The members of the Hunt club have been very busy the past two months preparing their horses for the spring meet, which will be held during the Rose Festival week, Saturday, June 13, at 2 o'clock, at the Country club race track.

The revival of the ancient Roman chariot race will be one of the main features of this meet. This will be a one mile race around the race track, and horses have been specially trained for this event, and are to be driven by two of the best horsemen in the club.

The streetcar company has made special arrangements to carry the crowds that are expected to attend these horse races. The Rose City cars, which go to the Country club grounds, will run every three minutes from Third and Yamhill streets.

In order to make these races popular the Hunt club has arranged to charge 50 cents admission, including the grandstand. The money made in this way is to be used in building a track on the new grounds recently purchased by the Hunt club at Garden Home.

Tenth Spring Meet.
The club has held these spring meets for the past 10 years, excepting last year, when, owing to the condition of the Irvington track, there was no place adjacent to Portland where the spring meet could be held.

This year the Hunt club will have the classicst of horses that have ever been seen in any one of their spring meets. They have been improving their horses in order to get not only a speedy animal, but one that can carry weight, and in that way make the most of the finest horses that can be bought.

These horses have been carefully prepared for this meet and with the comfort of sitting in the grandstand and seeing the races from start to finish, a very large attendance is expected, as every one who has attended any Hunt club event in the past is always glad of an opportunity of seeing the races.

The matter of the horses and the excitement of seeing the horses come down the home stretch in a close finish is not surpassed in any other sport.

The Portland Hunt club has the reputation of being one of the very best in the United States, and is noted for the fact that the members of the club are especially so from the fact that the horses are thoroughbreds, and have been bought by the members of the club for the purpose of winning in these spring races, as well as carrying weight and winning in the Hunt club paper chase during the winter season.

There will be a great many visitors to this meet during the Rose Festival week, and the country club track has been advertised throughout the United States as one of the finest race tracks in the world. A large attendance is expected, as they may see for themselves the Country club grounds.

All the events will be held, and the best horses have been selected with a view of winning.

Eight Steeplechases.
The first race will be the two-mile steeplechase. Eight steeplechases of regulation height have been provided, and the race will be run in the infield with a finish on the main track in front of the grandstand. The inside track has been especially arranged for this event, and is made to approach as nearly as possible, the grounds upon which the old-fashioned steeplechases are held in England.

The best horses in the Hunt club have been entered in this event, namely: "Wallace," owned by Eugene Owenheimer, Tom Fox by William Albion and Morgan by E. H. Lazarus.

The three-eighths mile dash has the following entries: Frank, to be ridden by William Walters; Oregon Maid, by E. T. Thane; Barnaby, by E. T. Thane; Tom, by E. T. Thane; Kentucky Babe, by Eugene Owenheimer; Tom Fox, by William Albion; and Juan Belmont, by E. T. Thane.

The one-fourth mile dash, with the riders to be not less than 200 pounds, has J. H. Bennett, to be ridden by W. M. Davis.

A one-fourth mile dash by junior members of the Hunt club, ponies to be not over 14 hands high, will be a feature.

The one mile race for four-horse chariots has these entries: First chariot—Driver, A. M. Cronin; horses, Watercross, Firefly, Diablo and Natorium. Second chariot—Driver, R. B. Lamson; horses, Colin, Irish Lad, Celt and Waterboy.

S. Walters; Merry Legs, E. T. Chase; Rattler, J. J. Cronin; St. Giles, W. S. Gruders; Lord Derby, Dr. W. L. Wood; Mowata, R. J. Johnson; Dixie, R. B. Lamson; Ambition, W. Albion; Danish Duke, S. B. CRACK ATHLETES
MEET SUNDAY

Amateur Athletic Union
Will Get Merry Ha Ha
Again.

By Sportman.

Next Saturday the first annual conference track meet will be inaugurated at Seattle as one of the features of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, and if the weather is fair and the track in good condition there is a strong probability that some of the northwest college records will be severely jolted. Some of the classicst performers who have ever taken up track and field work as a recreation will meet there to battle for collegiate honors.

Washington State college, represented by the greatest track team that ever donned spiked shoes for the Pullman institution will send a full team. The other colleges of the northwest with the exception of the University of Oregon will be represented by their best stars. Whitman will trust to Felthouse in the pole vault, and Martin in the sprints, while the mainstay of the Idaho team will be Montgomery in the sprints, hurdles and quarter mile.

O. A. C. will send Chapman, who has done exceptional work in the high jump during the last season. Bergman, captain-elect of next year's team, who has equaled one college record in the high hurdles and broken the low hurdles record of this year. Floyd Scott, who was discovered in an intercollegiate track meet last year and has proven a high class sprinter in his second year of competition; and in Wolfe, Hall and Enberg they have the best trio of weight men ever developed at Corvallis. While the team will be a small one, they are men of class and should bring back some of the medals that are to be offered by the exposition committee.

University Is Out.
It is reported that the University of Oregon finds it impossible to compete in the meet, as in some of the events they would have made Washington State athletes extend themselves for first place in the meet.

While the conference championship will not be decided until next Saturday, there is little doubt in any one's mind that W. S. C. will carry back the laurels. There isn't a team in the northwest that begins to class with these inland college athletes. There isn't a team in the northwest that would give them very much competition in a dual meet this year, nor materially cut into their scores enough to interfere with their successful winning of conference honors.

It is a little difficult to dope out just exactly what the final result will be in points won, but from records already made this year, it is safe to assume that the men who have done exceptionally well in dual meets will win again at Seattle. There is no reason to doubt that Nelson of W. S. C. will win the 22, and if he is not too tired from trial heats and semi-finals he could without much trouble take the quarter mile also.

Cooler Has Heavy Mile.
Johnson of W. E. C. will win the half mile, while Cool without much effort will win the mile. It is too bad that there is no man in the northwest capable of making Cool extend himself, for it looks as though this youngster will press a little bit in his favorite event, would travel the four laps in 4 minutes and 30 seconds.

In the broad jump Captain Putman has a mark of better than 22 feet, and while Montgomery of Idaho should win the number of competitors in the discus. The Oregon Agricultural college while represented by a small number of athletes should win more points in proportion to the number of competitors than any other team. Wolfe looks like a sure winner in the shot, and with Enberg should score points in the discus. Hall is tossing the 16 pound hammer better than at any other time in his life, and if he enters the discus, he should be a contender for the northwest record in this event.

Chapman is rapidly rounding into shape after his injury and will make the best of them to go in the high jump. Bergman's improvement in the hurdles makes him a contender for the best of them to go in the high jump. Bergman's improvement in the hurdles makes him a contender for the best of them to go in the high jump.

H. C. CAMPBELL
AND DR. W. A. CUMMINS.

Fifty members of the Portland Hunt club have beautiful red riding coats which they are to wear in the horse and vehicle parade next Thursday afternoon and this week have been out practicing for the parade. Dressed alike, as they will be, the club makes a splendid showing and are bound to be a big feature.

Practically the entire work of organizing the parade for next Thursday afternoon has been left to the Hunt club. W. M. Davis, A. M. Cronin and other members of the club have put many hours of hard work into the parade and think that it is bound to be a big success.

The parade is to be several miles in length and will have sections filled with competitive equipages and vehicles of all descriptions. The classes will run from those of the Shetland pony and cart to the big by the A. A. U. They have their own rules and their own rules committees, and they base their faith upon the regulations laid down by officials of their own selection and regulations of their own making.

Some years ago Ekersall, the famous quarterback, was declared a professional by the A. A. U. and all of the University of Chicago athletes who competed with Ekersall on any team were declared ineligible under the rules of the A. A. U. Chicago ignored the charge against Ekersall and continued competing in athletics against all of the various colleges as they had done in years.

Same Old Story.
It seems as though the A. A. U. has to spring some little game like this every now and then, just to keep prominently before the public. Last year they disqualified seven or eight of the best athletes competing around New York and in less than a week all of these athletes were reinstated, for the charge against them had been professional.

So far as the Stanford team's eligibility in the Chicago conference is concerned, the fact that the A. A. U. has barred them from the A. A. U. competition, does not affect this conference in any particular, since the Chicago conference is established under conference rules made by a conference committee of the various middle west educational institutions and its rules and regulations are not subject to any correction or advice or sanction by the A. A. U. If Stanford is not eligible according to the rules of the middle west conference, Stanford will be barred. If they are eligible under the rules of the middle west conference, Stanford will compete, and while this article is written before reports of the conference track meet at Chicago have come in, the writer prophesies that Stanford will compete.

No Clear Champion.
The baseball season is ended and while there is no clear title to the northwest collegiate championship, the two state teams have made very good records. The U. of O. defeated the Whitman in the two games that were played at Walla Walla and lost one at Corvallis. The U. of O. won the first game in their second series at Corvallis, both institutions took a game. In the first game played at Eugene, however, the university used Curtis Coleman, an ineligible man under conference regulations and according to the strict interpretation of the rule this game should be thrown out and not considered in the final adjustment of the games lost or won.

With this game dropped, it gives the honors to O. A. C. and the claim to the northwest collegiate championship. O. A. C. was willing to give the university another chance to settle this disputed game, but the U. of O. did not feel disposed to make arrangements whereby this game could be played, notwithstanding the fact that O. A. C. agreed to play it in Corvallis, Eugene or Portland.

Kelly, the U. of O. coach, did exceptionally good work and turned out a fast and snappy team and one that was a credit to the Eugene institution. His experience in professional baseball made it possible for him to impart many of the finer points in the great national game that the varsity boys used in winning victories.

Otto Moore, the O. A. C. coach, while lacking the experience of Kelly, showed as well as a baseball coach and turned out a team that the Beavers had every reason to be proud of. Most of the players will be back for another year to compete for both the U. of O. and O. A. C. and with this year's experience and the development of new players, there should be a pretty fine article on college baseball shown on the campus diamond next season.

Six Records Broken.
Six college records have been broken by the O. A. C. track athletes this year, and while the season started with poor prospects for a successful team, the men demonstrated ability that classed them with the best of northwest athletes. Bergman tied the college record in the 120 yard hurdles by running the course in 15 seconds, and broke Stullson's record of 26 seconds in the low hurdles by running the 220 in 35.35. Wolff tossed the shot 43 feet 3 inches, breaking the college record. In the same event by throwing a 44 pound weight 119 feet 5 inches. While Hall and Chapman will be lost by graduation, there will still be a nucleus for a good track team to compete for O. A. C. another year.

JEFFRIES PICKS THE HIGHLANDERS TO WIN
New York, June 5.—Big Jim Jeffries has never qualified as an expert in baseball until a few days ago, when, after seeing the Yankee-White Sox game, he unqualifiedly declared that the Yankees would be one-two, three at the end of the season. Jeffries is doing light training at White Sox park, and when the game was postponed the other day on account of rain, Big Jim thought he would call on his old friend Stallings, manager of the Yanks. Entering the Lexington hotel recognized by the clerk, he inquired for Mr. Stallings. The clerk pointed to a big man lounging lazily in one of the big leather chairs. Jeff advanced and held out his hand, and Stallings offered his baseball battered paw. No word was spoken until Jeff began to squeeze, and then Stallings got flustered and blurted out: "Well, old sport, you've got me. But for the sake of Old Jerusalem, don't break my hand. If you're a ball player looking for a job, skiddo—I've got enough to do as it is now."

"You don't recognize me, eh?" retorted Jeff. "Why 18 years ago I used to look through the knot holes to see you play ball in Oakland, Cal. I am Jim Jeffries."

That was all the explanation necessary for Stallings. A two hour stay followed, during which the big pugilist and the big baseball manager exchanged bouquets and well wishes.

Stearns' Car No. 8 Starts.
(United Press Special Wire.)
New York, June 5.—The Stearns car No. 8, Robert Maxwell driving, started today in the New York-Seattle race. The start of the Stearns car was delayed because of an eligibility dispute and the officials of the race extended the rule providing for regular 12 hour runs to permit the delayed car to overtake its competitors. Maxwell expects to reach St. Louis 12 hours behind the other contestants.

RACE PROGRAM
NOW COMPLETE

Riverside Driving Club Has Classy Entries For Friday's Matinee.

What bids fair to be the greatest matinee racing program ever pulled off in Oregon is in prospect for next Friday afternoon, the fifth day of the Rose Festival, when the Riverside Driving club holds its annual spring race meeting. The speed program is about the classicst thing of its kind ever arranged in the northwest. For several months preparations have been made for the Friday event and the owners are on their mettle to show what their horses can do in the speed line.

A C. Lohme will class up the horses, as he has always done for this club, and no one knows better how to class them for classed and exciting finishes. He knows all the horses and just what each one can do.

The first thing on the program will be a whirlwind quarter of a mile dash between the two great pacers, Hal R. 2:04 1/4, driven by Harry Osmon, and Senator 2:06 1/4, driven by Fred Brooker. This will be worth a long way to see.

Seven Good Trotters.
The second race on the program will be the 2:40 class on the trot with seven good trotters: Bell H. owned by G. K. Gault; Padishah, owned by H. M. Tillman; Sella Nun, owned by W. A. Laidlaw; Cantatrice, owned by C. W. Flinders; Bruel Soyle, owned by M. E. Lee; Alice Jones, owned by A. O. Hill, and Max Lovelace, owned by Walter Gelsinger. This should be one of the best races of the season, as Sella Nun is the handsome black mare owned by W. R. Lind brought from the east and sold at the recent horse sale here.

Run in 2:30 Trot.
The next event will be the great 2:30 trotting race. There ought to be some fun in this race. This class is made up of such good trotters as Hallie C. owned by S. Crane; Zeltoka, owned by J. J. Kaddery; Dottie Dimple, owned by T. R. Hewitt; Rastus, owned by W. Laidlaw; and Ned Thorn, owned by A. Lumdsen.

This is a race for blood. Hallie C. is the great show mare that has never been beaten in the show ring, and she won this same race two years ago.

Zeltoka was brought from the east this spring and sold at the horse sale. He looks like ready money. Dottie Dimple is by Del Norte and will make the mile in 2:30. Ned Thorn is by Red Skin step a mile better than 2:30 the other day to beat her. Rastus and Ned Thorn are both good. Ned Thorn acts better than ever after a year's rest.

There will also be a 2:30 pacing race with six good horses. All have plenty of class and can step quite close to a two minute clip. T.

There will also be a half mile running race, weight for age, a pony race, and a Roman chariot race with eight horses, over a mile. Both W. A. Laidlaw, president of the club, and J. S. Crane, treasurer of the club, as the drivers.

FAIR MINDED RACING MEN AIDING TOD SLOAN

London sporting papers are again taking up the case of Jockey Tod Sloan, who for some years has been barred from riding on English tracks, after Sloan had been barred from French tracks on a technicality. The consensus of opinion is that Sloan should be granted a license to ride on English tracks on the ground that when the American jockey rode the fills Rose de Mal on the grounds of the French Jockey club he was not aware that the grounds had been closed for exercise, and that even if Sloan had committed an offense ten times as great he has been sufficiently punished.

Although Sloan's case was supposed to have been definitely settled some time ago, many fair minded racing men are keeping up the agitation, determined that Sloan shall have fair play.
