

FATHER DEAD; FAMILY IN NEED

In a little bit of a house on Twenty-fifth and a half street, near Nicolai, North Portland, lives a woman, Mrs. Walter Schaefer, with four little children, who for the past several weeks have been struggling barely with enough to keep body and soul together.

Three months ago Walter Schaefer, husband and father, was called by death after a three weeks' illness, and the woman was left entirely upon her own resources. She, too, being a part of the time, it has been difficult for her to work out and at the same time take care of the little tots at home, there being three boys and one girl in need of a mother's care.

Yesterday the ladies would have been completely exhausted but for the fact that some kind people whose attention had been drawn to the case, sent a sack of flour and enough meat to last for a day or two.

Games From Hungary.

The Schaefer family came here from Hungary about three years ago. Until the time of his death Schaefer was employed in the North Pacific mill, near which the little home is located. The destitute condition of the family by a German resident here and attention of the Journal was drawn to the case had not been exaggerated.

A representative of The Journal called on Mrs. Schaefer yesterday afternoon, so the oldest of the children, a boy of 13, explained. He was taking care of the home, the family cow and the chickens.

Although having been in this country but three years, and having lived in a country of German-speaking people all of that time, the children speak English with the fluency of a native born and seem exceptionally bright and broad.

Eating on Coffee and Bread.

"We have been living on coffee and bread for some time," the little boy spoke frankly, "but will be all right now for a few days, because someone well I don't know exactly who did it, today sent out a sack of flour and another party sent out some meat. My mother is away working today and she'll be surprised when she gets home tonight to find the flour and meat."

"With a whole sack of flour, we'll have bread to last for some time, but we might need some clothes. I have enough but my brothers might be fixed up a little."

Here the young speaker brought forth the little chap who up to the time had kept in hiding on the kitchen porch on account of being so poorly clad. They said they would like to have shoes.

Those who reported the case to The Journal say that the city board of charities has been appealed to in vain and that assistance so far has come from kindhearted individuals.

Mrs. Schaefer's address is 618 Twenty-fifth and a half street, near Nicolai. The little house was built by Schaefer on a cleared ground so the rent is not a heavy burden.

CARRIERS GIVE THEATRE PARTY

It is safe to say that there will not be a disappointed person in the audience Thursday and Friday nights when the latter carriers give their theatre party at the Baker.

The play, "The Adorable Fritzie," is for laughing purposes only and while there are many beautiful musical numbers and specialties galore, the comedy idea is predominant.

M. Marks Jr., who has been seen many times in this city in various characterizations, will have a part entirely different from any other in which he has heretofore appeared, and yet as fitting to his personality as though it had been written for him. In the second act he will introduce an impersonation of Mr. Harry Lauder, the eminent Scotch comedian, during which he will sing "When Highland Mary Danced the Highland Fling" and "Arabia Arabia."

Miss DeBolt, the prima donna, has a voice of remarkable sweetness and purity combined with a power and flexibility that instantly wins the favor of her audiences.

Among the many whistly musical numbers to be presented are: "I Wonder Who Is Kissing Her," "Colon Town," "Delight," "Whistle If You Want Me," "Dear Little Girl in the Pond Are Not for Me," "My Guiding Star," and many others. Special scenery and electrical effects have been obtained and the costumes are beautiful and plentiful. Seats on sale at Rowe & Martin's, Sixth and Washington streets, Baker box office, or ask your carrier.

PROPER INSPECTION OF POLES LACKING

"Extreme negligence in permitting men to work on poles which have not been properly inspected for the purpose of determining their solidity"—this is what the Portland Railway, Light & Power company is guilty according to the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury at the investigation of the death of Charles D. Davis, the lineman killed in Sellwood, Monday, by the breaking and fall of a rotten pole.

A. O. Hale, who was injured at the same time, was represented at the inquest by Roger B. Sinnott, and interest was taken in the case by the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. It is very probable that suits will be instituted against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company.

BIG GAINS IN BUILDING COST

Building operations continue to show gains throughout the country. Of the larger cities, New York alone shows a decrease for June when compared with the same month in 1908. In a list of the leading 50 cities, Portland stands eighteenth, and shows a gain of 3 per cent.

The total volume of new construction authorized during June amounted to $57,514,974, while for the same month last year the aggregate cost of new buildings projected was $51,443,408, which is equal to a gain of 12 per cent. Of the larger cities included in the list, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Pittsburg show the largest gains, the per cent of increase amounting to about 150 in each case.

Pacific Coast Cities Show Increase.

The Pacific coast cities make an excellent showing, increases being recorded in all the larger coast cities with the single exception of Sacramento, where a slight decrease is shown.

PASSED BAD COIN LINGERS IN JAIL

Floyd W. Avery will have to linger in the county jail during the summer until the federal grand jury meets to consider his case unless he is able to secure bonds to the amount of $3000, because he gave John Wilson of Marshfield a bogus $10 piece. At the examination before Commissioner Marsh yesterday afternoon it was shown that Avery did not tender the piece in payment for anything received. He simply gave it to Wilson to pass along if he could. Wilson passed it to the authorities, and Avery was arrested upon reaching Portland on the steamer Breakwater from Marshfield.

Attorney Seneca Fouts made a strong plea for Avery, saying that even Wilson admitted that he was not in any way defrauded by the transaction. Avery has a wife and child to support, and Fouts thought it an injustice to hold him. The bogus coin was of very poor make.

RETAIL GROCERS ON EXCURSION

Tomorrow there will be a big time at La Camas. The charming little town up the Columbia river will be owned, run and operated by the Portland Retail Grocers' association, which selected La Camas this year for its annual picnic.

The affair will be so elaborate that the people of La Camas will never forget it, and those who attend will never regret having taken the time to do so. A special train will leave Portland union depot at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and it is expected to go out with every sack occupied.

The grocers have the reputation for doing things right when they once start out, and tomorrow they have made up their minds to do their level best. Nothing will be spared to give everybody a fine time. There will be games, sports, music, dancing and every imaginable form of amusement, so that one who does not take interest in one thing can turn to something else to his heart's content and have the time of his life.

Besides, it is said, the trip across the big river over the biggest railroad aqueduct in the world is worth more than the picnic grounds in the beautiful and romantic city of Camas.

The grocers look for a record breaking crowd tomorrow, and have prepared to handle them in a way that will be sure to please.

All retail grocery stores will be closed all day tomorrow. In order to accommodate patrons an arrangement has been made to keep stores open until a late hour tonight.
