1 GAME EACH IN DOUBLE HEADER

Senators Play Real Ball—Darringer and McCredie Are the Stars.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 13.—Yesterday's doubleheader left matters as they were before the games were called. Sacramento won the first, Portland took the last and that's about all there was to it. The Senators played good ball and started in with the determination to win the first game. Did they run? The score was 5 to 2. Darringer, a new man in the Coast league, featured himself quite prominently with the stick by dropping a foul fly and by making a one hand sensational catch.

The Beavers failed to transact any business until the sixth, but Darringer's time to perform had arrived and two runs were all the visitors were allowed.

McCredie made a timely hit in the last game and scored Cooney, which untied the 1 to 1 score and left the Beavers a run to the good at the end of the game.

POOR RUNNING IS CAUSE OF DEFEAT

Fournier Fails to Take Advantage of Casey's Signal for "Squeeze."

Jack Fournier's witless baserunning in the ninth inning yesterday on Manager Casey's attempted "squeeze play" lost Portland the last game of the series with Vancouver, 4 to 3. By dropping yesterday's game Portland lost six out of eight games to the trailing champions. Seaton, the overworked, was on the mound and was touched up quite frequently by the Canucks.

With Staton and Crocker scoring in the ninth on an error and a base on balls, Casey came to bat with the bases full and one out. Casey signalled a "squeeze" which Fournier loafed on. Instead of beating it to the plate when Erickson began his first motion at delivery, Fournier dallied around the bag and when Casey dropped a slow bunt, Jack had no chance to reach home with the tying score. Casey, expecting to be forced out, was watching the play and necessarily slowed up, being doubled at first. Had Fournier started in time there is no question but that he would have been safe at home. HIGH PITCHED BALLS NO LONGER POPULAR WITH STAR TWIRLERS

Addie Joss, base ball pitcher par excellence in the summer time and sporting editor in the off season, is of the opinion that the day of successful high ball pitching is a thing of the past.

"There was a time," says Joss, "when it was the accepted theory that one of the requisites of the first class pitchers was ability to keep the ball around the batter's neck.

"That is true when the man at bat is trying to pull off the hit and run play. Formerly, when the twirlers kept their fast high ball, it was pie for the batter to either step back or in, as the occasion required, and push or pull the ball in this direction he wanted it to go. With the low ball it is different, as the batter cannot gauge the ball any too well, and finds it a difficult matter to place it.

"It is particularly hard for the batter to follow a low ball on a dark day, as was shown in the second game of the world's series between New York and the Athletics on the Polo grounds. 'Chief' Bender, who was on the mound for Connie Mack's men, is a pitcher who, when right, has a tremendous amount of speed. The Athletics managed to score a few runs for Bender early in the game, and with this lead there was no chance for the Giants to catch up.

"Bender had the advantage of the gathering gloom, and this, coupled with his ability to keep his fast ball low, proved a stumbling block for the aggressive Giants. Members of both teams say the big fellow was unhittable on account of this, which goes to show how much harder it is to hit the low ball than the high one."

VETERAN JIM M'GUIRE TELLS HOW YOUNG BUSHER FOOLED HIM

Jim McGuire, the new manager of the Cleveland Naps, who scouted in Portland this season, was once one of the greatest catchers and it is said of him that he was an excellent judge of batsmen, being able to tell by the way a batter looked over a ball what kind of a slugger he was. A. C. Hughes, the veteran Chicago writer, recalls a time when a youthful brusher had the famous Brooklynite guessing.

This was back in 1899 when Chicago was trying out a recruit against McGuire's team in the east. This youngster completely fooled "Jimmy." He came to bat and the first ball pitched he watched it all the way, shook his head slightly when it drew near and didn't even move his bat. The umpire called it a ball. The next was the same way, and it was a ball.

"Gee," said Jimmy afterward, "that kid had me guessing. I had always been leary of that kind of a batter, who waits until he gets one just where he wants it and then slams it over the fence." Well the player got his base on balls then and a couple more the same day. The pitcher minded "Jimmy's" signals, and "Jimmy" was afraid to have cut the plate.

"Jim" Discovers Errors.

On the following day, however, "Jimmy" determined to give the youth the supreme test. Brooklyn had made five runs in the second inning and McGuire wasn't afraid of consequences. So he signaled for a straight ball, right over the heart of the plate. It came, and the recruit went through the same old motions, never made a try for it. "But he surely did look it over sweetly," said McGuire. He fanned four times that day and lasted for a week.

"He was one of the few who had me b'uffed the first day," exclaimed McGuire later.

LOUISVILLE AFTER NORTHWESTERNERS

Eddie Kinsella Asked Opinion of Bobby James and Mike Lynch by Colonels—Passing of Claud Rossman Really Pathetic—Spokane Finds Our Reason—Swimming Given Big Boost.

Louisville, of the American association, a class "A" club, is wondering whether Bobby James of Spokane and Mike Lynch of Seattle are fast enough for the Colonials. Louisville, on the advice of President Hedges of the St. Louis Browns, the club which purchased Eddie Kinsella, has asked the Portland twirler for his opinion of Lynch and James. Kinsy says his report to the Louisvilles concerns himself and will not give out his private opinion. Probably Louisville is preparing to put in a draft for the Indian second baseman and the Seattle manager

Case of Claud Rossman.

There is more of the pathetic in the case of Claud Rossman, the castoff Detroit first baseman, than appears on the surface. Rossman was traded to St. Louis, but refused to play first base for the Browns on the ground that if he was not good enough for the Tigers he was not good enough for any other club. He wanted to go to the outfield, where he formerly played, and put in one game with the Browns in that position. However, the St. Louis players criticised him to such an extent that he lost heart and finally left the club. Now he is back to Detroit, where he has hundreds of friends, and will go into some line of business. This is a sad ending, indeed, for one of the brightest players in the game a year or so ago.

Jeff's Press Notices.

According to reports from abroad Jim Jeffries got a glorious reception from the London papers. Yes he did not. Some of the London papers sent their reporters down to see Jeff and then carried about an inch story about his arrival. Others paid no attention to the former champion. Truly it looks as if he made a bad move from a press agent standpoint in leaving the United States.

A Spokane Expression.

Here's one gleaned from a leading Spokane newspaper:

Isn't that Portland outfit the limit? They take four out of six from the Indians and then slough off five out of seven to Vancouver. Is it any wonder the Portland fans are disgusted with Northwestern ball? When tailend teams beat the Colts, as they have done all summer, the fans there can't help but yell "rotten." Then when the Colts beat the leaders they say, "What kind of a league is this if our rotten team can beat the leaders?"

What do you think of it?

Professor Cavill's Work.

After witnessing the aquatic sports at the Oaks yesterday in which a large number of local amateurs participated, one is moved to ask why this sport has never become popular from a spectator's standpoint. Surely there was enough interest displayed by the large crowd on the board walk above the bathhouse, to stimulate interest in swimming. Professor Cavill, the Multnomah club instructor, has already made a nice start with his charges and before another year these outdoor races will undoubtedly be a feature of the Multnomah club's athletic program.

HEN BERRY IN TOILS OF LAW

Los Angeles Magnate Uses Taxicab but Forgets Cabby, 'Tis Said.

By Hiland Baggerly.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—"Why, the whole thing is an outrage; I never intended to fleece any taxicab drivers and consider my arrest due to professional jealousy of San Francisco toward all Los Angeles people. Besides I'm a southern gentleman, and the charge against me is preposterous."

Thus declared Hen Berry, in a statement to the people of San Francisco following his arrest on Saturday on a charge of attempting to defraud an auto driver. The story of that fitful ride is already the property of every local fan. The only new developments are brought out by Berry's announcement that he intends to fight the case.

"Patrick Calhoun will not have anything on me, when it comes to lawyers," said Berry. "I intend to surround myself with the greatest array of legal lights that this state possesses. My attorneys will do all in their power to safeguard my interests. The whole case is a conspiracy. I fully expected to pay for that taxicab ride, but no, that's the way with the natives of this town. Their baseball club takes seven out of eight from my boys, and then on top of that they pinch the manager of the losing team."

An Outrage, Says Hen.

"But how about that taxicab bill of $12.50?" Hen was asked.

"It's all an outrage. The people of this town want to steal my baseball team. Even the press is against me, and on Saturday gave wide circulation to a campaign lie that was circulated against me.

"The news was telegraphed to my home city by my enemies and yesterday I received a telegram from my wife asking for my safety. Why, they thought down in Los Angeles that I was languishing in jail."

According to Berry they would not dare to humiliate him to that extent in Russia or Turkey.

There will be a switch in the umpires this week. McGreevey will work at Sacramento, Irwin and McCarthy at Los Angeles and VanHaltren and Toman at Recretation park.

There have been whisperings to the effect that this was Jud Smith's last year at third bag. Dillon has been accused of being on the lookout for another third sacker. The croakers were saying that Smith had slowed up and was no longer a tower of strength around third station. The Croakers should have seen the grand old man handle himself yesterday afternoon. He played a beautiful third. All his chances were more or less difficult and he handled them perfectly. In addition to this, Smith lined out a single and scored Los Angeles' only run.

Jimmy Cosgrove, senior sculling champion of Canada, whose sculling has been the sensation of the aquatic world this season, will next year try to repeat the performance of Lou Scholes in 1904 when the latter won the Diamond sculls at the English Henley. Cosgrove is a member of the Argonaut Rowing club of Toronto.

Butte will have a $5000 professional Marathon September 12.

BLANKENSHIP RAPS NORTHWEST "UMPS"

Blankenship says that the umpires in this league are too eager to take a player's money away from him. "If a player is trying to show the umpire up or uses abusive language of course the umpire should fire him," admitted Cliff, "but a hard working, aggressive player isn't always trying to show the umpire up when he complains about a decision. The big league umpires aren't so sensitive that they think every time a ball player works his mouth he is thinking up some new name to call him. They allow for a player's overeagerness and don't try to borrow trouble by antagonizing the player. The result is the players have more real energy and are out there fighting all the time.

"What's the result when an umpire slaps a fine on a man? Why, that player has to shut right up or out of the game he goes. He goes to the bench sulky and mad clear through. The more he thinks about it the madder he gets. But he has to chew his tobacco and say nothing. He loses his real fighting interest in that game. The wise umpire can overlook a lot and still keep the game clean and fast and satisfactory to the crowd. The 'bum' umpire can take all the life out of it and ruin the game for both the player and spectator. But he is the big squeeze and you have to stand for it."

AQUATIC SPORTS WERE INTERESTING

Although the day was hardly warm enough to make aquatic sports a delicious pastime, there were a great many entries in the various contests that were given at the Oaks yesterday under the direction of Professor A. Cavill, champion swimmer of the world.

Professor Cavill gave many interesting exhibitions in fancy diving, etc., and was applauded vociferously by the big crowd in attendance.

Following is a summary of the events:

The 100 yard race was won by Dave Welch, the 220 yard by L. A. Thomas, and the 50 yard for juveniles by Albert Krohn.

Fancy diving awards were made to Faber, Welch and Carroll.

The tub race was won by Joe Kroll.

ATHLETIC CLUB GAINS MEMBERS

Policemen Find Work on Trapeze to Their Liking.

Headed by Police Chief A. M. Cox and encouraged by all the members of the police board, the Policemen's Athletic association, with gymnasium and clubrooms in the Union block, Second and Stark streets, is rapidly increasing in membership.

At a meeting last week permanent officers were elected and plans for the work of the year were made. Patrolman B. F. Wade was elected president; Sergeant J. A. Goltz, vice president and general manager; H. C. Bales and L. W. Madden, assistant managers, and E. Burke, secretary and treasurer. The directors are R. J. Ellis and H. A. Circle of the day relief; A. C. Small and L. Stone of the first night relief, and W. E. Robson and Sergeant J. F. Keller of the second night relief.

Since its organizations a few weeks ago the association has taken in practically all members of the police department, and others are joining daily.

The gymnasium has been fully equipped with all kinds of apparatus, and the clubrooms have been furnished elaborately. During the week shower baths will be installed and other needed improvements made.

Surprising to the officers who fathered the association, is its increasing popularity among the members, and the good fellowship and harmony it is bringing about in the department.

GRESHAM DEFEATS THE ST. JOHNS APOSTLES

The St. Johns Apostles went down to defeat at the hands of the Gresham Giants yesterday at St. Johns, 4 to 3, in 10 innings. Townsend, the Gresham twirler, had everything and fanned 11 of the Tri-City men. St. Johns tied the score in the ninth inning, only to be beaten in the tenth, when Akin, Gresham's center fielder, clouted one for three sacks and the next man "squeezed" him in. Aside from the pitching of Townsend and Akin's batting, Rich Parrott played an excellent game for the Apostles. This was the deciding game of a three game series between these two teams of rival leagues. St. Johns finished second in the Tri-City league race and Gresham held a like position in the Interurban league this year. Batteries: St. Johns, Olney and Pembroke; Gresham, Townsend and Bauer.

MR. BASEBALL BUG FANS OUT

Pirates and Tigers Seem to Have Pennants Nailed to Masts.

By C. E. Van Loan.

New York, Sept. 13.—The baseball bug has shed his wings and picked up his kit of embalming tools. The loud, enthusiastic individual who, but a short month ago, was all lungs, mouth and language, has deteriorated into a sad and silent person who conducts the post-mortem on the home team and tells his friends what might have happened if——

The pennant race in both leagues seems to be over. In the National there remains nothing but the shouting, and Pittsburg seems to have the shouting privilege this season. The Pirates, working like a well-oiled machine, and hitting the ball whenever hits can be turned into runs, have cinched matters very neatly and effectively. Messrs. Wagner, Leach and Clarke, constituting the Pittsburg team, will walk home, barring unforeseen accidents. It is all over but the shouting, and there are some cities in the National league circuit where even the shouting is over. New York is one of them. The Giants, by a brilliant performance on the road, rekindled the dying flame and then snuffed it out to ashes by the games with the Pirates and the Cubs. New York will finish on the limb this season and there is no flag for third place.

Chance of the Cubs, who is game to the last inch, will never know the meaning of the word "quit" unless he looks it up in the language book, has abandoned hope of catching the Black Flags. A few men who can hit the ball consistently have made new National league history, and the Cubs, with their famed "inside ball," will finish just outside the spotlight this season. The other teams are hopelessly outclassed.

In the American league the Tigers have again shown that a close race has no terrors for them. A slump while on the road and a sudden sprint from Boston and Philadelphia, but the three teams together at the head of the stretch, but the Tigers came again as they came last season and now have a comfortable lead on the Athletics and the Red Sox.

It looks like Detroit and Pittsburg this year, and in this event the post-season games will take on a new interest. Evidently the Tigers cannot beat the Cubs. They have never been able to do very much with the Windy City pitchers. Two teams of hitters, with pitching staffs of nearly even ability, should give us a sensational world's series.

When the Tigers find pitchers whom they can hit it will take something more than phenomenal fielding to stop them. The other team must hit, too, for Cobb, Crawford and the other Tiger stars have a habit of hitting the ball on the seam and driving it to the fence.

Games Start at Three.

Owing to the early darkness Judge McCredie has changed the hour of starting the ball games from 3:30 to 3 o'clock, beginning with the first game of the Seattle series today.
