

STRUCK BY DOWNWIND PLANT OF CAR COMPANY

EIGHT KILLED IN RIOTS AT CAR PLANTS

State Militia Will Be Ordered Out This Afternoon to Quell Strikers at McKees Rocks and Schoenville, Pa.; More Trouble.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pittsburg, Aug. 23.—Twenty-seven men were arrested this morning and are now under guard in box-car jails as the result of the discovery of a plot to blow up the plant of the Pressed Steel Car company at Schoenville and McKees Rocks. This latest phase of the strike situation has led to the issuing of a general order to troopers to "shoot to kill" at the slightest sign of violence.

Pittsburg, Aug. 23.—The streets of McKees Rocks and Schoenville, the scene of last night's rioting, were today practically deserted. The strikers are being held in box-car jails and are being guarded by state militia. No one is being allowed to enter the town unless they can satisfactorily explain their mission.

No one is allowed to enter the streets, and even the reporters are kept moving. Sheriff Gumbert, fearing more rioting this afternoon, will ask Governor Stuart to rush state militia troops here. President Hodafot this afternoon declared the number of injured would not exceed 20. The continuation of the fight between his company and its employees is largely due to the interference of outsiders aided by agitators.

Pittsburg, Aug. 23.—Following last night's rioting, when eight men were killed, six fatally injured and scores badly hurt, Schoenville and McKees Rocks where the big plants of the Pressed Steel Car company are located, are today under martial law. The state constabulary is patrolling the streets, dispersing all gatherings of strikers.

The dead, officially reported to the coroner this morning, were:
DEPUTY SHERIFF HARRY EXLER.
HARRY MILLHAZER, a striker.
TROOPER JOHN L. WILLIAMS.
TROOPER JOHN C. SMITH.
ANTON GUBERNA,
THREE UNIDENTIFIED WHITE MEN.

During last night's rioting mounted.

ELEMENTS DEFEAT PLANS OF AVIATORS IN FRANCE

Hubert Latham, at the wheel of his Antoinette Monoplane, in which he remained in the Air 9 minutes and 47 4-5 seconds at Rheims Saturday.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Paris, Aug. 23.—With three passengers on board in addition to the pilot, M. Capazza, the new dirigible balloon Clement-Bayard was wrecked in a network of telegraph wires today, and the passengers were precipitated into the Seine. The big aerial craft sank in midstream where it struck after crashing through the wires and a clump of willows. No lives were lost.

Early in the day the ascent was made and the dirigible was headed toward London where the aeronauts expected to descend before nightfall. They had flown but a short distance when the winds drove the big gas bag into the telegraph wires. The silken covering was ripped and most of the gas escaped. Beyond control, the dirigible crashed downward into a clump of willows, which caught in the cloth and tore the bag.

The dirigible lunged into the Seine and threw its terrified passengers into the river. All succeeded in swimming ashore, while the dirigible sank to the bottom. A swarm of boats are now hovering over the spot where the dirigible sank, attempting to salvage the air vessel.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Rheims, Aug. 23.—Owing to the high winds and intermittent showers prevailing here Saturday, the aviators were unable to make a showing until just before dark when the wind fell to a dead calm.

Immediately the sky pilots made their machines ready. Latham made the first start, followed by Lambert, Sommer, Cockburn, De la Grange and Fourrier.

Six aeroplanes were in the air at once and it was a wonderful and impressive spectacle.

Then Le Febvre, with a Wright bi-plane, Bonau-Varilla, Tissandier, Farlier, Hierlot and Paulhan joined the flight of the mighty birds. Latham came down first after finishing the second round and the others gradually dropped out until only three Wright machines remained aloft. These aeroplanes alone completed the required three rounds.

Owing to heavy ground yesterday as the result of continued rain, the first competitors declined to start in the elimination race for the coupe international d'aviation.

Official Classification Given.
The official classification in the 30-kilometers speed test is:
Tissandier (Wright bi-plane), 28 minutes 59 1-5 seconds.
Comte De Lambert (Wright bi-plane), 29 minutes 2 seconds.
Le Febvre (Wright bi-plane), 29 minutes 2 1-5 seconds.
Sommer (Farman bi-plane), 11 minutes 24 2-5 seconds.
Cockburn (Farman bi-plane), 11 minutes 44 seconds.
Bonau-Varilla (Voisin bi-plane), 18 minutes 30 1-5 seconds.

NOTED PAINTING FOUND IN FRISCO

Lost for 50 Years, Murillo's "Lost St. Jerome" Finally Turns Up.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Aug. 23.—After being lost to the world for 50 years, the famous painting, commonly known as the "Lost St. Jerome," a Murillo, has been discovered in San Francisco. The painting is now in the hands of relatives of the late General Otto Cressup Ord, United States army. The painting with another by the same master was sold in Paris in 1850. The paintings were sent to Mexico and then to Frisco.

While visiting relatives in Mexico in 1882, General Ord crossed the border into an old monastery in Mexico City. He immediately recognized the superiority of the work and through the influence of Mexican government officials purchased the canvases.

Examination proved them to be Murillo's "The Virgin of the Napkin" and "St. Jerome," as it is known better among the artists. The Ord purposed to hang the oils in his home. The Virgin of the Napkin was stolen. When he returned to the United States, however, he brought with him the "Lost St. Jerome."

FOWLER PLAYS CANNON IN LETTER

The Deposed "Lieutenant" Charges, Among Other Things, That Uncle Joe Conspired with Aldrich Against House Tariff Bill.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Elizabeth, N. J., Aug. 23.—C. N. Fowler, who formerly was chairman of the committee of banking and finance in the lower house, and who was refused reappointment by Speaker "Joe" Cannon, today addressed an open letter to Cannon.

Since he lost the chairmanship of the committee, Fowler has been a prominent insurgent. In the letter he said:
"Do you suppose, sir, that I did not fully appreciate the probable consequences of my act when I undertook to play a part to secure reform in the banking laws?"

"Do you suppose I was not aware of your ignorance, prejudice, inordinate conceit, favoritism and pitiful preference? Like all characters possessing absolute power, malice is the mainspring of your every action."

Fowler then recited that Cannon opposed Fowler's plans to avert the panic of 1907. He said:
"You literally hoisted at the idea of a panic coming, and you said in an address 'What in hell does this howling Wall street amount to? The country doesn't care what happens to the damned speculators. Everything is all right out west and around Danville.'"

Fowler then accused Cannon of conspiring with Senator Aldrich against the house tariff bill. In reference to his charges, Fowler said:
"I have gone into these details to lay bare your contemptible false pretenses, to expose your duplicity, treachery, perfidy to the legislative body over which you preside, whose bill you are bound to defend, not destroy."

Fowler followed with the declaration that it looks like Cannon and Aldrich conspired to obtain high rates in the tariff to discredit President Taft. He said:
"Though the scheme failed it exhibited a consummation in its highest perfection development. I challenge you to point out in all our political history, a more dishonorable bit of business, unless perchance you find something from your own career of which the people are not yet advised."

Fowler concludes his excoriation of the speaker by the statement that if the Republican party wins the next congressional election it will only be upon the grave of "Cannism."
