sons. The home was beautifully dec-ed with a profusion of roses. In drawing room was erected a canopy white and green, with festoons of and white roses. Bride roses and s were in evidence all about the n. Parsons' orchestra played the ding march.

Miss Hilda Jacobs was the maid of honor, and Miss Frances and Miss Miriam Jacob were the bridesmaids. The bride wore a beautiful imported gown, of and embroidered chiffon, in shell pink shade. Miss Hilda carried a shower of Duke of Richmond roses, and the bridesmaids carried a bouquet of large arm bouquets with shower streamers. The bride was beautifully gowned in white duchesse satin, hand embroidered with pink and orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of mauve orchids and her ornament, the gift of the bridegroom, was a handsome diamond and emerald ring. Manuel Goisling of San Francisco was the best man.

Luncheon followed, and the table was laid for about 40 guests. The massed banks of bridalmaid roses on the table were most effective, and the same roses ornamented the room. Mrs. Jacobs was handsomely gowned in black-embossed chiffon with a voke of Venetian point. Mrs. E. M. Mikulsky, the bridegroom's mother, from San Francisco, wears a black imported gown of black chiffon cloth cut on sheath lines. Mrs. I. N. Fleischner, the bridegroom's sister, was in peach pink satin.

Other out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. M. Phillips and their two daughters, of Honolulu; Mrs. P. Banne of New York, Mr. and Mrs. K. Cohn of Los Angeles, and Julius Brownstein of San Francisco, and Mrs. Harriet Meyer of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Goslinsky have gone to British Columbia on their honeymoon, and will spend some time at Banff. Mr. Goslinsky is a brother of Mrs. I. N. Felschner and Mrs. Emmanuel Meyer of this city.

A very enjoyable wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wicke, 788 Corbett street, Tuesday evening, when their daughter, Anna Marie, was married to Fred A. Cook. Rev. J. A. Leas officiated. The house was beautifully decorated with a profusion of white carnations, roses and lilies. The bride wore a wedding dress which was a masterpiece of art. The bridal party entered the parlors to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bridesmaids were Misses who at the close of the ceremony played the bridal hymn and festal play from the altar. The bride gave away the bride. During the reception delicious refreshments were served, while Miss Myrtle Hummel sang "Oh, Promise Me." The bride wore a white gown with a white liberty satin with veil and orange blossoms. Her sister, Marguerite, was maid of honor and carried the train. The bride wore a white gown with a white liberty satin of allover lace. At the reception given after the wedding, besides numerous relatives, about 100 guests attended. The bride and groom left for the honeymoon on a short wedding trip.

The commencement hop at Hill Military academy Friday night was attended by about 200 of the younger set and was thoroughly delightful. The armory was beautifully decorated with flags and evergreens and the class emblems of the senior and junior classes were shown in enlarged figures at either end of the hall. Mrs. A. R. Hill played behind a screen of palms. The grand march was led by Miss Ethel Chamberlain and Benjamin W. Hill. The patronesses were Mrs. A. E. Hill, Mrs. J. W. Hill, Mrs. A. C. Pantan and Mrs. A. E. Rockey. The study room was arranged attractively with divans and

THE out of town guests who already beginning to arrive monopolizing attention generally. The summer is to be a busy one for the Seattle exposition with bring many visitors out west and who come west plan to visit in Portland too. Almost every one expects to be entertaining friends this summer either at home or at the beach. The president of the city is giving good deal of attention because this is their day. With the commencement of the president's term, it is felt there is a good deal of incidental entertaining for the real young set, and commencement dances and the other things that the young are so fond of, are paying attention. The Hill Middle academy's commencement day is June 23, St. George's school, June 24, St. Helen's hall, Allen Preparatory school, St. Mary's academy and the University of Oregon are all in graduation with two or three of the graduates.

The other item of interest, is the June wedding days of which, the papers will give the particulars. The first — the Castleman Shea, the Daly-Wild and the Goulin-Jacobs capitals. June 10, the wedding of Miss Frances Lewis to Charles Fairbanks of New York. June 11, Helen Rosenfeld and Dr. John E. Wise.

A delightful affair was the closing concert and dance given at the Portland Heights club Tuesday evening. About 300 people attended and the club house and grounds presented a gay appearance, festooned with Japanese lanterns. A promenade concert opened the evening's entertainment, and the guests enjoyed it from the garden walks. The section of the Portland Symphony Orchestra under the leadership of Da-

A prominent wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's cathedral Wednesday morning, when John Francis Daly and Miss Marguerite Wiley were married at low mass. The church was beautifully decorated with palms. Around the sanctuary rail were marguerites and ferns, and on the altar were delicately arranged lilies of the valley. Bishop Christie read the marriage service, and the priests of the cathedral assisted.

Miss Clarissa Wiley as maid of honor led the bridal procession, and she wore a handsome gown of white chiffon cut in the latest style. Her hair was adorned with decorations of pompadour dresden veil terminating in a sash with pearl buttons. She carried a bouquet of flowers trimmed with white willow plumes, and carried pink baby roses. Following her was the matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Doolin, who wore an elaborate princess gown of white princess lace with a touch of dresden ribbon. In her coffin the bride wore a white dresden veil, and she carried a bouquet of the same. Two bridesmaids, Miss Cecile Wiley and Miss Irene Daly, carried bouquets of pink lilies. Miss Cecile wore pink cut on empire lace. Miss Nan Stack of Michigan came next in the procession. She wore a gown in white with the sunburst skirt and fichu shading to a deep pink, a flechu of dresden and pink empire sash and a dresden veil. Her hair was adorned with flowers and wore them in the hair. The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin cut in the latest style, a full length dresden veil and carried a bouquet of lilies. She carried blue roses and lilies. In shower effect. Mrs. Rose Courson Read had charge of the beautiful musical program that accompanied the ceremony.

A reception followed at the Wiley home, which was decorated with lilies and flowers. Yellow choroceps were used in the receiving rooms and pink carnations in the dining room. A pretty luncheon was served. The wedding effect was produced by pink and white flowers festooned to the table. The bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph Royce Wiley, in black, and the groom's mother, in black lace over white with diamonds, received the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Wiley have gone south on their wedding trip.
