DRY FARMING CONGRESS IN OCTOBER

Billings, Mont., Will Be Host of Fourth Convention, in October—Governors of Ten States Indorse Movement.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Billings, Mont., June 8.—Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, president of the Dry Farming congress, has received assurances from a large number of the governors of the western states that they will cooperate with him in making a success of the fourth Dry Farming congress, which will be held at Billings, Mont., October 26-28, 1909, and the second International Exposition of Dry Farm Products at the same place, October 25-28. Already 10 governors have accepted the Montana executive's invitation to attend the congress, if possible for them to do so, if not, to send personal representatives. Among the governors who have shown interest in the work of the Dry Farming congress and expressed their indorsement of it in letters to Governor Norris are the following: Governor F. W. Benson, Oregon.

large acreage in this western country that never can be utilized under any system of irrigation that it is important that development be made along the lines of dry farming. The last session of the legislature in this state made an appropriation for a dry farming experiment station. The United States government and the state of Oregon, acting through its Agricultural college, are cooperating for the success of both these enterprises. "I shall do everything I can to work up an interest here in our state and shall be glad to appoint a large delegation of representative citizens to attend the congress at Billings." Governor J. F. Shafores, Colorado. "I appreciate the importance of the Dry Farming congress and hope the next session thereof will be a great success. I attended the last session, which was held at Cheyenne in February, and believe the deliberations of the body have been and will be of great moment to the people of the arid west." Governor B. B. Brooks, Wyoming. "I believe the work of our Dry Farming congress has had a far reaching influence in developing western lands and that the future is bright with promise in possibilities of development along this line. "We will take pleasure in advertising the Montana meeting widely throughout this state and I believe you can rely upon having a strong delegation from Wyoming at your convention. I will take pleasure in discussing dry farming conditions in Wyoming and believe that you in any way possible to make the occasion by suitable addresses." Governor M. E. Hay, Washington. "I have resided in the dry farming sections of Washington for 20 years and have some idea of what dry farming is. You may rest assured I shall do what I can to make your congress a success, whether I am able to be with you or not, as I feel that you are enlisted in a worthy cause." Governor William Spry, Utah. "I am in hearty sympathy with the work of the Dry Farming congress and shall be most pleased to cooperate with you in any way possible to make the coming congress a success. I therefore ask that you feel free to command my services along any line that will work to this end." Governor R. S. Vessey, South Dakota. "I agree with you that scientific agriculture and the conservation of moisture means a great deal to the entire northwest, especially to the western part of our state. Anything I can do to help this movement along will be cheerfully done." Governor J. H. Brady, Idaho. "Idaho and her citizens are very much interested in the subject of dry farming. In the extreme northern and southern portions of our state there are large bodies of land susceptible to farming without irrigation and it is a subject of no small importance to us. I assure you that I shall do all in my power to see that a representative delegation of Idaho citizens takes part in the deliberations of the congress and if it is at all possible, I shall be present in person. I feel that the management of the congress is in good hands and that everything will be done which should be done to make the congress a success." Governor J. A. Johnson, Minnesota. "The organization of which you are president is engaged in essentially a practical work." Gov. A. C. Shallenberger, Nebraska. "I trust that I may be able to attend in person, the Dry Farming congress at Billings and, if not, I hope to be able to send some fitting representative of our state. We certainly are much interested in the movement." Governor John Burke, North Dakota. "Unless some state matters prevent my attendance, I shall be very pleased to accept your kind invitation." HENEY TO DECIDE CANDIDACY SOON (United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, June 8.—Francis J. Heney has announced that he will make a positive decision as to whether he will be a candidate for district attorney before Wednesday evening. As District Attorney Langdon has refused to run for reelection, friends of Heney believe he will accept the nomination of the anti-McNab forces. Rich Men's Gifts Are Poor Beside this: "I want to go on record as saying that I regard Electric Bitters as one of the greatest gifts that God has made to woman," writes Mrs. O. Rhinevalet, of Vestal Center, N. Y. "I can never forget what it has done for me. This glorious medicine gives a woman buoyant spirits, vigor of body and brilliant health. It quickly cures Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Headache, Backache, Fainting and Dizzy Spells; soon builds up the weak, ailing and sickly. Try them, 50c at Woodard, Clarke & Co.

While the voters of Portland were determining who should be the next mayor of this city, another campaign, destined to arouse scarcely less interest among the people of Portland and vicinity, was being launched and all day long the force in the contest department of the Oregon Journal was kept busy answering inquiries and receiving letters and applications from those desirous of entering the race for the big prizes offered by The Journal to those bringing in the largest number of subscriptions during the next few weeks. Many took advantage of the nomination blank printed in last Sunday's issue on page 8, section 4, which they cut out and mailed to the contest manager with their name and address, while others called in person for further particulars and for the necessary blanks. One of the first nominations received was that of Mrs. Bertha Morgan, wife of C. M. Morgan, of the Northern Railway News service. Both Mrs. Morgan and her husband are well known in Portland where they have resided a number of years, and with the assistance of their friends are likely to carry on an active campaign for the first prize, although they would be glad to secure the lot in Waverleigh Heights for a home for themselves and their 2-year-old girl. Harry A. Zehrung of Arleta, Or., was the first man to enter the contest. He is a clerk in the railway mail service, making a run out of Portland, and is also a promising candidate. Guy R. Kendall and Raymond Atkinson, both of Portland, were also among the first to get in touch with the contest department. Although the contest does not open until June 14, it is a matter of no small importance that contestants should enter as early as possible, for although the restrictions will be placed upon the extent of territory to be covered by any individual, the number of contestants in certain localities will be limited in order to give all a fair chance. There should be an excellent chance for those residing in the smaller towns and cities in the vicinity of Portland to get in, as well as for those in the metropolitan area. Some one will win the automobile. Why not you? Here is a splendid opportunity for an ambitious young lady or gentleman to earn the equivalent of $1500, by only a few weeks' work. The winner of this prize will be rewarded at the rate of about $30 for each day's work! Can you afford to let this opportunity slip by? If you miss the automobile you still stand a chance of winning one of the other prizes, of which there will be not less than 25 offered, each of which will be worth at least $50. The three prizes offered are all high grade instruments, the Chickering piano being considered one of the finest pianos on the American market, while the auto-piano and the Eilers Upright piano are the best that could be procured for the money. The residence lot in Waverleigh Heights and the lot in Gearhart Park are as good as gold and will prove particularly attractive prizes to those familiar with the rise of property values in Portland and vicinity during recent years. The winners of these prizes could raise sufficient money by mortgage on the property to build them comfortable homes and would be forever freed from the obligation to pay rent. One of the largest items of expense to most families, isn't a residence lot in Waverleigh Heights or in Gearhart Park worth a few weeks' earnest effort, particularly when the work is one in which your friends will assist you to win? The Racine motor boat and the Racine canoe will appeal to every lover of the water. They are on exhibition at the J. M. Arthur Co.'s salesrooms, at East Water and Taylor streets. The contest is open to any man or woman, boy or girl, who can satisfy the contest manager of his or her ability to complete entries may be made at any time up to the middle of July, but in order to win an early start should be made. No one will work in vain, for all who do not win a prize will be allowed a liberal commission upon all new business they obtain. More than $8000 in prizes will be awarded, ranging in value from $1500 down to $50. With the exception of the Chickering piano, which is to be competed for by ladies or girls only, the $330 Racine speed launch, which is to be competed for by men or boys only, and the auto Eilers piano, which is to be competed for by schools, churches, lodges or societies, all prizes will be open to all contestants alike. Enter at once. Your friends will help you to win. Call upon or write to the contest manager for necessary blanks and information, and watch this column for the daily report of progress made by the contestants. Voting Power of Subscriptions.
