

TROOPS DRILL AT CLACKAMAS

Last Maneuvers of National Guard Show Fine Record of Efficiency.

Colonel James Jackson, inspector general, Oregon National Guard, inspected the Fourth Infantry at Camp Benson this morning, where the guardmen are now having their annual encampment. Following the inspection, the regiment was mustered and reviewed by Colonel Yoran, commanding officer at Camp Benson. Upon the occasion of the review and inspection, the two battalions were given further practice in field maneuvers.

Colonel Yoran issued an order today directing that camp be broken tomorrow morning, when the various companies will proceed to their home stations.

Practically all of yesterday was consumed in an extended field maneuver in which both battalions participated. In a 10 mile march a complete reconnoissance of the territory surrounding Clackamas station was made by the armed force, and so thorough was its work that not a single tactical error was made during the seven hours' maneuver. Maps of the entire district over which the maneuver extended had been prepared under the direction of Colonel Yoran and the battalion officers were as a consequence enabled to supply full information regarding the entire district and its advantages for offensive and defensive movements.

Before the retiring army is expected, the regimental commander outlined the following general situation to the battalion commanders:

"A victorious army is moving from the north against an army which has been driven south of the Columbia river. The retreating army is expected to hold Portland strongly and offer the greatest possible resistance to crossing the Columbia. The commander of the pursuing commander are aroused by the evacuation of Portland with little resistance. His advance guard, consisting of a brigade whose reserve is several miles south of Portland, is proceeding very cautiously when information is received that the enemy is attempting a flanking movement. The Fourth Infantry, which is occupying the advance line, is ordered to proceed further at present, other elements having been sent to reconnoiter to the east and west."

Major Hamlin's column struck out for the territory west and south from the camp grounds, while the commander of Major Hammond proceeded to the east and south.

Upon the return of the reconnoitering forces in the afternoon, Colonel Yoran complimented the officers and men upon the thoroughness with which the maneuver had been executed.

GREAT NUMBER OF TOURISTS IN CITY

Unprecedented in the history of the Portland postoffice has been the call for mail at the general delivery windows during the last few days, showing, according to postoffice authorities, the fact that more transients are visiting Portland this summer than ever before.

Although the postal authorities have no way of estimating in numbers the amount of calls being made for mail at the general delivery windows, they point out that during the last few days, and especially the last few weeks, facilities for handling the vast amount of mail going out have not been adequate.

During nearly all parts of the day and on many evenings until the windows have been closed, lines of people have been almost continually waiting for mail. The great majority of those calling are transients and tourists. General delivery clerks are being worked as never before in the history of the Portland postoffice. They estimate that they are handling at least twice as much mail as usual.

PERSONAL

The condition of Charles Rogers, telegraph editor of the Evening Telegram, who lies in a critical condition at the St. Vincent's hospital, remains unchanged. The patient is said to have had a fairly comfortable night last night, but he still is a very sick man and his condition is regarded as extremely grave.

Morris A. Sachs, a prominent business man of the city, accompanied by his wife, have been stopping recently at the Northtonia.

E. L. Lusk of St. Paul, who has come to Oregon to open a hotel at Sutherland, is now in Portland. He is at the Northtonia.

D. H. Hart, proprietor of the Notch house and the Roslyn, two Los Angeles hotels, accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murger of San Francisco, are at the Cornellus en route for Seattle.

Despite his fearful injuries, F. A. Rosenkrans, who suffered a crushed pelvis in an automobile accident Sunday night, is making a great fight for life at the Good Samaritan hospital. He is by no means out of danger now, in fact, critically ill, and while no great hope is being held for his recovery, the physicians attending the case state that he could be expected and say that he has a slight chance of pulling through.

It may be a good plan for some people to go without breakfast—that's a matter for each to decide for himself. But the average individual will "be on time to breakfast" with a keen appetite, too—when he looks forward to Post Toasties with cream or fruit.

HEAD OF BIG LEAGUE IS DEAD

been acting president and probably will be elected president.

Pulliam's Career.
Pulliam started his baseball career in Louisville, Ky., about 30 years ago. His first connection with the game was as a baseball reporter for one of the Louisville dailies. In this capacity he became acquainted with Barney Dreyfus, then owner of the Louisville club, who took a liking to the young writer and appointed him manager of the team. Dreyfus acquired the Pittsburgh franchise he took Pulliam to the smoky city and placed him in charge of the team. Pulliam held the reins for one season and when Nick Young was retired from the presidency of the league, Pulliam was elected as his successor.

Ewing Says Health Bad.
(United Press Special Wire.)
San Francisco, July 28.—J. Cal Ewing, president of the Coast league, was shocked when informed today of the tragic end of Harry Pulliam. Ewing and Pulliam were intimate friends, the friendship dating back several years.

"While I knew that Pulliam was in a bad mental and physical state, I did not expect that he would end his own life. For two or three years his health has been bad and the affairs of the National league, which in one instance nearly reached the point of open rupture, bore on him heavily. He was highly sensitive and could not stand criticism, but withal he was scrupulously honest."

JUDGE M'CREIDIE PAYS TRIBUTE TO HARRY PULLIAM

"The tragic death of Harry Pulliam removes one of the most splendid characters in the baseball world," said Judge W. W. McCreidie this morning, when the news of the suicide was conveyed to him. He met Pulliam at a number of baseball meetings in the east and he was a fine, big, broadminded fellow. He was a born diplomat and smoothed out hundreds of little differences among the league magnates that the public never knew of. He was loved by all the baseball men, and his death is a sad blow to lovers of the great national game."

BEAUTIFUL JEWELS GIVEN TO MASONS

Members of Washington council, Royal and Select Masons, No. 3, tendered a reception last night in their new east side hall to their living past illustrious grand masters of the grand council of Oregon. The feature of the occasion was the presentation to each of the illustrious grand masters of a beautiful jewel on behalf of the council, by Seth L. Pope, grand recording secretary.

The following distinguished guests were present: Judge Samuel Bullock, illustrious grand commander for 1888; Companion Ana L. Taylor, 1894; Companion Thomas M. Hurlbut, 1897; Companion A. L. Rumsey, 1901; Companion J. M. Hodson, 1902; Companion Penumbra Kelly, 1902; Companion William A. Hempsey, 1902; Companion Horatio H. Parker, 1907.

An interesting number on the program was the rendition of the cheerleader song by Judge Bullock, who has been a member of the Masonic order for more than 50 years.

Following the presentation of the jewels a banquet was served, illustrious Commander Harrington presiding as toastmaster.

PEOPLE SQUEAL WHEN LITTLE PIGS PASS BY

"Pigs is pigs," sighed the residents of South Fourteenth street last evening when about 150 pigs were driven through their otherwise quiet and respectable street at the most delightful hour of the day.

There were black pigs and white pigs, red pigs and spotted pigs, but not a blind pig in the herd.

They came in solid phalanx with no one to say them nay. They filled the street, they overflowed onto the sidewalks, they invaded the lawns while the human population scattered to porches, steps or any other available place of safety.

The usual small boys and fox terriers brought up the rear as the procession, with varied and various grunts and squeals of protest at undue haste, meant to force its way to the S. & S. slaughter house, leaving behind the gentle aroma of—pigs.

AT THE THEATRES

Laughable Ornets.
Cruet and Cruet have the funniest blackface act that has been seen at the Grand this summer. It is one long scream. These two artists are appearing in a clean, bright sketch.

Donastelli Triumphant.
Large crowds every day greet Donastelli's famous Italian band at the Oaks where he still continues to grow more popular with each concert. The Oaks is very inviting these warm days.

Mr. Litchfield Is at Pantages.
The very cleverest of rural comedies "Tops on Top" to the Lyric this week and see "Hurty Hurty" in a new venture of mirth and melody through which the fun flows fast.

Blackface Fun.
When Gruet and Gruet do their fooling in "Sam's Substitute" at the Grand every one has to laugh. Of all the blackface acts here in the city there is no other which has made a better impression.

Eleanor Gordon at Orpheum.
"Tops on Top" has made a big hit at the Orpheum this week. This little skit is admirably adapted to Miss Gordon's superb personality in a most emotional actress.

Oaks Law to Aid—M. McMillan, proprietor of poolroom at Grand avenue and East Morrison streets, was arrested last evening by Patrolman Sherwood on a charge of allowing minors in a poolroom. The boys in question are both years old. Mr. McMillan was admitted to court through Attorney Westbrook, and will try out the case on a point of law. The case has been set for hearing for August 2.

RED MEN PLAN TO BUILD A HOME

Great Council Installs New Officers and Commences Building Project.

With the installation of newly elected officers, the great council of the improved order of Red Men, reservation of Oregon, in session for the last two days at the Red Men's viewman in the Selling-Hirsch building, closed last night. Little of importance was done at the session, Wednesday, with the exception of the appointment of a committee to select a site for a Red Men's home for the aged and feeble care building, work upon which will be started at once, will probably cost about $75,000.

Great Sachem, W. L. Little, Oregon City; great senior sagma, A. L. Curry, Baker City; great junior sagma, Dr. F. H. Vinell, Roseburg; great prophet, F. H. Fitzgerald, Medford; great chief of records, F. H. Saylor, Portland; great keeper of wampum, J. A. Devlin, Pendleton.

Past Great Sachem Fitzgerald, of Medford, Or., was elected grand representative to the national council of the Red Men, to be held in Detroit, Mich., in September.

UNION AVENUE CAR INJURES FINE HORSE

A Union avenue streetcar, car No. 235, struck a fine team of horses hitched to a lumber wagon on Second street between Oak and Stark streets at 8:30 this morning, and in addition to damaging the wagon, scratched one of the horses and probably injured the animal seriously. The team was being driven south along the west side of Second street by J. M. Dillery, a driver for the Banfill-Vesey Fuel company, when a car came along the west track in a northerly direction and struck the horses, throwing one of the horses entirely over the wagon pole before the team was thrown to the pavement.

The driver states that he did all in his power to avoid the accident, and as he was on the right side of the street, he says he could not avoid the car, which came toward him on the wrong side. The motorman states that he threw on the reverse, but was unable to stop the car, which instead of stopping at the reverse, seemed to plunge ahead.
