FINAL TARIFF BATTLE NOT ON TARIFF

Will Be Between General Income Tax and Corporations' Net Income Tax—Aldrich Expects an Early Vote on Tariff Bill.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Washington, June 12.—Senator Aldrich, on the completion of the free list, adjourned the senate early this afternoon to Monday, that the finance committee might determine on rates of duties and administration features of the new bill, about which there is some difference. No protest over the early adjournment was made. The senators have worked faithfully during the past week and great progress has been made. There still remain for adjustment the maximum and minimum plan, rates on dressed lumber, the paper and wood pulp schedules, hides, oil, coal pig iron and a few other schedules. The proposition that will give the finance committe chief concern will be the Taft amendment, which it is thought the committee will accept, providing for a tax on the net income of corporations available for dividends.

It is believed Aldrich will try to use this proposition to sidetrack the income tax amendment urged by Bailey and Cummins. It will be urged as a compromise. Cummins had a somewhat similar plan in his income tax amendment. Early in the session Daniel of Virginia presented it as an independent amendment. Bailey has accepted it and it is now a feature of the compromise income tax. Aldrich will press it as an administration feature, urging that whatever danger may exist that the tariff bill will not provide sufficient revenue for the government, will be removed by receipts from this new tax. By presenting it before the income tax bill comes up, June 18, and securing its adoption by both Republican and Democratic votes, he will be in position to insist that it offers enough new taxation to be carried in any simple tariff bill and is a sufficient burden to be placed on the investor and men of capital).

President Taft is strongly in favor of the plan, and this fact is being urged to whip recalcitrants into line.

Aldrich accused Nelson and Cummins, at today's session, of having abandoned their tariff reform fight when they urged that sago flour was an article of food and came in competition with the starch trust. Cummins said he opposed putting trust products on the free list. He insisted that sago flour was starch and came in competition with corn and potato starch, destroying protectiaon to the farmers.

"It is simply another case," commented Nelson, "of farmers of the middle west coming against the cotton manufacturers of New England. Sago starch is used to stiffen cotton fabrics."

A compromise was reached whereby sago flour when used as food went on the free list. Tapioca flour was subjected to the same limitation.

Radium, by Aldrich's consent, was also put on the free list.

Nelson endeavored to have a limitation placed on the free admission of works of art when intended for public galleries. He was opposed by Root, Tillman, Money and Carter, who urged free importations as an inspiration to American artists and in the interest of education. Art works were finally free listed by a vote of 53 to 15, rugs and carpets being excepted from the paragraph at the suggestion of Root.

ALDRICH EXPECTS FINAL VOTE SOON: FREE LIST FINISHED

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, June 12.—That the end of the tariff fight in the senate is near is the belief of Senator Aldrich, chairman of the senate finance committee. He believes a final vote on the bill will be taken in committee of the whole next week, if not in the senate itself. When the consideration of the free list was begun this afternoon he announced with satisfaction that this completed the dutiable schedule of the bill with the exception of the paragraphs which have been passed over by mutual consent for further consideration, and the lumber and paper schedules. The milk schedule, he added, had already been agreed to, except one or two sections, in the first reading of the bill.

In making this statement Senator Aldrich was not unmindful of the fact that there were yet awaiting action in the committee of the whole such subjects as iron ore, hides, coal, oil, pine apples, electric light carbons and several other matters upon which considerable interest is centered and lively discussion is expected.

It is surmised that he had in mind the concessions that the finance committee was prepared to make on the subjects still in dispute and believed they would be such as to largely satisfy the demands of the senate and avoid a very lengthy debate. There is yet another very important subject to be disposed of, an income tax, upon which a vote is expected to be taken Monday.

Hides 15 Per Cent Ad Valorem.

The senate will place hides on the dutiable list with a rate of 15 per cent ad valorem. At least that will be done unless Senator Aldrich loses, and he has been victorious so far in every vote taken on the tariff bill. The senate committee on finance has decided to recommend the 15 per cent rate. In the house hides were on the free list.

The committee at a meeting this afternoon fixed the rate on barytes at $1.50 a ton, which is the house bill rate. The Dingley duty is 75 cents a ton.

It was also decided to report a rate of ⅛ cent a pound on beams and structural iron worth less than $1 a ton and 4-10 cent a pound on such material worth more than $1 a ton.

The duty on various acids and on sulphate of ammonia will be retained at the figures appearing in the Aldrich bill.

Articles in several other schedules were discussed at the meeting, but no action was taken. It seems probable that the McCumber amendment greatly reducing the tariff on common window glass will be adopted.

The plate glass duty has not been decided but will probably not be changed. It has been referred to Senators Smoot and McCumber of the committee.

Action on lumber, wood pulp and print paper was deferred owing to the absence of Senator Hale, who is ill.

Free Art for Millionaires.

Art was given a helping hand by the rate-makers of the senate today. Statesmen who have for weeks been revelling in the complications of paragraphs dealing with vulgar articles of trade sang the glory of Michael Angelo and old masters and then voted for free art.

Senator Nelson shocked his esthetic colleagues by an amendment to restrict such free importations to public, educational and religious organizations. He understood several millionaires had made collections abroad and wished to bring them in.

But he was overwhelmed by Senators Lodge, Root, Tillman, Money and Carter, who showed the great educational value of fine paintings and said the masterpieces imported by individuals finally found their way to public galleries. Dixon and McCumber figured that as other people had to pay 40 per cent duty on other necessaries of life, the rich could afford to pay for adornment of their palaces, but the free art provision was adopted by a vote of 53 to 14.

This having been disposed of, the senate, on motion of Aldrich, put yams on the free list before adjourning to Monday.

BURIED HYPNOTIST ALMOST STAYS DEAD

Baltimore, June 12.—H. V. Siedenberg, a hypnotist, who was giving an exhibition of a long hypnotic sleep in a coffin buried in a grave, had a narrow escape from death. Although he had two air tubes connected with his living tomb, his vitality nearly gave out, and when taken out his pulse registered but 13 to the minute and his respiration showed him in a critical condition.

He had been buried 96 hours and was to have remained in the casket 360 hours. To all appearances he was in a hypnotic sleep when placed in the casket and lowered into the grave. Watchers were near him day and night. At 9 o'clock Milton Stockett, a watcher, received a signal for help from the buried man. Through an opening covered with glass in the grave the watcher could see, by the aid of an electric light, that Siedenberg was in distress. The casket was dug up just in time.

The police summoned the coroner, believing the hypnotist would be dead when taken out, but, although the doctors had to work hard to save the man, the coroner's services were not needed.

GLAD HAND GIVEN BY BAKER CITY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Baker City, Or., June 12.—Arriving in Baker City last evening at 8:20, the special train bearing 47 Chicago business men who had been to the Seattle fair and were touring the northwest, was met by a large number of Baker City people, including the Baker concert band. The visitors were escorted by Baker business men to the Elks' auditorium, where arrangements had been made for informal entertainment.

F. H. Dean, president of the Citizens' league, was master of ceremonies, and made the address of welcome, which was well received by home folks as well as the visitors. This was responded to by John F. Mann of Chicago.

GETS HERO MEDAL AND EARNS ANOTHER

New York, June 12.—Ten minutes after he had received a medal in recognition of his bravery on the gunboat Yankee during the Spanish-American war, Police Lieutenant Matthew McKeon risked his life to stop a runaway. He heard the screams of women and ran to the street in time to meet the horse, which was attached to a delivery wagon.

The animal's bridle was off, and McKeon took the only course open. He grasped the horse by the nostrils and shut off its wind. The frightened animal lashed on despite his hold, dragging him over the pavement to within a few feet of the edge of the pier before it halted, cowed into submission.

NOTHING SO SILLY AS A "DOUGH" BOYS' SILLY LOVE MATCH

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

New York, June 12.—Mrs. John D. Spreckels, mother of young Claus Spreckels, whose engagement to Miss Adele Case of Portland, Or., was broken off after he had an interview with his father, reached New York today on the Hamburg-American liner Amerika. She called her son's love affair silly.

"All I know of it is what my husband told me by wireless," said she. "It is all silly. The young man doesn't know his own mind. Why, he's only in the puppy class now.

"Miss Case is much too old for him. I met her in Paris at a concert she gave—it was there that my son first saw her. He showed nothing more than admiration for Miss Case as an artist. I admired her singing very much."

Mrs. Spreckels was met at the pier by her husband. When shown a dispatch from Chicago in which their son was quoted as saying that it was better to be poor than rich, and that he had no chance because of his wealth, Mr. Spreckels laughed:

"He's quite a humorist, isn't he?" he commented.

"That is very funny, indeed," added Mrs. Spreckels.

When asked if she would sanction the match in spite of her husband, should the young man persist in his first intention, she said: "Of course not."

SUES TO REOPEN 33-YEAR DIVORCE

New York, June 12.—An application to have declared defective petition for the reopening of a divorce case, settled 39 years ago, has been made before Vice Chancellor Stevens, at Newark. The decree in the case was granted to Etienne Givernand, and the petition for reopening was made by the former wife, Noemie Givernaud, of Lyons, France, through Alexander Simpson of Jersey City. The opposing application was filed by Abe I. Smith, representing Oscar Zezin.

The complainant alleges she was living in France at the time the decree was granted, and did not hear of it until her husband's death two years ago. On the decision of Vice Chancellor Stevens rests the disposition of an estate of $250,000.

Mrs. Givernaud wishes to claim her dower rights in the estate. After securing the decree, Givernaud remarried, and to his second wife left $150,000. He also left $2000 to his daughter and the residue to his brothers.

STRAY BULLET CUTS THROUGH MAN'S CHEEK

M. J. Kennedy, a seafaring man sailing out of Seattle, was sitting on the United Railway track just below Cliff Inn last night when he heard the sing of a bullet. Involuntarily he started to duck his head, but the missile struck him, ploughing through the side of his cheek. He heard no report and saw no one who might have done the shooting. He reported at the police station and was attended by the city physician.

POLICE DEMAND INVESTIGATION

Mysterious Robbery of Warehouses Has Probe Up to Merchants.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 12.—Until a committee of coffee importers, representing the business houses, which claim that wholesale robbery has been taking place of coffee and rice from bonded warehouses during the past several months, has made further investigation of the affair, Captain of Detectives Anderson stated today that the police force will take no further part in affairs. The losses are said to amount to thousands of bags of coffee and rice. Also four carloads of coffee have not been located by several of the largest dealers on the coast. The discovery of the supposed thefts came to light several weeks ago when it was learned that some mysterious person was selling coffee far below the regular market price. Suspicion led to an investigation and it was learned that systematic thievery had been going on for some time.

E. Lang of 208 Davis street reported to the police last night that he had been knocked down by an automobile bearing the number Oregon 281 at the corner of Second and Burnside streets about 8 o'clock. He was not hurt beyond a few bruises. Later he swore out a warrant for the arrest of E. E. Cohen, 526 Alder street, whose machine is listed as No. 281.

Mr. Lang said that while he was crossing the street to reach a car for town the machine bore swiftly around the corner and struck him on the side, carrying him a distance of more than 25 feet.

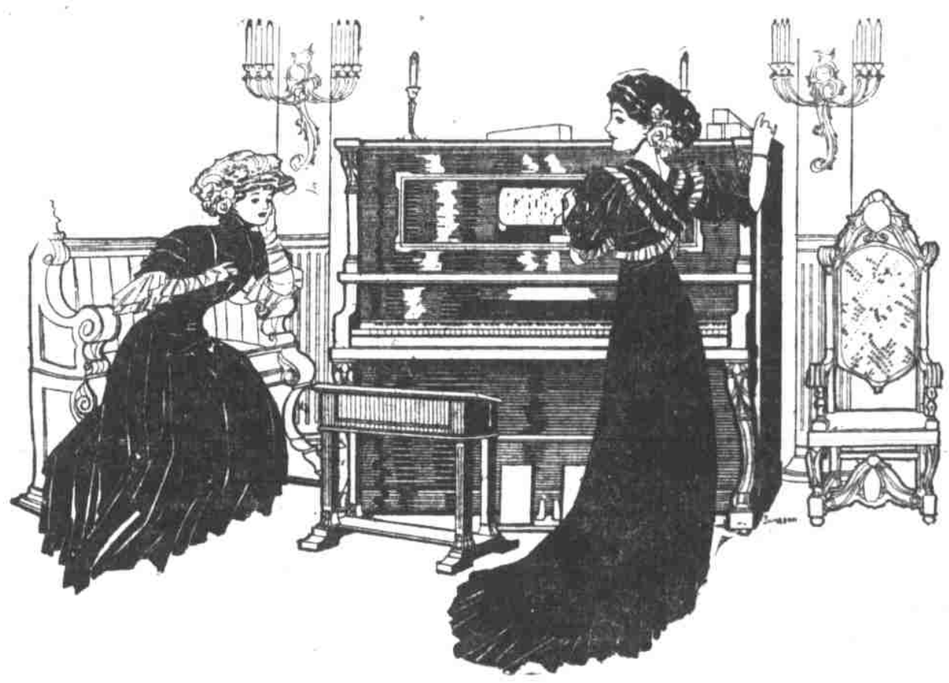
Go Music Hungry No Longer!

Why not a genuine Pianola-Piano—Why not one Monday while the big display and sale is on.



Never heretofore, not even in New York, has it been possible to show such a tremendous number of latest Pianola Pianos of each of the various styles and in the various superb and costly woods and finishes used only by the world-renowned makers of this magnificent art product.

Six solid carloads of Genuine Pianola Pianos, all of them the latest styles, were shipped to Eilers Piano House through an awkward misunderstanding on the part of our buyer and the manufacturers.

Rather than to return the bigger portion of these instruments to the factories at additional cost for freight charges, insurance, etc., we have decided to accept them. All of these instruments are now being displayed at Eilers Piano House.

Never again will Portland witness a showing of so extensive and superb a variety of styles and designs.

There's many a "silent" piano in many a home where there ought to be a Pianola Piano, a genuine Pianola Piano, an instrument that is not "mechanical," but, on the contrary, makes it possible for every member of the family to produce the choicest of music with perfect individuality and expression.

We are now prepared to take such "silent pianos" in part payment for one of these very latest Metrostyle and Themodist Pianola Pianos, and we will make it an object for any owner of such old style piano to do business with us now.

Will arrange most unusual liberal terms of payment for any responsible buyer not wishing on the spur of the moment to pay the difference in cash.

If you ever expect to own a Pianola Piano, now is the time to see about it, at Eilers Piano House, Retail Department, "the always busy corner" at Park (Eighth) and Washington streets.
