

WILL RASER TAKES LEAD IN SAVINGS CONTEST

Herewith is presented the score in the Savings Contest which includes all votes received up to and including Saturday night, April 17. A new leader appears this week. Will Raser jumps from third to first place and George Olson still continues a close second. Emil Schulz made a very respectable increase in his score this week but is forced to drop back to third place. He is determined to lead again and no doubt next week will record the leader.

Warner Windnagle makes a very substantial gain and leads Margaret Stinson of Warrenton. Loyal Blinco is another one to make very large increase and is crowding Kenneth Hollister hard.

Tails of Big Class Will Be Twisted Into Mystic Figure 9.

Kittens with straight tails will be out of style in lumber and allied circles from now on and every effort is being made to have as many as possible present at Alton Hall, opposite the police station, Friday night, to have their caudal appendages twisted into the mystic ring of the Order of Hoo Hoo. It is estimated there will be at least 50 kittens and about 1000 to do the twisting and see the victims squirm.

Sam Owen, vice-president of the northern district of Oregon, and instigator of the monster kitten bismess convention, started for Astoria last night, the 23d, declares he will have those straight tailed kittens there if he has resort to the old but reliable trick of putting salt on their tails.

Members of the order of Hoo Hoo, who reach the goal of snark, which in vernacular means the biggest black cat in the family, are noted for having displayed exceptional originality in arranging such affairs as kitten bismesses and many illustrations of this have been presented in the past, here and elsewhere, but it is admitted by every member of the order that Snark Owen "skins" them all with the posters that now adorn every lumber office in the country from Portland, Maine, to Portland, Ore. and from Meclipsa to Mobile.

While intensely original, the poster is also a huge take off on everything of consequence that has happened socially in this burg for some weeks. Now it breaks into poetry and then all of a sudden it flings out a line of verse right fresh from the factory that would be hard to beat, as for instance:

"Don't get mad it will make you look foolish, and later on you will be ashamed."

"Don't get gay at the wrong time. There will be a gray time during the proceedings and our Jabberwock will let you know when it is your turn to laugh."

"Don't tell us how to run things. We were in the business when you were a boy."

"Don't get cold feet—our official chiropodist will be near you."

"If you carb up cats choked—call our osteopath; it's all included in the price."

"You'll be glad you have done it—after you leave."

"Don't fall to say 'sufficient' when you have enough, for to him that hath, more shall be given, or them that has, 'gits'."

"Don't buy a return ticket—you may never go home on it."

"Don't try to display your wit on this occasion. Ordinarily you might be the funniest man that ever came down the stairs, but the funny things have been arranged."

"Don't exhibit your temper, for the exhibition is already planned. Remember that trouble babies kittens—they grow by nursing."

"Come expecting a good time—if you don't have it, we will."

"Don't be conceited, and think you have more than others, but congratulate yourself that you have more than you deserve."

"Remember that the man who wants the earth invariably gets it—when he dies."

PRESIDENT JORDAN ENRAGES SOCIALISTS

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, April 20.—Socialists of this city are discussing the assertion made by David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford university, that war is directly responsible for race degeneracy and the decadence of nations. In the course of his address to a socialistic audience Jordan attributed the fall of great nations of the past to the fact that the flower of their manhood had been consumed by lengthy wars, and that the resultant loss of power was attributable to this cause.

The statement was the signal for a torrent of protest. His hearers averred that capital and arbitrary power had effected the death of more men and the ruin of more nations than had all the wars of history.

Jordan's statement was pulled to pieces by his excited audience, and one of them branded it as a falsehood by a rabid partisan.

Jordan replied to his opponents with the announcement that the only assertion he had made that had not been disputed was that he wore a clean collar every day.

"Don't despise a man for wearing clean linen," he intimated; "many good fellows do it."

Flume Lumber Into Elgin. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Elgin, Ore., April 20.—A company is being formed to construct a flume from Elgin up Indian creek and its branches, to be used for fluming lumber from that section. The flume will have a capacity of 24 inches, and, having ample supply of water, will enable the millions of fine pine lumber to be marketed very cheaply. If the flume is a success a string of lumber will be running into Elgin this fall and winter.

CRITENTON HOME SAVED BY INMATES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, April 20.—The women of the Florence Crittenton home made a heroic fight against flames that threatened the destruction of the building yesterday. Instead of fainting and screaming when the fire was discovered, they quickly organized a fire brigade and desperately fought the fire with buckets of water until their small force was strengthened by the residents of the community at Dunlap.

Miss Mae Kennon first located the fire and gave the alarm. A gardener on the grounds secured a ladder and by chopping a hole in the roof reached the seat of the blaze. A bucket brigade made up of women and girls soon had a constant stream of water upon the flames by passing buckets up the ladder.

Before the fire department from Hillman city had arrived on the scene the women had the fire, which caused a damage of $600, under control.

TRIES TO CATCH COIN, SWALLOWS IT

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, April 20.—Tom Theodore, a bus boy at the St. Francis hotel, lies in St. Luke's hospital, where it is thought an operation will be necessary to remove a silver dollar he swallowed last night.

Theodore was entertaining some fellow employes in the dining room of the hotel last night and attempted to throw a dollar into the air and catch it between his teeth. He caught the coin, but did not stop its downward course.

MRS. KALEM'S DEATH DUE TO ACCIDENT

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, April 20.—The coroner's jury that held an inquest over the body of Mrs. Henry Kalem, whose mangled body was found Friday morning on the railroad tracks at Stuck, has rendered a verdict that she met death by being run down by a Northern Pacific train while she was temporarily insane. The jury attached no blame to Henry Kalem, the husband, his brother John and his nephew who were held in the county jail pending the result of the investigation into the woman's death. The three prisoners have been released. Testimony was introduced to show that Henry Kalem and his wife had frequently quarreled, but their difficulties were due to the general intemperance of Kalem and were not of a serious nature.

WHITE MAN'S FUNERAL FOR A NOBLE DOG

Chicago, April 20.—After a solemn funeral ceremony today the remains of Prince, a famous St. Bernard dog, were shipped westward for burial at Seattle. The dog's body was placed in a copper-lined coffin and handled with all the care usually accorded human remains. The dog was owned by Francis Drake, a wealthy wine merchant of Seattle. He had a record of saving nine lives and had taken countless blue ribbons at dog shows. He was to have been shipped back to Puget sound the day he was taken sick. Veterinarians were called to attend him, but they were unable to save his life.
