Mail Orders Will Receive Our Prompt AttentionQuaint Furniture—New Designs in Dining Room and Living Room Pieces in Fumed Oak

The success and popularity of the quaint furniture in arts and crafts can be attributed to its distinctive features in design and construction—simplicity, refinement, comfort and durability. The taste of the artistic twentieth century American tends stronger than ever towards this style of furniture. For those rooms where "quaint" styles are especially adapted—the living-room, library, the den and the dining-room—our showing embraces the best craftsman productions, shown entirely in the fumed oak. Among the many new pieces recently placed on our floors is the new "Luxury" Chair, with self-reclining back—a most comfortable and attractive piece. In Dining-Room Furniture are the new designs in Buffets—the large and massive and the smaller pieces, with trimmings in old brass and copper. Also a number of new "quaint" styles in Dining Tables.

New Hand-Craft Rugs

The evolution of the rag carpet is shown in this display of Hand-Craft Rugs. They differ from those usually called rag-carpet or rugs in that they are made of new materials specially prepared, and are triumphs of the art of hand-weave. The range of colors rivals the finest Wiltons, and the designs lend themselves to the artistically decorated bedroom, the summer cottage, the bungalow and the mountain lodge. See the splendid assortment of size shown in these quaint, artistic rugs. The Carpet Dept., 6th floor.
