WIFE MAY HAVE KILLED HUSBAND

Circumstantial Evidence in Supposed Double Suicide Might Spell Murder.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Aug. 3.—Two silver spoons, encrusted with cyanide of potassium crystals, a half eaten cantaloupe, in which another crystal flecked spoon was stuck, and the young wife's repeated assertion that she would never live without her husband, are the links in a chain by which friends of W. H. Findley, supposed suicide, hope to prove that his death was not self-inflicted. Findley and his wife were found dead on the floor of their apartment, locked in each other's arms, late Saturday. The cantaloupe and the spoons stood on a table nearby. Many times during the last month the woman had been heard to affirm that she never would live without her husband, and Findley was known by his friends to be suffering from a malady that threatened him with death at any time. Though Coroner Hartwell refused to call a jury for the case, stating that a double suicide obviously had occurred, Dr. J. Berg who was called when the bodies were found, stated today that he would make a chemical analysis of the remainder of the half eaten melon. Mrs. Findley was seen to mail a letter at a corner post box a few hours before the lifeless bodies of the couple were found. This letter is thought to have been addressed to a sister in the east, and the police are of the opinion that it may throw some light on the tragedy.

Recipe for Managing Kusbendts. Pinned to the wall over a bed in Mrs. Findley's apartment was a typewritten slip bearing the following advice to wives, supposed to have been penned by the woman who stated that her husband was the sole reason she had for living, and that should he die she would follow him: When you marry, love him. After you marry him, study him. If he is generous, appreciate him. When he is sad, cheer him. When he is cross, amuse him. When he is quarrelsome, ignore him. When he is confidential, encourage him. If he is jealous, cure him. If he is noble, praise him. If he favors society, accompany him. If he has done you a favor, thank him. When he deserves it, kiss him. Let him think how well you understand him. But never let him know you manage him.

FLORENCE ROBERTS TO WED THURLOW BERGEN

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—Florence Roberts, the actress, is on her way today to her home, Morrison Manor, at Peckskill, N. Y., accompanied by Thurlow Bergen, her leading man, whose wife she will become shortly after their arrival. Roberts is the widow of Lewis Morrison. Bergen was divorced last September, his wife naming Miss Roberts as co-respondent. Mrs. Bergen, who was Miss Cora Farquhar of Massachusetts, made sensational allegations in her suit for divorce. Miss Roberts promptly and indignantly denied the charges and the sensation was allowed to die out. After 10 years of work a New York banker claims to have perfected a machine which will compute the interest on any sum for any number of days, months or years.

"L" MEN MAY JOIN IN STRIKE

Would Add 2500 to Surface Forces, and Tie Up Chicago.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Aug. 3.—A situation threatening to precipitate a great strike on the surface car lines of this city was made more desperate today when it was learned that the employees of all the elevated street railroads were contemplating a strike. The organization of the elevated railroad employees numbers 2500 men. This with the employees of the surface lines, would affect 12,100 in case of a walk-out. It is known that the elevated railroad men have been considering the question of wages and working conditions for some time and that there is considerable discontent among the men. The surface carmen are reported to be encouraging the "L" employees to strike in order to secure their aid. To this end the surface men are said to be fomenting the discontent of the elevated railroad employees.

SHINGLE WEAVERS PREPARING FOR GIGANTIC STRIKE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 3.—Shingle weavers of Puget sound are preparing for a gigantic strike in order to force the manufacturers to cease using the Simond saws in the mills, according to a statement issued by F. J. Cooley, special representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, who is in the city for the purpose of organizing a branch of the order here. Cooley declares the shingle weavers are planning an unjust move. Full particulars of the threatened strike have been wired to Simond and word has been received here that the manufacturer of the saws will apply for an injunction to prevent the boycott. The shingle weavers claim they are taking this action because Simond recently won his fight for an open shop in his big eastern plant.

BIG STEEL SAFE ON STRIKE AND BUSINESS WAITS

(United Press Leased Wire.) Ellensburg, Wash., Aug. 3.—With every important paper used in the transaction of city official business locked in the four ton steel safe in the city clerk's office, the combination refuses to work and as a consequence business in the office is at a standstill. The city council was unable to transact any business at its monthly meeting last night. The books and bills of the electric light collector are in the safe and work in that department is being held up. The monthly payroll and warrants are inaccessible. Every effort so far to open the safe has been unavailing and it is probable that the services of a "gentleman cracksmen" will be sought to effect an entrance.

"MOTHER" TO 17 ORPHAN CHILDREN

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Elsie Shaffell, of Moffitt, Col., probably holds the record for the number of orphan children she has mothered. She has taken 17 homeless children from orphan asylums and reared and educated them. Thirteen of them are grown and one is a student at Leland Stanford university. During all of her experience she has never needed the service of a physician. The last time Mrs. Shaffell took four children from an orphanage at one time and they were all members of the same family.

MONUMENT TO JAMES J. HILL

Railway Builders Eulogized by America, Canada and Japan.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Aug. 3.—The feature of Minnesota day at the exposition today will be unveiling, late this afternoon, of a monument to James J. Hill, the great railway builder. Because his life has touched three countries, the exercises will be international in character. Mr. Hill is a Canadian by birth, but is an American citizen, and largely through his influence the commerce of the United States was built with the Orient. Therefore Americans, Canadians and Japanese will take part in the exercises. Governor Johnson will pull the cord which will loose the covering of the bronze bust. The British flag will then be handed to Prime Minister Richard McBride, while the band plays "God Save the King." After the prime minister's address the Japanese flag will be handed to Japanese Consul T. Tanaka, while Japan's national air is played by the band. Following the consul's remarks the American flag will be passed to Governor Hay, who will deliver an address after the "Star Spangled Banner" has been played by the band. A reception will then be given at the Washington state building to Governor Johnson and his wife, Premier McBride of British Columbia and Mrs. McBride, Imperial Consul Tanaka and Mrs. Tanaka and the governor of Washington and Mrs. Hay.

ONE OF THE SMITHS IN SERIOUS TROUBLE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Aug. 3.—Arthur H. Smith Jr., alias H. J. Gould, who is variously stated to be a resident of Winnipeg, Duluth and Wetonka, Minn., and whose honeymoon was interrupted by Sheriff Hodges at Vancouver, B. C. is in jail here charged with grand larceny. Smith is stated to have arrived at Vancouver three weeks ago, borrowed $100 from a relative and hurried to Seattle to spend it. Here he fell in with Bert Plimmer, a chauffeur, the prosecuting witness in the case against him, who charges that after many riotous nights with Smith in the machine, the latter cashed a draft with him and received $197 in change that Plimmer now finds it impossible to recover. The young wife of Smith, who is an Idaho girl, is the daily caller at the jail. She met Smith two weeks ago in Seattle.

CELLULOID SHIRT FRONT BLOWS UP

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Aug. 3.—A shirt front of celluloid, a strong pipe, strong wind; explosion! And then the hospital for Frank Anderson of Emeryville. Such in brief is the history of a dicker worn by Anderson when he stepped on a Market street car last night bound for the amusements found on Rue de Fillmore. Immaculate, his shirt front glittering white, the owner of the dicker stood gloves in hand on the rear platform. Beside him lounged a bearded Irishman sucking hard on the abbreviated stem of a black clay pipe. Then the wind began to blow, likewise the sparks from the burning tobacco. They lodged against the shirt front and it too blew. The wind blew horizontally, the shirt blew up. Anderson was slightly burned and was treated at the hospital, after which he beat it for the nearest barber-dashery here he demanded first aid for the injured.

UNCLE JOE DODGES HIS OWN TARIFF

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Aug. 3.—That Uncle Joe Cannon wears underwear for which he expends not a cent more than a modest half dollar, is an incontrovertible fact that stands in the records of the house, and will go down to future generations. In debate on the floor yesterday Representative Sims of Tennessee made the startling revelation which may make the venerable speaker known to posterity as "Four Bit Joe" or "The Nether Garment Kid." "The honorable speaker and I were walking down the street recently," Sims declared, "and, passing a haberdashery, he announced that he had a purchase to make. I entered with him. An obliging clerk, recognizing his distinguished customer, asked his needs. "Underwear," growled the speaker. "When some fine garments quoted at $3.50 each were shown, the speaker confided to the clerk: "Too much, young man; I want something at 50 cents a throw." He got it."

ROCK ISLAND TO TEST MOTOR CARS

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The Rock Island system is preparing to undertake extensive experiments with the operation of passenger motor cars to demonstrate their capabilities for different kinds of services. An order has just been placed for a 55 foot gasoline car of the McKean type, which has been extensively used for branch line service by the Union Pacific, and tests will also be made with a gasoline-electric car, built by the General Electric company, which has been tested with unusually favorable results on several roads in the east. When these cars arrive the Rock Island will have six types of motor cars in service. Two Gas steam motor cars have been used in the southwest for more than a year, and two smaller gasoline cars, the Fairbanks-Morse and the Stover, have recently been tried on short lines. The McKean car, built entirely of steel with a pointed end to reduce wind resistance, was developed by W. R. McKean, former superintendent of motive power for the Union Pacific. This road has used about 300 of them during the last three years and there are no 22 railroads which operate or have placed orders for them. If practical experience bears out the claims made for the cars they will doubtless supplant the locomotive and train in various sections within a few years, either on branch lines or between stations on the main line where inter-urban competition is encountered. Washington Once Gave Up. To three doctors, was kept in bed for five weeks. Blood poison from a spider's bite caused large, deep sores to cover his leg. The doctors failed, then "Buckley's Arnica Salve" completely cured me. Write John Washington, of Bonaville, Texas. For acetone, borax, burns and piles it's supreme. 25c at Woodard, Clarke & Co.
