THE OREGON DAILY JOURNAL, PORTLAND, FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 18, 1909.

Walls Walls Onions Are Coming. Bpecial advices from Walls Walls state that some onions from that direc-tion will enter the Portland market dur-ing the coming week. While it is ex-pected that the first cars will not be fully matured, the quality is stated to be better than usual this season. Season for California reds is ending but this variety is holding out very well. California whites are firm for best matured stock and for this grade $1.50 is obtained along the street to-day.

because too much off grade stuff is offering. Tom Benson of T. C. Benson & Son-Poor quality is what is hurting the cattle market at this time more than anything else. The market is flooded with cattle that are unfit for slaughter and this condition is naturally taken advantage of by buyers to depress cattle values generally. Yard's Representative Prices

Good Hay Crop. Husam, Wash, July 16.—Ranchers throughout the White Salmon valley have about finished putting up their harvest of hay. In the Trout Lake re-gion the yield of timothy, clover and alfalfa is better than the average sea-son. The bay crops and dairying are the principal industries of that locality, features which sever fail from one year to another.

FAIR WARNING TO

ALL POACHERS

Vancouver, Wash., July 16.—Deputy Game Warden Walters declares that he will arrest and prosecute to the limit the filegal hunters who, have been op-erating of late in Clarke county. Re-ports, he says, have been coming in to him of persons shooting game out of season, and on investigation he has found this to be true. It has also been discovered that the soldiers at the target range on the Clackamas river have been shooting game birds con-trarg to law. This has been taken up with Major Moore, who promises to look into the matter and punish any offender caught. caught.

Escape From Reform School. Liscape From Reform School. Vancouver, Wash., July 16.—John Ky-eke and Fred Vine escaped from the state reform school, according to a mes-sage from the superintendent, on Wed-needay evening. When last heard of they were headed toward Vancouver, walking the rallway right of way. The local authorities have been asked to apprehend them.
