Washington, May 15.—President Taft joined the "gallery" of 200 golf enthusi-asts that followed Walter Travis and Allan Lard around the course this blis-tering afternoon on the Chevy Chase links. Travis converted Lard Into a broom, rake or some other implement that sweeps or cleans the sward, by the tidy score of 15 up and 13 to play, and when the champion dropped the gutta percha sphere into the last cup with the seventy-third stroke, duplicating his rec-ord for the morning's play, a big cheer of the big president could be heard over the chorus of shouts from the crowd. An idea of Travis' work can be gained when it is known that the president feels in fine form when he can go over the considered better than the average player.

ident's side and the others took up their phace a few feet in the rear. The rest of the gallery trudged silong with the quar-tet, but were careful not to crowd them or interrupt their enjoyment of the game. After the tournament ended and the crowd adjourned to the club house to indulge in discussion and soft drinks. The president and his friends occupied a table and sipped lemonade and "pop." By invitation of the president, Travis soon joined them and participated in the conversation. The champion had not been scated with the president very long

MANY ATTRACTIONS

AT AMUSEMENT PARK

When the Oaks opens May 29 next for the season visitors will note many improvements. The Portland Railway, Light & Power company has expended many thousands of dollars during the past whiter and spring getting the grounds in fine trim. The waterfront of the beautiful little peninsula has been completely rip-rapped with rock, greatly strengthening the embankment and preventing possible damage at flood time. Many lawns have been seeded and are now in rich green Over 5000 roses have been planted, and with good weather should be blooming by June. This charming feature will be known as "The Rose Garden of Port-land."

known as The Rose Garden of Port-land." There will be new attractions along the "Trail." but according to the man-agement the principal feature of the season's program will be the unusually fine band music, arrangements having been made to import several famous bands-during the summer. A big feature of the Rose Carnival program will be given at the Oaks dur-ing Carnival week. Details are not yet fully worked out, but it is unlerstood that an immense fireworks display will be the chief attraction. The rallway company promises to provide ample cars and peffect order throughout the season at the Oaks.
