

SENATE GIVES SCHIVELY 30 DAYS PRESIDENT SIMON SITS IN PRESIDING CHAIR

Washington Insurance Commissioner Will Appear for Trial August 1—Asks Time to Secure Depositions From East.

City Board of Health Holds Its Final Meeting and Adjourns—Dr. Pohl Shows Remarkably Low Death Rate.

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)

Olympic, Wash., July 1.—The trial in the impeachment of John H. Schively will begin before the senate Wednesday, August 1, at 2 o'clock, 28 days after the house voted on the case. A large number of the attorneys representing the people and the defendant. By a vote of 48 to 14 at noon the senate deferred the time as between July 31 and the date fixed. The earlier date was urged by the friends of the administration, it being argued that the session would have to adjourn within 60 days and the trial would have to be completed before adjournment.

On showing that as a court of impeachment the senate could sit indefinitely, the date was changed to five days for depositions to be gotten from eastern states, with the idea that the one recess by the senate would cover all delays which might be occasioned by having an early reconvening of the body.

Schively appeared before the senate and the house members who had left their places under recess for an hour. While the senate determined the future progress of the impeachment, the house showed no agitation or nervousness. At the hundreds of eyes peering at him from the galleries. Hundreds of citizens of Olympia, including a large number of women, crowded the galleries and attentively listened to every word that was spoken in the debate which followed the motion to fix the time of trial.

Compromise on Date.

The board of managers of the house was represented by Attorney General Bell, while G. C. Israel, a local attorney represented Schively. An air of anxiety pervaded the senate this morning on convening, and so business was attempted but the determination of the impeachment was postponed.

Schively asked for 90 days in which to prepare his case, urging that depositions were necessary from eastern states, and that without them he could not enter upon the trial with a fair chance to defend himself. The senate agreed to give him 30 days as a compromise.

The house and senate will take a recess this afternoon, the members returning for their homes.

At 10:30 this morning, John Schively, accompanied by his counsel, G. C. Israel, appeared before the bar of the senate as a high court of impeachment and filed a motion asking that 90 days be allowed for preparation of the defense. The motion alleged among other things: "Comes now John H. Schively, insurance commissioner for the state of Washington appearing in obedience to the summons here in person, as well as by his counsel, G. C. Israel, and not waiving his right to challenge the jurisdiction of this honorable court of his person as insurance commissioner of the state of Washington, or of the subject matter of the articles of impeachment exhibited in the said summons; and not waiving his right to challenge the right of various members of this honorable court to sit here in the hearing of said articles of impeachment; by reason of his and their actual and implied bias; and not waiving his right to have the articles of impeachment here-in made more definite and certain; and not waiving his right to have stricken from such articles of impeachment manifest extraneous, redundant, incompetent, and immaterial matters therein contained; and not waiving his right to challenge the legal sufficiency under the law and the constitution of each and every one of the articles of impeachment therein contained, now exhibits in this honorable court his motion in that behalf, and moves this honorable court that he be granted a period of 90 days from and after this date wherein to make such plea."

"That I am informed by my counsel that in order to prepare for the trial upon all of the articles of impeachment contained in said exhibit, that I will require many depositions from many persons and corporations resident and having main offices in various states of the union, including New York, Texas, Colorado, Massachusetts, Maryland, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Michigan."

"That this motion is not made for delay, but in order that substantial justice may be accomplished and my rights fully conserved, and in order that I may be fully protected in those rights, and in the making of my defense here-in."

Mayor Simon presided for the first time at an official meeting when the city health board convened this morning. Immediately after the board adjourned each member of it handed in his resignation. Mayor Simon shook hands with the resigning physicians and said he was sorry to lose them.

The members of the board who resigned are Dr. R. L. Wainey, Dr. A. J. Gleay and Dr. George F. Wilson. Chief of Police Gritzmacher who is also a member of the board, has already resigned as police chief, but he will remain in charge of the department until his successor is appointed this afternoon by the mayor.

It is understood that former city health officer, Dr. C. H. Wheeler will be given the place. The health board spent its time approving the monthly roll and considering the regular monthly reports. Dr. Pohl's report was voluminous and covered the work of his office in detail for the past six months.

Death Rate Measures.

Dr. Pohl called attention to the fact that during her incumbency as head of the health department the death rate has been steadily decreasing in spite of the fact that the city has been rapidly growing. This decrease is attributed to the efficient handling of the department by the health board, the establishment of a rigid daily inspection and school inspection and the falling off in the number of deaths from tuberculosis, for many years the chief cause of mortality.

So noticeable was the decrease in the death rate of 1908 over 1907 that the United States governmental department, to which reports of births and deaths are sent annually, wrote and asked if some mistake had not been made. The number of deaths from tuberculosis during the first six months of 1907 was actually more than in the following year and during the first six months of the present year the proportionate number was still smaller.

Wiping Out White Plague.

From the statistics thus surprisingly revealed Dr. Pohl believes that the fight against the white plague has been waged to some purpose. The total number of deaths from all causes during the first six months of 1907 was 1915; during the corresponding period of 1908, 881.

In his report the health officer shows the number of deaths from all contagious diseases during the past three years and states that the department in future should be able to show a better record even than that of the past owing to its increased efficiency due to the inauguration of the school inspection service, and to the better methods of handling garbage, which will be brought about by the construction of the new incinerator authorized at the last election.

Another reason why the death rate should still continue to diminish, is that the state sanatorium for the care of indigent tuberculous patients is soon to be opened.

Headed Fever Epidemic.

Dr. Pohl says scarlet fever has been more troublesome than any other disease during the last six months and she explains this by saying that the disease has been epidemic throughout the northwest, Portland having never experienced a visitation from the fever and no immunity, and as a consequence Dr. Pohl says the mortality from it may be expected to increase.

Diphtheria, according to the report, is on the wane. Rigid quarantine rules put into effect by the health board is credited with having had a large share in the bringing about of this condition.

Typhoid fever deaths during the year have been only 15, and the mortality from this disease should be lower in future, as the city dairy inspector is enforcing the Cottle milk ordinance. Dr. Pohl calls attention to the report of Dr. D. W. Meek, the dairy inspector, who, in company with Dr. Wells of the health department of animal industry, recently finished a tour of inspection of the dairies in and around Portland. The federal inspector says these dairies were some of the worst he has seen.

No Deaths From Smallpox.

Smallpox, so Dr. Pohl says, has been reduced to a minor disease, thanks to vaccination and other preventive methods. The disease has been termed Manila Itch, so mild is the form in which it has visited this country during the past three years. The health officer says that not a single death has been reported from the malady in that time.

Dr. Pohl's report concludes by accounting for the expenditures of his department during the past six months and these are shown to have been kept within the estimate made at the first of the year.

SIMON WANTS HIS ATTORNEY NEAR

That Mayor Simon desires to have the city attorney's office in the city hall, instead of the down town district, is evident from inquiries he has made as to rooms that may be made available. The law provides that the city attorney shall be provided with offices in the city hall at the public expense, but city attorneys have preferred to stay in the down town district at their own expense.

"I believe my office can give better service to the public by remaining where it is," said City Attorney Kavanaugh this morning. "Nothing has been said to me about moving. There are some advantages in being at the city hall, but I think they are outweighed by the disadvantages. We have to do much communicating with other offices down town, and if we go to the city hall it will be necessary to employ a messenger to carry papers back and forth."

FOUR HUNDRED MEN AT ELY STRIKE

Ely, Nev., July 1.—Four hundred miners employed by the Cumberland company of this city struck today. The men demand $2.50 a day for underground men and $4 a day for wet shaft workmen. The Cumberland employees were working under a contract system. They claimed that under the terms of their agreement it was impossible to earn a living wage. It is thought the strike will be settled by this evening.
