Mother of Girl Who Met Death on Bay at Tacoma Points Out Contradictions in Youth's Story—Investigation is Continued.

Word has been received by Major J. F. McIndoe, in charge of the corps of engineers, U. S. A., thirteenth district, that Brigadier General W. L. Marshall, chief of engineers, United States army, will arrive here on Wednesday from Seattle, and while here he will inspect the work on the bay at the mouth of the Columbia river, and also the Dalles-Celilo canal.

When asked whether General Marshall would go to Big Eddy to look over the ground where improvements have been made, Major McIndoe said that he would only remain here long enough to inspect the jetty and the Dalles-Celilo canal, as this is only a tour of general inspection and only included work which is under way.

"Specifications have been submitted, however," said Major McIndoe, "for the removal of rock in one place immediately below Big Eddy, and in two places near Covington Point, and bids will be advertised for as soon as the specifications have been approved."

In regard to the report which was called for by congress last March in respect to the feasibility of a boat canal in the Klamath country, Major McIndoe said that one of his assistants, Gen. Shuler, had made a survey and turned in a report, but that report had not as yet been submitted and probably would not be for some time.

After finishing his inspection here, General Marshall will go to San Francisco, where he will look into government engineering works which are in progress there.

WILL GO TO ALASKA Commander Ellicott Leaves Tomorrow on Armeria.

Commander J. M. Ellicott, inspector of the Thirteenth district, expects to leave Seattle tomorrow on his regular summer inspection of the stations of Alaska.

He will leave Seattle, accompanied by his family, on the lighthouse tender Armeria for Tree Point in southeastern Alaska, which is the first station on the west coast and up to Nome if practicable.

There are supposed to be four inspections a year of all stations, but of course it is impossible to make so many. This year, however, he is called the regular summer inspection. There are 12 light stations in Alaska, and he is expected to complete the inspection in about six weeks.

Dr. Henry E. Prichett, civilian member of the lighthouse board, returned from a trip of inspection there recently, the object of his trip being to look into the question of aids to navigation, and it is possible that there may be several new additions made there in the near future.

WILL CARRY GRAIN French Bark Emilie Siegfried Coming for Balfour, Guthrie & Co.

In ballast, the French bark Emilie Siegfried, cleared yesterday at San Francisco for Portland to take out a cargo of grain for Balfour, Guthrie & Co.

She has been lying at San Francisco for some time waiting for a cargo, and was recently chartered by the Balfour people to carry grain to United Kingdom ports. She is a larger vessel than is usually found among that type, her capacity is about 45,000 tons of grain.

Another recent charter is the German ship Tarpanbek, which is at Port Townsend. She is a vessel of 1767 tons net register, and has been taken by the Pacific Flour mills for new wood loading. She will load about 2000 tons of grain, probably at Seattle, for United Kingdom ports. She was chartered at the regular rate. The steamer Hilda, which brought coal for the government from Newport News to Puget sound, has also been chartered to take lumber to China, probably from Seattle. The amount of tonnage bound for this port is estimated at 100,000 tons, and it is expected that a great deal more will be on the way very shortly.

RUN MORE FREQUENTLY Fleet of Associated Oil Company to Come Offener.

From now on the ships of the Associated Oil company's fleet will run between San Francisco and this port more frequently than they have in the past, according to a statement made yesterday by A. D. Parker, agent of the company in this city.

Rapid increase in the oil business in the region adjacent to this and the other vessels of the fleet will come here much oftener than they ever have before. The reason for this is that the company, which was recently chartered by the O. R. & N. at Meacham Creek in the Blue mountains of Oregon. When Mr. Wilkey walked into the office, Captain Edwards says that he did not know him until he spoke, but that when he heard his voice, even after a lapse of these years, he knew him immediately.

Mr. Wilkey, who has his family with him, will remain in the city for several days.

For the first time in 25 years Henry Wilkey of Coos Bay, Cal., and Captain E. S. Edwards, local inspector of the port, met when the former walked into the office of the latter yesterday.

Mr. Wilkey had been here a couple of days before he was aware that Captain Edwards was in town, when he immediately proceeded to find him, and renew the friendship of 25 years ago, when they were both on the construction of the O. R. & N. at Meacham Creek in the Blue mountains of Oregon.

When Mr. Wilkey walked into the office, Captain Edwards says that he did not know him until he spoke, but that when he heard his voice, even after a lapse of these years, he knew him immediately.

LACK OF MEN IS DELAYING WORK Railroad Contractor Complains That Sufficient Laborers Can Not Be Had.

Railroad construction enterprises in Oregon face a serious situation due to the scarcity of workmen. Work which would otherwise be pushed to a speedy completion may be indefinitely held up because men to handle the shovel or wield the pick cannot be found.

"We can use every laborer who comes to us regardless of numbers," declared L. B. Wickersham, chief engineer of the United Railways this morning.

"We are rushing our work," he added, "into the valley from Burlington. Two new passenger cars and freight equipment will be received within the next few days.

With here a year's construction work laid out but we will be in a serious position if we don't get help. Men who want a job can come to us here or on the works and we will take care of them all. One reason for the scarcity of men is the number being used in Deschutes canyon yet I have reliable information that the contractors there are not able to get near the number of laborers that they need."

JUDGE BRONAUH SENTENCES Roung Men Accused of Various Crimes.

Earl Callender, a 14-year-old boy implicated with four older youths in the production of a Salome dance back of the theatre in Arleta, was sentenced to the reform school by Judge Bronaugh in the juvenile court this morning, but his sentence was suspended during good behavior. The others implicated have been held for trial in the circuit court.

William Fink, who was held on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, also 16 years of age, was dealt with in the same way.

Ralph Scott of 830 Emerson street, 16 years of age, was before Judge Bronaugh for the third time in 60 days, this time charged with assault and battery on John Kildoe, 17 years old. He admitted the charge and explained that he had stolen from Kildoe, but was sentenced to the reformatory, but given another chance under suspended sentence.

A runaway from Victoria, Glenroy Clunes, alias Roy McLeod, was bound over to the grand jury on the charge of stealing two suits and two vests from a store in 122 North Main street. He is 18 years old and is said to have served two terms in a British Columbia penitentiary.

Dan Tarnasky, implicated with Clunes, admitted the charge and made a confession. He was sentenced to the reformatory, but given another chance under suspended sentence. He and Clunes are each 14 years of age.

HOLLY MEN IN HANDS OF POLICE Two ex-Convicts Confess to Series of Robberies Committed in Portland.

Andrew F. Morok and Harry Mitchell, the two ex-convicts who were returned here from Tacoma by Detectives Price and Snow last night, this morning waived preliminary examination in the municipal court and were bound over to the grand jury. No bail was fixed by Judge Bennett as the two men said they would be unable to furnish bail in any amount.

BRIDEGROOM NOW SAYS HE WAS TOO YOUNG TO MARRY, ANYWAY.

Asserting that he was under 18 years of age when married and therefore too young to be bound by it, George W. Temple has begun suit in the circuit court for divorce from Ollie May Temple. In another part of his complaint, however, he states that he became 21 years of age on November 14, 1908, and by this statement he would have been almost 19 years old when he was married on August 8, 1906.

This discrepancy probably will not interfere with his securing a divorce, as he also charges desertion. He says his wife left him soon after they were married and he has heard that she went to Jefferson City, Mo. They were married at Delphi, La.

Mrs. Delphi Ross wants to be separated from D. A. Ross on allegations that he choked her, used abusive language, and made unfounded charges against her. They were married in Baker City in October, 1897.

SAYS ROBINSON TOOK HIS CAT Clarence Price Charges Husband of Housekeeper With Crime of Burglary.

A warrant was issued this morning for the arrest of Frank Robinson, who is charged with breaking into the home of his wife, Mrs. S. E. Robinson, at 281 Holladay avenue, from whom he is separated but not divorced, and robbing a roomer, Clarence Price, of an overcoat, suit of clothing and other articles of wearing apparel. Robinson is charged with burglary, on complaint of Price.

It appears that the Robinsons have never been divorced. Price engaged Mrs. Robinson as his housekeeper, and claims that he has been the subject of threats, occasioned by jealousy on the part of Robinson. He states that the man only last night threatened to shoot him on sight, and has a letter in which the same threat has been made.

East Wednesday evening, Price alleges, Robinson entered his room and took the clothing. Last evening Price appealed to the police for protection, and kept an officer at the house to save him from Robinson, whom he claimed was at that time lying in wait for him with a gun.

CHRIST PLACOS WAS FILLED WITH ARDOR

For an alleged violation of the master's ordinance Christ Placos, a bootblack with a stand at Sixth and Washington streets, was arrested this morning on complaint of Myrtle Wilson. Miss Wilson is a pretty young girl of 16 years of age who lives at 970 Powell street.

She states that about a week ago Placos accosted her as she passed the stand, first bowing to her and later making the remark, "I love you. To that she states she remarked, "I can't help it," and passed on. The next time she passed there she says the man followed her and ever since then has kept up his annoying attentions. As she had to pass the corner of Sixth and Washington streets frequently she decided that the only way to rid herself of the man's attentions were to file a complaint, which she did this morning.

WHITNEY AGAIN UNDER ARREST

Dr. G. B. Whitney, who after having been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on a charge of giving Miss Mabel Wirtz mercurial poison, causing her death, and then being released by Judge Gatens of the circuit court Friday on an application for habeas corpus, did not enjoy freedom many hours. Judge Gatens gave his order freeing Whitney because the supreme court issued a mandate to the effect that the lower court erred in not sustaining a demurrer to the original indictment of manslaughter. The higher body recalled its mandate this morning and Judge Gatens issued a bench warrant for Whitney.

The district attorney will apply for a modification of the penitentiary sentence and ask the next grand jury to re-indict Whitney on the charge of manslaughter.

BROTHER AND SISTER REMEMBERED IN WILL

Elisa Isabel Giese's will, disposing of property valued at $9000, was admitted to probate by Judge Webster in the county court this morning. To A. W. Giese of Portland she gives $1000, to A. C. Giese of Gresham her half interest in a portion of the Giese donation land claim and to Percy Giese of Portland her interest in two lots in Portland, nearly all her personal property and makes her residuary legatees.

The legatees are her brothers and sister. Feeling that A. W. Giese, because of his independent circumstances, may not wish to accept the $1000 given him by the will, it is provided that if he does not accept the gift within three years it shall go to the old ladies' home. The personal property belonging to the estate is valued at $3000. Percy Giese has been appointed executor of the will.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, July 31.—The total attendance at the exposition passed the million and a half mark today. The attendance of 550,000 in June was increased to more than 850,000 for July. The total receipts of the Pay-Streak attractions since June 1 is $497,000, of which $200,000 was June business.

PAYNE'S OPINION OF THE TAXES

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, July 31.—The source of his remarks in the house today, Representative Payne said: "We have no use for an income tax, and the only use we have for a corporation tax is that it affords a means of getting rid of an unconstitutional income tax."

SUPREME COURT RECALLS Mandate and Young Dentist Taken to Jail.

Dr. G. B. SONS' QUARREL GETS FATHERS IN TROUBLE

Paul Bronzel, proprietor of a feed store on the East Side, was fined $20 on a charge of assault and battery by Judge Bennett this morning. In passing sentence Judge Bennett remarked that if prize fights were to be conducted in Portland he thought them worth a $20 license at least. Bronzel was arrested on complaint of W. D. Combs, who alleges that Bronzel had struck him in the face.

The trouble arose over a dispute between the sons of the two men. Young Combs, who drives a street sprinkling wagon, drove across the Bronzel property and became engaged in an argument with young Bronzel. Combs was then sent to Bronzel's house, was ordered off the premises and was struck, according to his story, before he had a chance to obey.

SUNDAY DANCING IS UNPLEASANT TO COX

In a communication to the mayor and city council filed in the city auditor's office this morning, Chief of Police A. M. Cox recommends the passage of an amendment to the city ordinance regulating dance halls so that dancing in these places will be prohibited on Sunday.

Chief Cox says the dancing pavilions and halls both in the suburbs and the downtown district have become a source of great unpleasantness to residents of flats and dwellings, and that the resorts are frequented by a large number of young girls and rowdies, necessitating the stationing of police officers in close proximity to quell disturbances.

If you want a banded, costly looking cigar— if you insist on ornamented boxes and don't care what you pay for a lot of ornamental fandangoes—you won't buy Cobs. They're too rough—too cheap looking—the packages are too ugly—the box is too common. Cobs are made of well ripened Havana. Cobs don't pretend to be fancy—they're the crudest of all cigars. But what they lack in appearance they more than make up in quality—and in value, and in aroma, and in smoothness, and in taste. Just because everything else but the cigar has been economized on down to the mill—Cobs don't have to be. They can be sold nine for 15 cents and be made of the same leaf as the best 10 cent Havana cigar. Not for men who want to economize or who have to—but for all men who want the best smoke. FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

(Special Dispatch to the Journal.)

Tacoma, July 31.—Although Captain of Detectives Fitzgerald, after a final trip of investigation to the scene of Sunday's tragedy yesterday afternoon, declares his belief in the innocence of John Flynn of any blame for the death of Margaret Cuveau, he is still convinced that the tragedy happened by drowning while out rowing with Flynn, the prosecuting attorney's department is not inclined to drop the matter, and Ralph Woods, deputy prosecutor, announced his intention this morning of making another trip to the bay to clear up, if possible, certain points in regard to the case which seem peculiar to him and call urgently for explanation.

Flynn himself and several newspaper representatives accompanied Captain Fitzgerald on his trip to the bay yesterday afternoon. The young man against whom suspicion has been aroused since the tragedy happened took the party to the spot on the mud flats where he says he dragged the body of the dead girl ashore. He pointed out the route he says he took when summoning help.

Statements made to the police captain and to the Journal correspondent on the trip yesterday by Mrs. J. A. Deuser and Mrs. John Muntz, who occupy adjacent cottages just south of "Dad" Adams' place, where the party of pickers held forth on the fatal day, tend to give a somewhat new aspect to the case and show that in some minor parts of his story, at least, Flynn has not told the whole truth.

New Facts Brought Out

While summoning assistance, after dragging the body ashore, Flynn passed by both the Deuser and Muntz places, and was questioned by Mrs. Deuser and Mrs. Muntz as to what had happened.

Both these women stated that there had been much drinking going on at "Dad" Adams' place Sunday, and this is corroborated by "Dad" himself, who admits being intoxicated most of the day, and said yesterday that he had given Flynn a drink of whisky immediately preceding the fatal rowing expedition with the girl.

Jimmy Stanley of Oldtown and Jimmie Gillespie of the launch which brought Flynn back from the Haggis Box company, where he had gone to telephone following the tragedy, after he had got back to his place, state that Flynn was then much under the influence of liquor and made his boasts that if any one accused him of having a hand in the drowning it would go hard with them.

Flynn on the witness stand at the inquest said he had had no drink from Sunday morning till after the death of Miss Cuveau, but "Dad" Adams' statements contradict that.

The torn undergarment is one of the most damaging bits of circumstantial evidence against Flynn. And this, together with other facts, will prolong the investigation, it is thought, indefinitely.

VICE CONSUL SHOT BY A HIGH BINDER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, July 31.—Dr. L. Wing, 48 years of age, Chinese vice consul at New York, was shot and seriously if not fatally wounded this afternoon by an unidentified Chinese, who is under arrest.

The shooting occurred as the vice consul was emerging from the consulate. Dr. Wing was in a semi-conscious condition when removed to the hospital. He said he did not know his assailant. He told a doctor at the hospital that the shooting was the result of a triviality.

The bullet entered Dr. Wing's left lung and may prove fatal. The vice consul is a graduate of Yale.
