

CREMATORY IS CONSIDERED BY COMMITTEE

Garbage Burner to Be Built at Once, Without Bond Issue if Possible—New Jail and Emergency Hospital Also.

A new garbage crematory and a new city building to be used for the jail, municipal court and emergency hospital, were given consideration at a meeting of the ways and means committee of the council yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Simon has declared for both of these improvements, and the first steps were taken to put such projects under way.

In the case of the crematory the health board was directed to advertise for bids upon a site to be recommended by the board. This means that the new crematory will be built at the site of the present incinerating plant.

The need of proceeding with the erection of a new city jail was brought up by Councilman Baker and met with ready approval from other members of the committee, including Chairman Devlin.

Several sites for the new jail were informally talked over. One is an irregular lot at Fifth, Oak and Ankeny streets, another the south park block on Eighth street, and a third at Bond and Oak, adjoining the present police station.

As the council meets tomorrow, it will then be possible to pass the resolution requesting action of the executive board on the selection of a city jail site, and the preparation of plans and estimates.

The funds for this building probably will come out of next year's taxes, unless it be found advisable to increase the site this year.

THE STRANGER WITHIN OUR GATES

"I have been in the contracting and building business for nine years at Pittsburg, Pa., and for the past four years have been losing money every day. So I decided to come to Portland to look for other business interests."

F. G. Flanders, Wichita, Kan.: "Whisker never cured anything. Regardless of the fact that some physicians may recommend whiskey for certain ailments, it can only be a palliative for 30 years' practice as a pharmacist I never heard of whiskey being other than detrimental to any person who takes either a small or large amount."

Dr. W. O. Moorman, Chicago, Ill.: "Consumption is absolutely incurable. Certainly no drug or medicine of any kind will cure the disease. There are said to be cases of the white plague, but the record has been made of the removal of the patient to a dry climate and high altitude, but if investigated it will be found that the patient had not yet begun to work. You can't kill those germs. Nothing will do it."

"Most people do not seem to realize it, but the supply of food products, or rather, agricultural products, is much more than the present demand. That is the cause of the high prices. And they will never be lower. The farmer has the whip now and he will keep it," said E. X. Brigham, Brighton, Ill., at the Oregon today.

"I notice that the best porterhouse steak in Portland costs only 20 cents a pound," said Frank Chambers of Denver, at the Court, this morning. "In Denver," he continued, "you can't buy the same steak for less than 35 or 40 cents." Other meats and even vegetables are as high in proportion.

"I wouldn't be a knocker for anything," said Harry D. Blacker of the Imperial today, "but there is only one place on earth where the climate is absolutely perfect, in my estimation. That is at Batavia, N. Y., where I live. There is nothing wanting there at all."

D. W. Diamond, Burton, Tenn.: "I read in a Portland paper less than a year ago that a man in northern Oregon made over $1,000 a acre on his orchard, but didn't believe it. I have just returned from Medford and was shown. I'll believe anything you want to tell me now."

Arthur Fairchild, Asheville, S. C.: "I never saw such a fresh water trout as I have since leaving Denver. Nothing but rivers everywhere. My, this must be a great country. I am certainly enthusiastic about the possibilities of the west."

"I am not a Republican, anyway," said Frank Van Dorn at the Imperial, "but it is a vast relief to see how quietly things are progressing at Washington. Now that a comparatively sane man is in the chair at the White House, I don't care for the grandstand players."

H. U. Zumwalt, Waco, Texas: "A man nearly takes his life in his hands to go to walk across the Morrison street bridge, doesn't he? I never saw such a jam anywhere in my life as there was on that bridge this morning. Beats Broadway, New York."

Contestants who tried hard for the special prizes offered by The Journal in its fourth annual circulation contest last week will be given another chance this week, when all votes turned in between Wednesday morning, July 14, and Wednesday night of next week, will be credited to the respective contestants.

Unless a large number of subscriptions are received from an unexpected source Tuesday morning, for it is necessary to give ample time for the contest to be held in the remote sections of the state to be heard from, the ladies' suit purchased from the Acheson Clock & Suit company will go to Mrs. Vincent of St. Johns, who won with an astonishing degree of success in her campaign for votes last week.

Oregon City seems certain to have won for its ambitious young contestant the tailor made suit and another patron added to their list of satisfied customers.

Another good contestant makes her first appearance in the score list today, for Miss Grace Crerar has been named by her many friends in the Rose City to enter the race for the automobile and gave evidence of her determination to win the Oregon Congress vatory of Music scholarship by turning in 14,700 votes as the result of her first afternoon's work.

Miss Crerar has resided in Portland practically all her life and is easily one of the most popular young ladies of the city. Her many friends will prove powerful aid in her race for one of the big prizes and it is confidently believed by many that she will prove one of the strongest contestants in the field.

Both Miss Reverman and Miss Palmer are rapidly climbing up in the score, 22,650 additional votes received from Miss Reverman yesterday putting her in the sixth place with 49,900. While 11,400 votes that came in this morning's mail from Miss Palmer entitles her to the next place below and puts her ahead of Miss Burt, Mrs.

side Commercial club. A committee was appointed to draw up by-laws and everything will be done to broaden its scope and increase its enrollment.

Before heading in his resignation, Dan J. Moore, president of the defunct organization, reviewed the work that had been accomplished. The completion of the cement walk the length of Bridge street, and the straightening and widening of the street and the plank promenade along the ocean's front, are due principally to the tireless efforts of this body. Enthusiastic speeches were made by Manager Wheeler of the Seaside Light & Water Co., F. H. Moore, Dr. W. E. Lewis and Captain E. P. Stevens.

The officers of the new organization are: Fred Dresser, president; Robert Gibson, secretary; F. H. Laighton, treasurer. With the aid of the property owners along the beach the Commercial club hopes to stretch a string of electric lights the full length of the plank walk, a distance of about two miles.

Japan Honors American Educator. (United Press Special Wire.) Tokyo, July 12.—Professor Barton of Chicago was the recipient of a medal of honor conferred today by the Imperial educational association. Professor Barton is in Tokyo, after spending many weeks investigating oriental conditions.

Ballinger in Seattle. (United Press Special Wire.) Seattle, July 12.—On an official tour for the purpose of investigating matters connected with the Interior department, Secretary Richard A. Ballinger is in this city today. The secretary is devoting particular attention to the work of the reclamation service in the several projects. The conditions existing in the national parks will receive much of his attention, especially the Yellowstone and the Yosemite parks. The Indian agencies will also be included in his itinerary of inspection.

"The conditions in certain Indian agencies," said Secretary Ballinger today, "are far from satisfactory to the department."

STRENGTH AND AMBITION ENERGY

Are Impossible Without Rich, Red Blood—A Detroit Woman Expresses an Opinion.

The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for run-down conditions of the health is based on sound medical principles and on common sense. More and more men and women are beginning to realize that pure, rich blood means health and that the efficiency of any tissue or organ is entirely dependent upon the quality of the blood.

There are thousands of people who are without ambition or strength to do their day's work and who are always tired out, have but little appetite and a poor digestion, cannot get a refreshing night sleep and are subject to headaches, backaches and nervousness because their blood is impure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give quick relief and permanently cure such men and women because they purify and change the blood to its normal strength. As the blood becomes pure and red it strengthens the muscles, tones up the nerves, makes the stomach capable of digesting the food, and repairs the wastes caused by growth and work.

"I felt miserably weak and tired and could not do any work. I was sent on a visit to relatives with the hope that change would benefit me, but after several weeks I had not improved. Most of this time I was taking the doctor's medicine, with benefit and without being discouraged. My aunt urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They gave me a better appetite, I gained in weight and strength and took the pills until cured. Since then I have been strong, robust and healthy."

"Diseases of the Blood" showing what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done in anemia and other blood troubles, will be sent free on request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, in receipt of price 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

JUDGE M'CREDIE WON'T WEAR GOWN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Husum, Wash., July 12.—Judge W. W. McCreddie, presiding judge of the superior court, of which this county and Sitka are a part of the circuit, still refuses to wear a gown while holding court. He is stated to have said that he will not wear one before the September jury session, and in all probability not then if the state did not buy it.

"I have written to the state auditor asking him if he will accept vouchers for gowns for which this county and Sitka are a part of the circuit, in regard to the violation of the law being a misdemeanor, I have not looked the matter up. The law itself carries no penalty, but there may be a provision making it a misdemeanor for the violation of it." From the fact that the gown was not part of his regular raiment, Judge McCreddie holds that it is unfair for the state to cause him the expense.
