

DUPED GIRLS FLEE FROM SEATTLE

Tecumseh, Okla., Waitresses Answer "Blind" Advertisement and Then Walk the Streets, Destitute, for Days, Seeking Work.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Wallace, Idaho, March 25.—Deceived to Seattle on promises of good positions, only to find when arrived that their credulity had been imposed upon, Elsie Logren, 19 years old, of Tecumseh, Okla., and Margaret Kelly, 23, of Wichita, Kan., arrived in Seattle yesterday on a blind advertisement on their way home. The girls were in a pitiable condition, covered with coal dust and grime and their clothes badly soiled. Miss Logren was carrying one shoe, owing to her heel being blistered.

They were waitresses in Oklahoma City. Answering an advertisement from Seattle they received a flattering offer. They accepted and were given a ticket at a reduced price, the money to be returned after working a certain period. When they arrived at Seattle and learned that they had been victimized, they refused to accept the offer. Practically penniless, they walked the streets for three days, in an ineffectual effort to secure work. They claim the streets are filled with homeless and destitute people; that girls of good appearance are camping near the city, making their clothes badly soiled, and that small towns near Seattle are in the same condition.

Sufficient money was given the two girls in Wallace to reach Missoula. Friends in Butte will assist them if they can reach that point. Both girls are pretty, Miss Logren being strikingly handsome. They refused to ask aid of the officials, fearing their parents, who returned against the trip, would learn of their condition. They are presumably giving assumed names and when asked about this they do not deny it.

FLORY'S WASH FAMILY LINEN BEFORE COURT

Judge Cleland in the circuit court this morning heard evidence of bad names and charges hurled back and forth by a man and woman who separated after 25 years of married life. The inharmonious chorus was turned loose in the case of Julia Flory against John W. Flory, in which both are seeking divorce.
Mrs. Flory says her life was threatened, that she was called vile names, and that she was assaulted. She also accuses her husband of bad manners, saying that he would rise from his chair and reach over the table for things he wanted instead of saying, "Pass the butter, please," for example.
Flory testified that last January his wife accused him of burning his mother's house in the east 26 years ago. She informed him that his mother was crazy and he was crazy, too. He said she was constantly bickering about something in the household. He stated that he gave her all but about $1 of his wages each week until four years ago. He changed his financial methods because when he asked her for some money one day she told him he was spending too much. About all she spent money for, he said, was for his smoking and chewing tobacco. Flory related the story of his arrest in his own store at 33 East Twenty-sixth street last December. He had asked his now wife to bring the counter, for a fresh plug of tobacco. He was offered a piece of an old plug, but declined it, and she was behind the counter. Then the son ordered him out, and when he did not go the son locked him in. His wife came and ordered him out and finally a policeman was sent for, who took him to the police station at his wife's request.

The trial of the Flory case is unfinished, but Judge Gatens disposed of five other cases in short order. In these five no one appeared to take back the plaintiff, and all were granted decrees.

Selma Neborgall testified that Edward L. Neborgall left her because she asked John to marry her. They were living with her parents in Davenport, Iowa, where they were married in June, 1904, and she had to work to keep up the expenses. She said that he deserted her in January, 1906, following her suggestion that he help out an ex-tenant. Mrs. Neborgall will resume her former name, Selma Mundt.

Emma Hartel was so fond of boarding house life that she would not consent to go into housekeeping when Wesley E. Hartel prepared a home for her, according to the testimony he gave. He also complained that she entertained men in their rooms while he was absent at work. They were married in Charlotte, Mich., in October, 1905.

Quick temper led George Colson to cruelty, as told by Daphne Colson, who married him in Choteau, Mont., in 1905. He struck her, threatened to shoot her and called her bad names, she testified. After separating in the spring of 1905 she took him again on trial last fall, but after two weeks gave it up.

Warren M. Owen was granted a divorce from Josephine M. Owen on the ground of desertion. They were married in Astoria in April, 1905, and lived together until February, 1906. Also on the ground of desertion, Minerva Smith secured a decree from Clarence Smith. They were married in Portland in April, 1905, and separated two years later.

EMERY'S TRY TO HIDE IDENTITY

Journal Correspondent Questions Mother and Daughter at Centralia, Wash.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Centralia, Wash., March 25.—Miss Helen Gladys Emery and mother passed through Centralia on their way to Tacoma on Northern Pacific train No. 3. When the train pulled into Centralia they were in the dining car and when questioned by a representative of The Journal, denied their identity and insisted that a mistake had been made and refused to discuss the proposed marriage.

Aoki was not on the train; this was determined by a search by a railroad secret service agent and by the Centralia chief of police.
The symptoms of all passengers on the train and the train crew seemed to be with the young woman. Three newspaper men boarded the train at Centralia, but they were not permitted to know the passengers closed up like clam shells and either denied any knowledge of Miss Emery or declared positively that she was not on the train.
Every woman on the train was questioned by the newspaper men, and suspicion was drawn to Miss Emery by her extreme nervousness when she was questioned, but it was not until the train was pulling out of Centralia.

TACOMA WILL NOT PREVENT MARRIAGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Tacoma, Wash., March 25.—If Gunjiro Aoki, Japanese lover of Helen Gladys Emery, is in this city, he is keeping well in hiding. Inquiry among members of the local Japanese colony shows them to be as much in the dark as other citizens. No application has been made to the county auditor for a marriage license for the pair, although the authorities have announced that under the law they can interpose no objections and that the license will be granted if asked.
Chief of Police Duley, advised of the fact that the couple are expected today, announced that officers will be on hand to see that they are not molested. On account that the time of their expected arrival has not been published here, it is probable that the couple will be able to slip in here and be quietly married this afternoon, if that is their intention.

HILLIER SAYS WIFE WED HIM FOR MONEY

W. E. Hillier thought that he was married for love, but has arrived at the conclusion that he was taken as an investment that his wife might recuperate on her losses in a former matrimonial venture, when her husband ran away with $2700 of her money and left her with an unpaid board bill.
This is the story Hillier tells in an affidavit filed in the circuit court, whereby he is seeking to avoid the payment of suit money as defendant in the divorce case brought by Jeanette Hillier. He declares that she is an adventuress, who was married at least twice

SHAKEUP IN STATE SCHOOL

New Mexico Scandal Said to Center About Student From Portland.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Albuquerque, N. M., March 25.—Investigation into the expulsion of Roy A. Baldwin of Portland, Or., from the territorial college of New Mexico, resulted today in the board of regents requesting W. G. Tipton to resign his chair as president of the institution. Charles E. Hodgin, dean of the school, and Superintendent Asplund, professor of Greek, are also forced out of their chairs by the action of the board. Miss Anna Juleska, instructor in languages, handed in her resignation two weeks ago.

The shakeup in the faculty of the college has created a profound sensation throughout the territory, and developments are anxiously awaited.
Professor Tipton, who has been head of the territorial college since 1901 was formerly a member of the faculty of Denison university at Granville, Ohio. It is reported that grave moral charges have been presented against him in the complaint made to the board of regents.

Roy A. Baldwin is not known in Portland.

SWIFTS ARE NOT IN ELECTRIC COMPANY

The report that the Oregon Light & Power company, recently incorporated, is a subsidiary concern of the Swift Packing company is denied by the local officials of the Swift company.
"The Union Meat company of Oregon and the Swift company of Chicago are engaged in the business of curing and packing meat, and in no other business," said C. C. Colt, president of the Union Meat company, a local representative of the Swifts. "The Union Meat company has made a contract, covering a period of years, with the Monarch Lumber company for all the electric power that it can use at its peninsula plant."
The Monarch Lumber company will manufacture electric power on an extensive scale at its new mill near the big peninsula packing plant for its own use and the use of the Union Meat com-

French Bark Marthe Roux Asks Damages From the O. R. & N. Company.

The libel suit of the French bark Marthe Roux against the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company came up for trial before Judge Wolverton in federal court this morning. The complaint of the libellant is that on December 2, 1905, the defendant abandoned the tug, Henderson and Oklahoma, allowing them to drift under the stress of a heavy current against the Marthe Roux. Attorney W. C. Bristol for the libellant asked for an order of court to ascertain the exact amount of damage suffered in order that the estimate might be made a basis for award.
Attorney Ralph Moody for the defendant stated that the damage was caused by driftwood becoming entangled in the rudder of the Oklahoma, making it impossible to control the vessel. It was seen that under stress of current great damage would be done unless both the Oklahoma and Henderson were cut loose from the tow which they were taking up the river, and if damage was caused by the collision the defendants were not responsible for it.
Fred Dr. Rock, the submarine diver who made an examination of the injuries suffered by the Marthe Roux at the time of the collision, will be one of the principal witnesses examined during the trial.

CURRY WILL RESIGN AGAIN, FOR KEEPS

Albuquerque, N. M., March 25.—Governor Curry will resign within a short time on account of poor health, according to a statement made by a local business man today. The business man said the governor told him he expected to step out of office soon after his conference at Washington with President Taft and Secretary Ballinger.
Nathan Jaffe, territorial secretary, is prominently mentioned for the governorship.

COVE ORCHARD

"The Roosevelt Community"

Opportunity will be given for the first time Sunday to visit and thoroughly inspect COVE ORCHARD and the Roosevelt plan of a small community. The greatest significance of a tract in COVE ORCHARD is its partially cooperative plan of farming. The idea was originated by ex-President Roosevelt, elaborated upon by the Reclamation Department and first put into operation in the United States by F. C. Graham of Portland. We have the honor and privilege of first presenting it to the American people. On this plan it is possible for a clerk or other wage-earner to be economical for five years while Mr. Graham is cultivating his land in COVE ORCHARD, at the end of which time he will be able to retire with an ample income for the balance of his life. This certainly merits the closest attention of every young man in Portland. If you wish to visit COVE ORCHARD Sunday, take the 7:20 a. m. Southern Pacific train at the corner of Fourth and Stark streets. Buy a ticket to COVE ORCHARD. Round trip $1.50. This amount will be refunded to all who purchase.
