has been contended.

Throughout the battle Al Carson kept the base runners from the sunny south from running much, only one man getting past second and that when Henley reached the last sack on a mispley, where he died. The game was full of brilliant fielding work on both sides of the line and although there were only three lonesome runs made in the fifth inning it was a good game to watch. Zelder's spectacular catch of Speas foul in the seventh and Ort's double play, made all by himself in the same inning, were among the features of the game. Fisher demonstrated that he is the star of the Portland team by his fine work done behind the plate. It takes a good catcher to get the fast base runners of the San Francisco bunch at second but Fisher nabbed a sumber of them during the nine chapters of yesterday's story.

The balloon ascension commenced in the fifth inning, when Johnson was given a pass to first by Henley. Ort also drew four bad ones after nicking a number of good ones and established headquarters at the first rest room for a second or two. Breen tried to sacrifice but Henley wanted Johnson at third and gave him a clear line. Johnson beat it to the last station and filled the bases.

best it to the last station and filled the bases.

Carson put two big marks on the score sheet by boosting a hot one out between McArdle and Mohler, while Johnson and Ort stamped their monograms on the rubber.

Olson sacrificed by allowing Henley to hand his bunt to Williams before he could beet the bag. Breen and Carson going up a notch in the meantime. A passed ball scored Breen while Speas was at bat. Speas was hit by a pitched ball and wen to first. Ryan poked one out to Williams at first and went out. McCredie was handed four by Henley and went to first, filling the bags again, but Fisher was stopped at first, ending the home guard.

the Inning with three to the credit of the home guard.

That is the story of the game in brief, for never before nor after did any of the players on either side get close enough to the plate to see it with a field glass. The San Francisco team left last night for Los Angeles, but will break the trip by stopping at Hornbrook, where they will play an exhibition game with the local nine of that place. This ends the appearance of the Senia in Portland for the present season, yesterday being their last northern game this year. The score shows as follows:

McCredie's Beavers gnawed a hole in the fence that had been built earound them by Kid Mohier's Seals all during the past week and before the gap could be stupped three runs cozed through at the game yesterday afternoon, giving Portland the last victory of the series. In this way they demonstrated that Danny Long is not so much in the guessing line, for the week end found three games to the credit of each team instead of four for the Seals and two for the Beavers, as he had predicted.

The game yesterday afternoon was a good one, about the first time during the week that has passed that the local aggregation saw fit to put up any real ball for the loy of the hungry fans. Owing to the fact that they were playing some ball the decisions of the unpires did not seem to be so rotten as made in the last half opened. Then Mages was given four and went to first kelling and the last sack on a misplay, where he died. in 1812, and for nearly one month thousands of rifle experts, in teams or individually, will compete in a bloodless battle for supremacy. Several thousands of the contestants in the various events have already arrived here and are comfortably encamped in the tents provided by the state of Ohio.

The tournament which opened here this morning and which will include sixty matches, is the first annual tournament of the newly organized Department of the newly organized Department of Lakes Rifle association, including Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, and of the Ohio State Rifle association. Five of the events are matches open only to members of the Ohio national Guard. The other events of the Department of the Lakes Rifle association are open to members of the association as well as to members of the Ohio national guard. The tournament will conclude with the twenty seventh annual shoot of the National Rifle association, in which nearly every marksman of prominence in the country will participate.

This year's tournament is arousing unusual attention because of the new classification of the teams contesting in the national match—the division of the contestants into three classes, A, B and C, whereby weaker state teams, which have heretofore had no show of winning any prize, now are encouraged

The regulars have bagged the national trophy for three years in succession—the infantry in 1906 and 1908 and the navy in 1907—following. New York's triple victory in 1903, 1903 and 1905, with Massachusetts third in 1906 and 1907. Last year the four service teams—the infantry, navy, cavalry and marine corps—respectively, grabbed the first four prizes. This state of affairs led, a year ago, to a pretty general demand on the part of the state teams for a change of classification that would put the regulars into a class by themselves. But that revolution was not effected and the regulars and the guardsmen made the most careful preparations for this year's great contest. The rivalry between the east and the west at the annual tournament is of great significance. The New England and the middle Atlantic sharpshooters must look sharp to their laurels or long them. The long range shots from the plains and mountains of the west has distinctly "arrived" and will, undoubtedly, give a good account of themselves. The western sharpshooters have distinctly "arrived" and will, undoubtedly, give a good account of themselves. The western sharpshooters have made great gains during the past few years and the west now occupies five places in class A and the east four and the western marksmen will make a determined effort this year to increase their gain.

Secretary of War Dickinson is greatly interested in rifle practice and it is expected that he as well as his young son will visit Camp Perry during the tournament. Assistant Secretary of War Robert Shaw Oliver will probably remain here during the entire meeting and many members of congress and high officers of the army and navy are expected to drop in at some time during the progress of the shoot.

WOMAN DRIVES AUTO ACROSS CONTINENT

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—The first woman to run an automobile from New York to San Francisco is Mrs. John E. Ramsey of Hackensack, N. J. She has arrived after a 4200 mile trip that was begun on June 9, and in which she experienced no great difficulty and comparatively little inconvenience. She was accompanied by three other women —Mrs. R. M. Powell, Mrs. W. Atwood and Mrs. H. Jahns, all of Hackensack—and no man had anything to do with the overland journeying. There was a banquet at the St. James hotel to celebrate the successful completion of the long tour, and many prominent automobilists were present.

which have heretofore had no show of winning any prize, now are encouraged by the chance of landing something. Instead of the six best teams getting all the prizes, under the new arrangement the first 15 teams in the 1908 metch-class A—will compete for the national trophy and four prizes amounting to $1360; the second 15—class B—for the $3000 Hilton trophy and $1025 in four prizes; and the remainder of the field—class C—will have a chance at the Bronze Soldier of Marathon and four prizes aggregating $845. Thus 12 instead of six teams, will this year get prizes and the cash prizes amount to a total of $3220 instead of $875.

The national match fight this year will be a double line conflict between the regulars and the national guardsmen and between the east and the west. for a non-partisan commission with such investiture of powers as to give it weight of authority sufficient to constitute a moral mandate on the congress to reduce duties when it reported that conditions warranted it in a given industry.

President Taft was for such a commission, so he said. But the high tariff men in the congress thought differently, and when the conference report was formed and signed, it was found that the president had been permitted to get some information in a desultory sort of way, but there had been no design by the makers of the bill really to create an effective commission.

"But," so the progressives assert, "not even the formation of a tariff commission along ideal lines would solve the problem. This is illustrated by the outcome of the investigation of the paper industry by the house special committee under Congressman Mann of Illinols as chaliman. This committee held extensive hearings, summoning witnesses representing both buyers and makers and sellers of paper, especially print paper. The result was a report recommending removal or at least heavy reduction of the print paper duties. By Hiland Beggerly.

The O. K. team, a well known local team, was nosed out of a victory at McMinnville yesterday afternoon by the McMinnville team by the close score of 3 to 2. The loss of the game by the local players was due to a costly error made at a critical time when the winning run was scored by the McMinsvilltes. The game was full of good work by the individual members of both teams, Shea of the O. K. team making a brilliant double unassisted. The line-up of the two teams was as follows.
