankle. Thatcher's foot slipped on a wet and snowy step and he fell several feet, his left leg snapping in two. He was immediately put in the caboose and rushed to St. Anthony's hospital.

WEALTHY BREWER BELIEVED MURDERED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Colville, Wash., Feb. 13.—It is believed here that William Kahl, a German brewer, has been murdered at the lonely cabin on his homestead in the mountains. He left Colville Christmas with a winter's supplies. A big spool of blood was found in front of the cabin door and all of the supplies are missing. A search party is being organized. The deep snow in the mountains may make the recovery of the body impossible until spring.
