Rice Fields Have Been Devastated, Houses Unroofed, Railroad Tracks and Bridges Washed Away by Three Hurricanes.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Houston, Texas, July 23.—Reports received at noon today indicate that the total deaths in southern Texas as the result of the storm were 26. The property loss, as estimated now, is $3,000,000. Details are meager.

WIRE PROSTRATED BY HEAVY WINDS; ALL ALONG COAST

(United Press Leased Wire.) Houston, Texas, July 23.—Fourteen persons are known to be dead, a dozen towns are wrecked and millions of dollars worth of property damage is reported as the result of the three hurricanes which have swept through southern Texas in the past two days. Rice fields were destroyed, trees uprooted, houses unroofed, railroad tracks washed away and telegraph and telephone lines wrecked by the storm.

Communication with the surrounding country is disrupted. The water is so muddy that meager reports received indicate that the death list may be greatly increased when further advices reach here.

LAL DHINGRA

His, and his assassination has awakened terror in the hearts of other Indian officials. Extraordinary precautions have been taken against the possibility of further assassinations. The prompt conviction and sentence of Dhangra is taken to indicate that the British government has decided to take a more vigorous line down the revolutionary movement which has been fomenting in India for years.

KRISHNAVARMA AND HIS PROPAGANDA OF VIOLENCE AND BLOOD

(United Press Leased Wire.) London, July 23.—India's revolutionists have begun including the assassination of prominent Londoners in the campaign they are waging for the liberation of their country from British rule. England has awakened to a lively interest in the activities of the savant, the avowed head of the Hindu terrorist movement.

There has been no doubt for months that a widespread movement for progress throughout India for fighting English domination by the extermination of the English official and administration of the dependency. The conspirators have done their work with a thoroughness which has long been a source of the keenest anxiety and alarm to Britons actually living in the east.

Carrying the War Into London. The scene of the troubles has been so distant from them, however, that stay-at-home Englishmen have hitherto failed to realize the seriousness of the situation. The Hindu terrorists evidently appreciate the advantages of extending their campaign to London itself.

Their first step was the assassination of Sir William Wylie, personal secretary to Lord Morley, secretary for India, by the Hindu student, Madar Lal Dhangra. Small doubt is felt by officials in touch with Hindu circles that more murders will follow, probably with increasing frequency, as the revolutionists perfect their European organization.

Certainly the terrorists have not been disappointed in their hope that the inauguration of an assassination program in London would frighten the stay-at-home British capital. It is literally in a panic. Every possible precaution is naturally being taken to protect public men from violence, but their number is so considerable in London and the Hindu population of the city is also so large and so easy to lead, under English conditions, that it would be assessing to reach their victims, that no safeguard the authorities may adopt is likely to be very effective.

No Evidence Against Krishnavarma. Shyamaji Krishnavarma denies that he is acquainted with Madar Lal Dhangra and the authorities have no evidence that he had any preknowledge of the plot to murder Sir Curzon Wylie, the Hindu leader who makes the secret of the fact, however, that he believes in political murder and that he considers it necessary in India's struggle against England. He specifically claims credit for organizing a revolutionary group among his countrymen living in London and encourages them through the columns of the "Indian Sociologist," a paper he edits from Paris, but issues from the headquarters of a British publishing house.

Stung Out of England. Krishnavarma himself is a rich man. He was educated in England, graduated as an English barrister and a member, until expelled for his radical views, of the famous legal society of the Middle Temple. After leaving London for an Indian organization said to be known as the "Sons of Siva," the Hindu god of destruction, he took up residence in Paris, as the safest place from which to conduct operations against the British.

ACUTE DISEASES LEAVE THE BLOOD THIN AND WEAK

The Tonic Treatment Which Cured This Hartford Man Is Showing Remarkable Results in Such Cases.

When the body becomes run down, either as a result of overwork, worry or a severe illness, an examination of the blood will show it to be weak and watery. This condition is called anaemia, which is the medical term for "bloodless." The common symptoms are paleness of the lips, gums and cheeks, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart after the least exertion, dull eyes and loss of appetite. Anaemia is a dangerous disease and it may gradually pass into consumption. It must be cured by treating its cause, which is the poor condition of the blood. The vital fluid must be made strong and healthy thereby enabling it to carry the necessary nourishment to every tissue of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest builder of rich, new blood and they have been curing anaemia and other blood diseases for nearly a generation, during which time they have come to be recognized as an invaluable household remedy. The statement of Mrs. W. W. W. of No. 71 Asylum street, Hartford, Conn., shows how these pills cure cases that stubbornly resist ordinary methods of treatment. Her story is as follows:

"A few years ago after an attack of pneumonia, I was greatly run down and did not regain my strength with the help of the doctor's medicine. I was short of breath and my heart pained me upon any exertion. I had constant throbbing headaches and was so nervous that I could not sleep well. What little sleep I did get did not refresh me. I had no life or energy.

"I had read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. A few boxes helped me and in a short time I was entirely restored to health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a good tonic and I can heartily recommend them."

A booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," showing what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished in many severe disorders will be sent free on request. These pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

the emancipation of India much sooner," he told a recent interviewer, "but for one fact, I regarded Herbert Spencer as my teacher. Had I organized openly for India's freedom during his lifetime it would have been said that his teachings were responsible, and much unpleasantness might have attended his old age in consequence. Almost immediately after his death I laid my plans."

FIGHT IMPENDS TO MAKE WHITMAN DRY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pullman, Wash., July 23.—A red hot campaign to make Whitman county a "dry" zone, is to be launched by the Whitman County Civic league, of which Rev. M. H. Marvin of Pullman is president. Today Rev. Mr. Marvin issued a call for a mass meeting of temperance people at Garfield on Thursday, July 29, for the purpose of forming plans for the campaign. It is planned to make definite arrangements to hold elections in every incorporated town in Whitman county, of which there are 13, all elections to be held on the same day, probably early in October. Senator R. C. McCroskey of Garfield, the bonanza wheat farmer, banker and temperance worker, is one of the leaders of the movement. Garfield has been dry since 1883 and is among the most prosperous towns of Whitman county. The other towns in Whitman county are: Pullman, Palouse, Garfield, Okesdale, Rosalia, Tekoa, Farmington, Elberton, Colfax, Endicott, Stites, Colton and Uniontown. Of these Garfield, Pullman, Okesdale, Farmington, St. John and Elberton are already dry but elections will be held in them at the time they are held in the other towns and the question of the dry question for two of the municipal elections held every December.

FINED FOR TRYING TO END HIS LIFE

Blue heard shouting and cursing and on investigation found a man 60 years of age on the bridge. When the patrolman approached he was detained and a call was sent for the patrol wagon. While waiting for the patrol wagon, Wright made another attempt and this time was overpowered. A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against him and he was fined $10 in police court by Judge Bennett.

PALOUSE COUNCIL IN BITTER FIGHT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Colfax, Wash., July 23.—The fight between City Marshal Hopkins of Palouse and Deputy City Marshal James Preston, which has been setting the town by the ears for the last month, came to a climax at the council meeting last night, and as a result Preston has resigned and gone to Pomeroy, where he has accepted a position as salesman in a clothing store, and Hopkins stands in hourly expectation of being deposed by the council. At the council meeting a motion was made to remove Hopkins and Preston. The motion was seconded, but Mayor Farnsworth refused to take action. A lively fight occurred between the mayor and some of the councilmen in which some bitter accusations were made against the mayor. Preston then tendered his resignation and it was accepted.

FATAL RESULT OF SHAM BATTLE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., July 23.—Joseph Morningway, a member of the state militia, whose home was at Everett, Wash., was killed here yesterday while participating in a sham battle between 100 members of the Improved Order of Red Men and an equal number of state militiamen. The imitation battle was a part of the festivities of Red Men's day at the fair and every one was cautioned to be extremely careful in the matter of using only blank cartridges. In the height of the battle Morningway fell bleeding from a wound in the abdomen. He died in about an hour. Upon examination the attending physician said that Morningway had not been shot by a bullet, but that the wound was made by a blank cartridge which had penetrated his abdomen and exploded after entering. These wounds are shaped like steel bullets and are filled with powder to explode them as soon as they leave the muzzle of the rifle, in order to prevent them from being carried far. They are considered dangerous within 10 feet. From the powder marks upon Morningway's body it is believed that he must have been within three or four feet of the muzzle of the rifle when it was fired.
