JAPAN WEEDS OUT WEAKLINGS

Drills in Awful Heat and Cold—Getting Ready for Russia Again. (United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—Discussing the action of military officers in placing the lives of their men in jeopardy by exposure to a scorching sun while on drill, a military expert here today said: "The drilling of troops during the most unfavorable weather is in conformity with the established principles of the Japanese general staff to eliminate weaklings from the fighting line and to have only the most sturdy troops remain in the organizations which would be called upon to stand the first shock in case of war. All soldiers showing constitutional weakness, who do not perish under the drastic training, are placed in the reserves." During last December, an infantry brigade was ordered to scale Mount Fuji during a blinding blizzard and over 1000 men were lost during the ascent. A great popular outbreak was narrowly averted at the time, but the general staff explained the order which resulted in the heavy loss by stating that it was necessary to insure the men to both cold and heat, even though lives were sacrificed. In view of the inevitable struggle which is pending with Russia in Manchuria. The present drilling of the troops in the stifling heat which sweeps over Japan in the summer indicates that popular disapproval has not influenced the general staff in instituting more humane methods in the conditioning of the troops. "It is estimated that the lives of over 1000 soldiers have been sacrificed in carrying out this policy, since the close of the Russian war, and that thousands of others have been incapacitated for military duty. Despite the protests of the press and the progressives among military officers, the mistake has not been refused to interfere with the inhumane policies of the general staff."

MOUNTAIN CLIMBING TESTS FOR ATHLETES

(United Press Leased Wire.) New Haven, Conn., July 20.—The rigid training and discipline to which Japanese soldiers are being subjected will be initiated by Yale university in training her athletes if the recommendations of a report in the hands of the faculty are carried out. Mountain climbing under adverse conditions of altitude and heart action tests are urged, with the elimination of all candidates for athletic honors who cannot survive the tests. Six hundred Yale undergraduates were subjects of demonstration by the Yale mountain club last year. A four-day gymnasium directors' test was held, during which was made to Mexico, during the Christmas vacation and the endurance of several hundred students was tested by a series of mountain climbing trips. Foodstuffs and Isitachuan, each 18,000 feet high, were scaled. On these trips the value of oxygen treatment was tested thoroughly. A report of the experiments was made to the university by Professor William G. Anderson, director of the Yale gymnasium.

MESSINA ORPHAN CALLS QUEEN LITTLE MAMMA

Rome, July 20.—A few days ago the queen visited the hospital to see little Michele Gallo, an orphan of the Messina earthquake who has been taken in charge of her majesty. The poor little parentless thing, on seeing the queen, clasped his hands, crying "mamma, mamma" (little mama), which deeply moved the queen, who remained a long time with the child, and on leaving promised to come often to see him. On leaving the hospital, the queen was made the subject of an enthusiastic ovation.

HEAVY EXPORTATION OF ARGENTINA WHEAT

Buenos Ayres, July 19.—During the first five months of this year the exportations of wheat amounted to 77,700,000 bushels. A decree has been published modifying the law prohibiting the importation of cattle from certain countries, so that those countries may send cattle to the exposition of 1910. The government has also sent instructions to our minister in Washington to agree with the Bureau of American Republics on a program for the exposition.

PEEP AT DUTCH LIFE AND FUN

G. I. W. Such a pretty peep at Dutchland, with its Delft blue windmills, its blue and white tiles, its blue and white dishes and its blue and white people, more real than the real thing! That is what delights at the Orpheum this week. A charming setting with Mary Marble in its midst, letting out ever and anon the most infectious laugh that keeps the audience chortling in sympathy. And Sam Chip, the pudgy little Dutch boy, sewed up in fetching balloons, skips about after her and sings delicious songs and gives the right answers to her mischievous questions. These two funmakers have played together here before in some of the Hoy's comedies and they have lost none of their charm. Stepp, Mellinger and King have a skit that is so spontaneous in its mirth and jollity that it reminds one of three college fellows trying to make up the coin that a sympathetic dad won't "touch up." Each is good in his way, one a pianist, one a clever banjoist and the third a good character artist who enjoyed his encores as much as the listener did. Miss Grantreux is a charming whistler with a really musical and unscrupulous tone and she whistles old songs in a delightful manner which is enhanced by her exceptionally sweet face and good way of dressing. Six American Dancers succeeded in producing a little novelty into one of the most monotonous of acts—wooden shoe dancing. They appear by ones, twos, threes and sixes, in costumes that at least lend a pretty touch of color and wind up with an ensemble dance done at such swift tempo that the house is taken by surprise. The two playlets offered are tiresome for existing and pass out worse at the end than at the beginning. The other, "Hold Up," reverses the order and amuses at the end when the actors forget their play and present burlesque songs. Charles Marville opens the program in a snaky costume with equally serpentine contortions. The orchestra numbers and moving pictures complete a very good bill. If you are suffering with any kind of skin trouble, such as Summer-rashes, prickly heat, poison ivy, poison oak, etc., you can rid yourself of the itch in 10 seconds by washing with Oil of Wintergreen compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. Physicians recognize D. D. D.—as the standard for eczema and Psoriasis, and it has certainly been found invaluable for all other skin diseases. Skidmore Drug Co., Portland; J. C. most prominent women. During her four years residence here she had been an active worker in church and social affairs. She was to have been installed as noble grand in the local lodge of Rebekahs last Tuesday, the day after she was taken ill. No death in recent years has caused such general and profound sorrow.
